TO THE CLASS OF '61

It is a privilege and an honour to be invited to give a farewell message to the Graduating Class, and perhaps the most valid evidence of my appreciation would be to spare you any final words of counsel. An absolute imposition of such a self-denying ordinance might, however, make me seem too violently nonconformist.

My first and pleasant duty is to congratulate you on the successful completion of your undergraduate studies, and to wish you continued success and happiness. Your University will watch your progress to a degree that you do not suspect.

I say "your University" advisedly because upon graduation you will have an even greater sense of belonging than you now experience. Along with your degree, a life membership in this University community will be conferred upon you, and its corporate interests will be in your keeping.

Henceforth you will have new responsibilities, not only to the University community but to the community at large, jointly and indivisibly, to the extent to which you are under obligation to both. If you are indebted to your Alma Mater, an institution enjoying most generous public support, for having stretched your minds, widened your horizons, and thus enabled you to live more wisely and happily, you are in duty bound to make a just return to society. One way among many in which you could amply discharge your obligation would be through the medium of public service. Our University has reason to be proud of its contribution in the public domain, especially in the federal and provincial parliaments, but there is just as great a need for disciplined thinking in many other public spheres. Your active participation in some phase of education, for example, would seem logical and would prove rewarding. In support of its priority in importance I quote the prophetic words of the late Professor Alfred North Whitehead, uttered almost half a century ago:

> "In the conditions of modern life the rule is absolute, the race which does not value trained intelligence is doomed. Not all your heroism, not all your social charm, not all your wit, not all your victories on land or at sea can move back the finger of fate. Today we maintain ourselves. Tomorrow science will have moved forward yet one more step, and there will be no appeal from the judgment which will then be pronounced on the uneducated."

Claude T. Bissell

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Since the end of the second World War it has been common to find in reports on universities references to the apathy and indifference of the student body, particularly with respect to issues of world import. I think these comments are rarely justified, although one could find easy and effective explanations. The years immediately after the war were dominated on all university campuses by the returning veterans, who, being older than the usual university student, and often burdened with the responsibility of a family, tended to devote themselves with single-minded intensity to their studies. One certainly has no desire to criticize such devotion to what is, after all, the major activity for which universities were founded. But perhaps the veterans did give the university campus the atmosphere of a busy and intensely preoccupied professional school. Moreover, the students of those days who came directly from the secondary schools lived and worked in the shadow of their older contemporaries. Perhaps they suffered more severely than most young people from a sense of immaturity, from the realization that they had not participated in the great, shattering event of their age. By the middle of the fifties, however, the veterans had virtually passed from the scene, and a new kind of student body began to emerge. At first it appeared juvenile and frivolous by comparison with the dedicated, serious veterans who had preceded it, but gradually it began to develop a sense of identity of its own and a confidence in its own powers and programmes. It is always dangerous to make broad generalizations about the characteristics of large groups, but I would humbly suggest that during this last year we have seen the beginnings of what will be a new era in student affairs on university campuses.

I think we shall see the burgeoning of a new and vigorous interest in world affairs, and an eagerness to discuss them both within and without the classroom. During the past year, for instance, students have taken an active role in various associations concerned with nuclear disarmament; students have organized the Canadian Overseas Volunteers, a group which has as its aim the sending to certain less developed countries of graduates who are prepared to live and work under the conditions that confront the citizens of their adopted lands. On this campus toward the end of the year, students developed a Hyde Park tradition of open air discussion which will no doubt be used in the future as a means of enlisting the interest and participation of large numbers in various causes. Moreover, I have discovered in the talks I have had with student groups that there exists a very deep interest in the university as an institution. I have listened to criticisms, not of peripheral or ephemeral matters, but of the very structure of the university and the plans for its development.

This is something that I welcome most eagerly, for it helps to make a reality that ideal that the philosophers of education have talked about for generations — the ideal of the community of scholars, in which the only difference between the teacher and the student is the former's experience and maturity. Once again I think we can find reasons for this development in student attitudes: it is part of society's growing realization that the university is central, not only as a means of training people for professional jobs, but as a source of new ideas and as a revolutionary catalyst of society. This new interest may also reflect a belief that, in spite of all, it is possible to change an organization by open discussion and criticism, and that the individual student is not simply a name or a number who must take certain courses and pass certain examinations.

In the light of this new student interest in university problems, I should like to draw to your attention two questions that I raised in my Annual Report for 1959-60. The first concerns the position of the central Library in this university. In my Report I referred to it in this way:

> It is likely that the entire (building) programme of the University, inclusive of those buildings erected largely from special funds before the beginning of the financial campaign, will cost in the neighbourhood of a hundred million dollars. Our first projection of capital needs called for a little over two million for the Library — about one-third of what we are prepared to spend (and rightly so) on each of three single science departments. It is true, of course, that we have already secured a valuable extension to the Library, and to that extent our problem is reduced. But we must now think not only of a major extension in central reading room space and stack accommodation, and of the provision of a library for University College in order that it may play its proper role in the federated scheme, but also of the creation of two new divisions, one devoted to the physical and mathematical sciences and one to the biological and medical sciences. This will require far more than the sum originally asisigned for the purpose. On some campuses, the insignificance of the library and the splendour of the other facilities, both curricular and extra-curricular, recall Prince Hal's comment about Falstaff's diet: "But one half-pennyworth of bread to this intolerable deal of sack." We shall make sure that the University of Toronto — 1970 — does not inspire such an epigram.

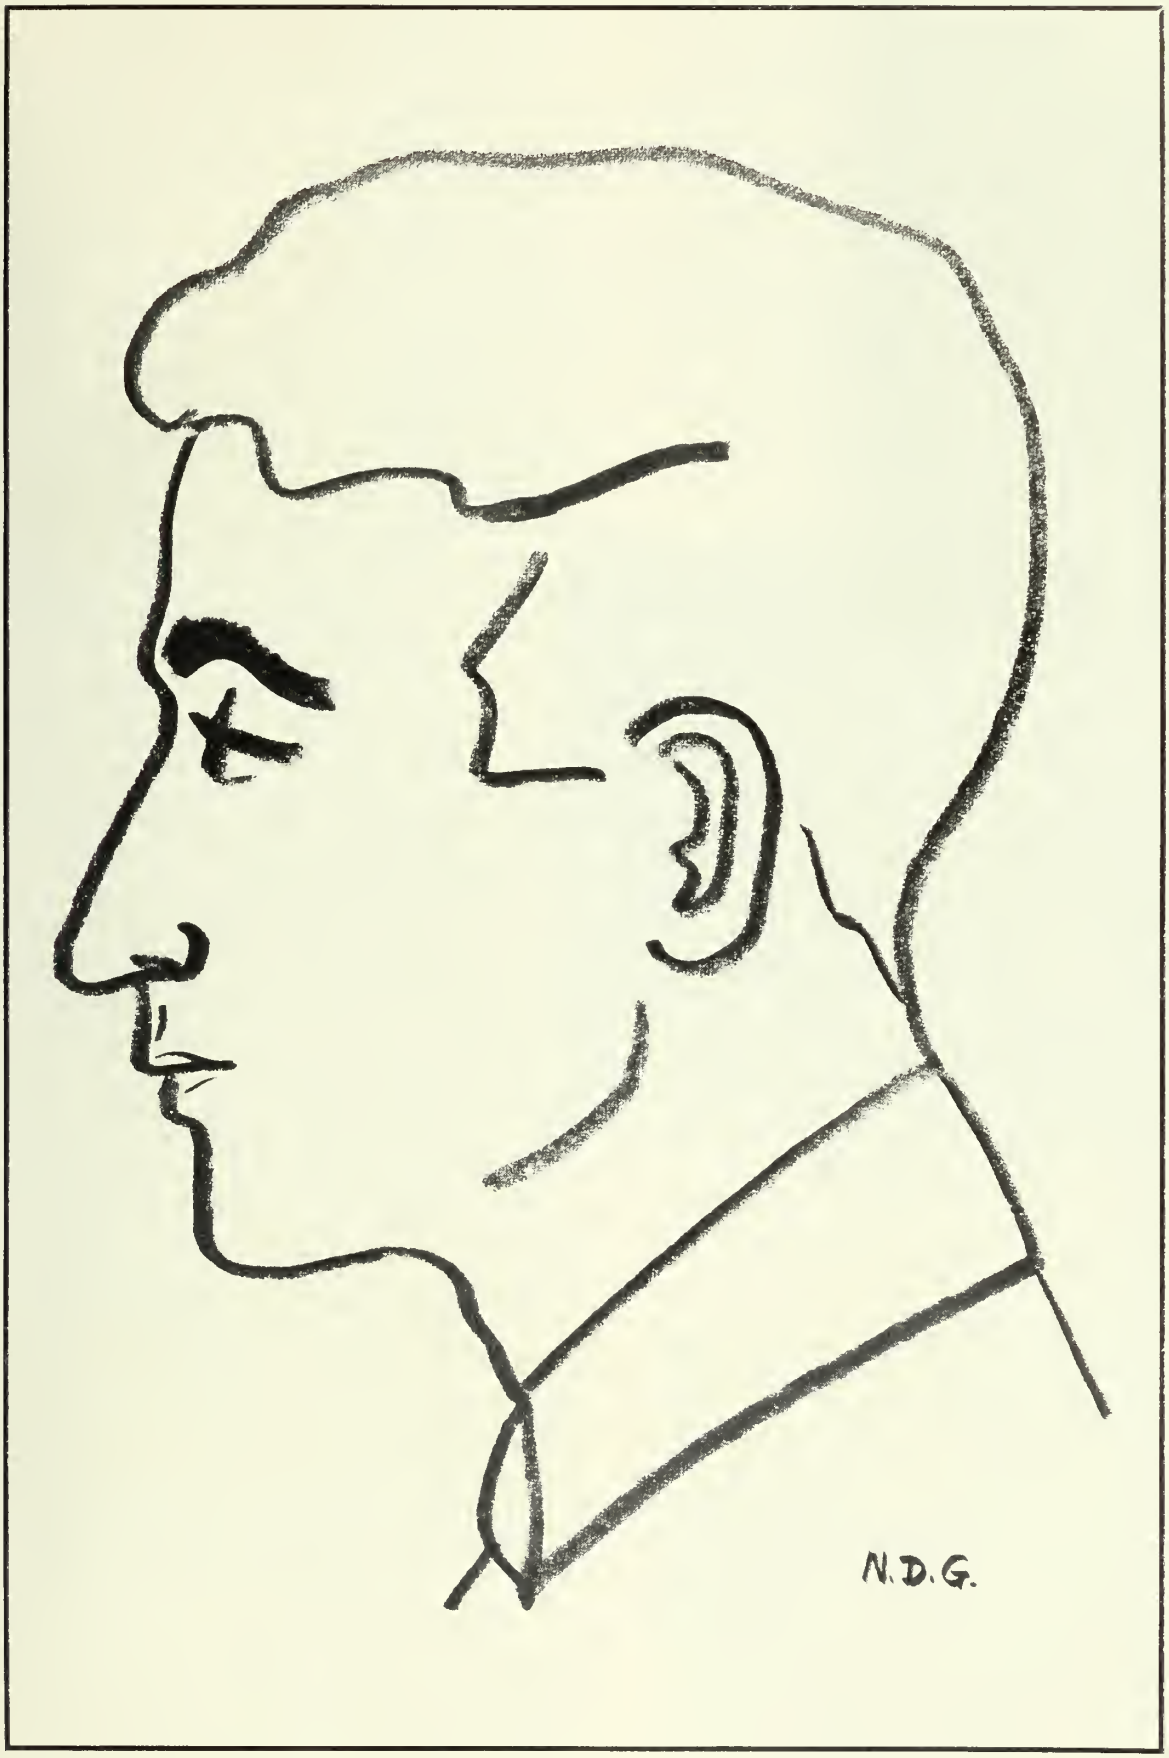

The second question concerns the maintenance of this university as a human society, not simply a convenient federation of autonomous professional faculties. I suggested in my Report that in the creation of residential colleges on the new campus we had the key to the emergence of a new and larger university as a more personal and more intimate institution:

> Here, surely, in the reshaping of these residences, was the answer to our problem. These residences must be converted into residential colleges, and given a social and intellectual as well as a physical identity. There is no question, of course, of their emerging as full-blown colleges immediately. But at least, by providing facilities for a nucleus of tutorial and administrative staff and for social activity, we could give them a clear identity. By attaching non-residential students to each of the residential colleges, we could extend their effectiveness throughout the University.

I hope that you will continue to take this same lively interest in university problems that you have already indicated during these last few years. A recent article by Professor David Riesman of Harvard recalls how the Harvard "house plan" came about in considerable measure because of the report of a Student Council committee in 1926 which caught the attention of the philanthropist Edward Harkness. I don't think we necessarily need a consummation like this to justify increased student participation in matters that concern university policy, but still it is an invigorating reminder of how ideas energetically pursued can bring about the most pleasing results.

Profiles

N.D.G.

ADRIAN F. W. ANGLIN
B.A., M.D.

Adrian F. W. Anglin was born in Toronto on August 13, 1906. Eighth in a family of eleven children, Dr. Anglin grew up in Toronto, attended University of Toronto Schools, and then went to Loyola College in Montreal, where he obtained his B.A. in 1927. The following year he enrolled in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Toronto, where he proved to be a conscientious student in all phases of undergraduate life, including the now almost forgotten Medsmen-Engineering battles. Other pastimes included buying a keg of beer, several pounds of pretzels, and skipping an afternoon's lectures for a few quiet hours of relaxation and studious contemplation.

Despite the perils of undergraduate life, Dr. Anglin graduated in 1933 and served his internship at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto. A desire to specialize in Internal Medicine sent him to study in London when he had terminated his internship. This desire he attributes to his experiences as student intern at Gravenhurst Sanitarium.

While in Britain, Dr. Anglin met the girl who was to become his wife, and two children were born there before the Anglin family returned to Canada. The final two years in Britain were spent at the London Chest Hospital and in 1941, owing to ill health, Dr. Anglin returned to Canada. Because of the war he returned to Canada in a convoy freighter. At the end of the eighteen-day trip the ship's engineering officer told Dr. Anglin that the ship did the entire crossing with a hot bearing that was constantly being cooled with sea-water. If the bearing had burned out the ship would have been easy prey for one of the numerous U-boats patrolling the North Atlantic at the time.

On his return to Toronto, Dr. Anglin joined the regular staff at St. Michael's Hospital and became a demonstrator in the Faculty of Medicine at U. of T. Eventually he also became affiliated with the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children and Toronto Western Hospital. In 1950 Dr. Anglin became an Assistant Professor of Medicine and in 1959 he was appointed Associate Professor in the same department. Recently, he was appointed Medical Officer for Canada for the Shell Oil Company.

In 1959 Dr. Anglin was appointed Chest Specialist at the U. of T. Health Service, replacing the late Dr. T. G. Heaton. According to Dr. Anglin, the Health Service is a "very efficiently run unit, where students are well looked after and can come to the Health Service with any kind of problem to consult with specialists from every medical field."

Dr. Anglin is President of the "Academy of Medicine—Toronto" for the year 1960-61. The Academy is a voluntary organization of physicians; any physician in good standing with the Academy can be elected to its membership.

The institution is basically an academic one with two primary functions. The first of these is a programme of educational meetings where members can discuss mutual or current problems, and whenever possible there are prominent guest speakers. The second function is to make available to the physicians a good medical library. At present the Academy has the third largest medical library in Canada. Recently the Academy has become an affiliate of the world's most important medical organization, The Royal Society of Medicine.

Dr. Anglin is also a member of the executive for the "Medical Legal Society", a forum of Doctors and Lawyers, and the Aesculapian Society, the oldest of Toronto's medical clubs. He is also a prominent member of the Canadian Medical Association, the Ontario Medical Association, the executive committee for the Ontario Tuberculosis Association, and the University of Toronto Faculty Club.

A particular interest in interns affairs led to the adoption of a recent suggestion of Dr. Anglin's concerning "Rotating Internships". In previous years most medical students had little to do from the completion of their examinations until July first when they began their regular internship in the hospitals. When the new interns arrived at the hospitals their predecessors were leaving. Needless to say, there was confusion and extra work, both for the permanent hospital staff and for the new interns. Under the new system, the junior interns join their chosen hospital on June fifteenth. They then have two weeks to learn the new routine and fit into their new life quietly. When the senior interns leave the juniors take over easily and efficiently. According to Dr. Anglin it was a "long overdue change".

Despite professional demands, Dr. Anglin occasionally finds time to relax with his oil painting; his favorite theme is landscapes. In reading he prefers periodicals (novels are too long). His favorites are Saturday Review and the Atlantic Monthly. He is a subscriber to the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Subscription Series and he prefers ballet music. This preference he ascribes to his student days in London, where his weekly attendance at the matinee Ballet concerts became something of a habit.

Success, however, has its trying moments. For Dr. Anglin, one of these trying moments occurred on his first day as a junior intern at St. Michael's Hospital. Young Dr. Anglin was to assist a senior surgeon in the operating room. He was understandably nervous. When the operation was over, the surgeon turned to Dr. Anglin and said, "Anglin, I think you're going to make a good surgeon. You know, a good assistant never makes a good surgeon."

Professor Carswell was born in Uxbridge, Ontario, in June, 1897; however, nearly all his years have been spent in Toronto. The First World War erupted while he was a student at Malvern Collegiate Institute and for the duration of the next four years Professor Carswell served with the Canadian 75th Battalion in France. After finally acquiring a senior matriculation in a special university course extended to the military, he entered Architecture at the University of Toronto. At the time, this course was but an appendix to the Faculty of Engineering. Professor Carswell rose to the Vice-Presidency of the Engineering Society, a feat for an architectural student, graduating in 1924 with one of the first Bachelor of Architecture degrees.

After working with several Toronto firms, he returned in 1930 to join the architectural staff at the University of Toronto. Teaching proved too enjoyable, and the reward too satisfying, for Professor Carswell to return to a career as a professional architect. Instruction became his mission. In 1933 he took the postgraduate work in architectural rendering at Columbia University, New York. This, he feels, influenced his method of teaching by observing "how not to teach".

Professor Carswell became responsible for instruction in colour, drawing and painting. His efforts to assist students with the colour problems involved in architectural design led to an investigation of scientific aids and the introduction in 1937 of a separate lecture course in colour—the first of its kind in any Canadian university.

It is in this field that Professor Carswell has excelled. He is a past president of the Colour Council of Canada, and at present is in collaboration with the Illuminating Society of America in the compiling of a colour guide—a distinctive honour for a Canadian. Professionally, he has served as colour consultant in such projects as the Maclean-Hunter building and numerous churches. As well as lecturing in the United States, he has published articles extensively in European magazines and Canadian journals.

Professor Carswell married the youngest daughter of C. H. C. Wright, the first head of the School of Architecture, from its inception to 1934. He has a son in electrical engineering and a daughter who is a graduate of University College and Teachers' College. At one time Chairman of the Hart House Committee, he is at present an active member of Timothy Eaton Memorial Church.

During the Second World War, Professor Carswell served actively as a Major in command of several reserve companies of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps on campus. In this capacity, he processed countless undergraduates in such various faculties as Dentistry, Law and Teaching.

It is perhaps Professor Carswell, as the man himself that impresses a person most. Never one to threaten or cajole, his amiable and easy manner magically results in a faithful carrying-out of instructions by the student. Between the two exists a common bond of understanding.

At the School of Architecture, Professor Carswell sits in an unofficial position as a link between the student body and the teaching staff. Acutely aware of all the students' problems, one finds "Uncle Ed", as he is affectionately known, a warm, sympathetic advisor. As active head since 1934, his name is synonymous with the Dorset Sketch Camp at the University of Toronto forest reserve in Haliburton. These yearly outings have become a hereditary institution at the school, principally through his efforts.

As the oldest staff member at the School of Architecture, Professor Carswell will retire in four years. Through his hands have passed an endless number of professionally practising architects as well as present fellow professors. Beloved by the students, respected and admired by his peers, to Professor Carswell is extended sincerest thanks for his energetic and dedicated strength throughout the years.

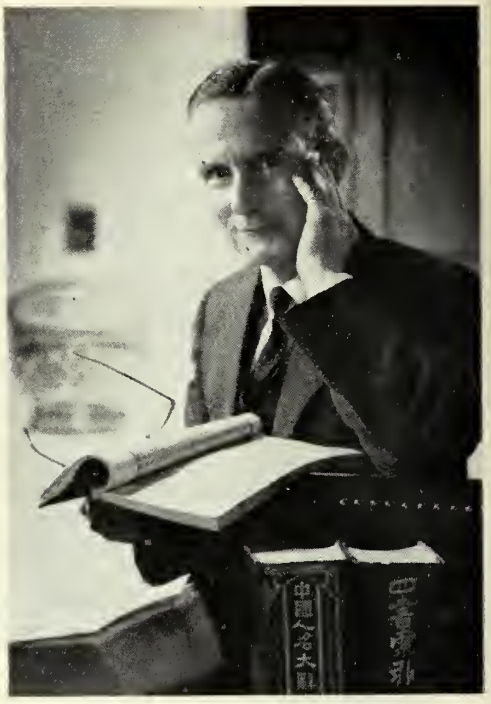

Although the undergraduates of this University are quite unfamiliar with, even unaware of, the Department of East Asiatic Studies, it is recognized by the world of learning as one of the most important sections of the scholastic community. Its lecturers bring the great civilization of the Orient to a few students who are aware that the West is only half of the world, and contains less than half of this planet's culture.

Prof. W. A. C. H. Dobson is keenly aware of this. But he is also aware that if Asia is to be understood, which it must be, it cannot be done by Westerners, however sincere; it must be done by Westerners with an Eastern consciousness, a consciousness very different from our own. He also realizes that the West must not be so naive as to suppose it has all the answers; it is very profitable to learn from an older, more brilliant culture.

A fine background of experience, great personal drive, and intelligent objectivity well qualifies Professor Dobson as a leader in a brave new world. And he is a leader in a brave new world, for he heads the larger of two such university departments in existence in Canada. His department is the seedling of a great scholastic movement; it is not, as he vehemently declares, "a school of languages".

Educated at Oxford, Professor Dobson graduated from Christ Church with his M.A. from the Honours School of Oriental Studies. He was subsequently appointed Lecturer in Chinese from 1948 to 1952. In 1952 he became Professor of Chinese at this University.

During the war he served with the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. He also served on several diplomatic missions to the Far East, being Political Advisor to Lord Mountbatten, Secretary of the British Parliamentary Mission to China, Secretary to the Royal Commission on the North West Frontier of India, interpreter to Prime Minister Churchill at the Cairo Conference, and Personal Staff Officer to the British Prime Minister's Personal Representative in the Far East. In the course of this work he met many potentates of East Asia, including Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Chou En-lai, and Madame Sun Yat-sen.

W. A. C. H. DOBSON
M.A.

At present Professor Dobson is a Member of the Canadian National Commission for UNESCO, a Member of the Advisory Board of Canadian Services Colleges, and a Member of the Humanities Research Council. Many internationally-minded students will remember the important part he played at the Couchiching Conference on Asia in 1959.

In the world of scholarship he has a very great place. His book on Chinese grammar published in 1959, Early Archaic Chinese, was described as "a major event in the history of Western sinology" by Professor W. Simon of England, the world-famous scholar of Chinese. It also received very high praise from the Chairman of the Dept. of Philology of the Academy of Sciences in Peking.

At the moment he has two other books at the press which will appear later this year. One is Early Archaic Chinese, and the other is Politics in Ancient China, a study and translation of the great philosopher Mencius.

Professor Dobson has set up a course in Chinese studies which is of as high a standard as the similar course at Oxford. He hopes to provide the West with a supply of sinologists who will turn out yet more of their kind, and who will bring light to our dark continent.

His Chinese classes are perhaps the oddest in this University. Four or five students sit around in large, comfortable chairs and smoke. In return, Professor Dobson smokes back at them. In this congenial atmosphere the students learn the Chinese language, and absorb much knowledge about the people who have created the world's most fascinating culture. But besides the smoke, Professor Dobson's constant good humour and willingness to tutor his charges will, we are sure, give Canada a tradition of Chinese scholasticism second to none in the world.

Leaving behind his consulting engineering firm and several handsome bridges, Dr. Ing G. Kani joined the University of Toronto's Faculty of Engineering in the fall of 1960 as an associate professor in structural engineering (prestressed concrete, plates and shells).

Dr. Kani brought with him an international reputation in his field, won by his bridge design work in Germany, his three books, and several articles.

His favourite book, Analysis of Multi-Story Frames, has gone through eight German editions and five translations (English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, and Turkish). The U. of T. bookstore is now stocking it for students. The largest and one of the best tributes to Dr. Kani's skill in his field is, oddly enough, a Russian textbook on Prestressed Concrete. Without any communication between the Russian government and Dr. Kani, the Soviets took his book and translated it into Russian for U.S.S.R. consumption. Dr. Kani found out about this plagiarism by accident. An Indian engineer discovered the pirated edition in Russia and wrote to Dr. Kani in Germany. He immediately ordered a copy. Sure enough, it was his book.

Dr. Kani, perpetually modest and reluctant to talk about his achievements, holds a Ph.D. from Stuttgart Technical University in Engineering. During World War II he was an Assistant at that University, teaching courses in testing materials, massive bridges and reinforced concrete. After the war he became a building contractor in Stuttgart, and since 1952 he has been a consulting engineer.

With such successes behind and before him, Dr. Kani nevertheless left his homeland with the following considerations: "After spending the first quarter of a century of my life preparing to become an engineer, the second gathering experience as an engineer, I thought the best way to spend the third quarter would be to transfer the gathered knowledge to those who are preparing to become engineers." Because fast developing countries are an "Engineer's Paradise", he chose Canada as the country most challenging for an engineer. Both the University of Toronto and Quebec's Laval University invited him to join their staffs. Knowing little about either university, Dr. Kani was in Canada for a short while, a year before he came to live, and decided to stay in Toronto.

ING G. KANI
Ph.D.

Dr. Kani feels that his life was that of a lucky engineer, given opportunities which only few engineers can hope for. He considers himself fortunate that he was entrusted to design the first German railway bridge in prestressed concrete at Heilbrorm which in 1949 was the first prestressed concrete continuous beam over five spans. The following year he had the opportunity to design a six-span railway bridge at Kochendorf, Germany. One after another, his bridges established his international reputation. A sample of his fine work is shown below.

Before he settles down at his home in Rosedale, Dr. Kani will take one more trip back to Germany this summer to get his wife and children.

Forestry is "pretty dull stuff to the casual reader," says D. V. Love, Associate Professor of Forestry, "because it is simply management of forest land for the maximum benefits it can provide for the people."

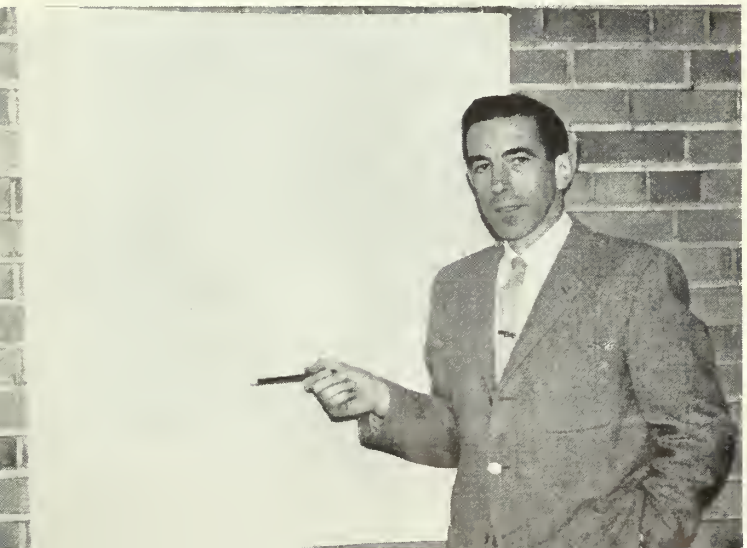

Professor Love, born in 1919 in Saint John, received his B.Sc.F. at the University of New Brunswick in 1941. After a year of Professional work and three years as Navigator on HMCS Edmunston, Professor Love attended the University of Michigan for an M.F. in forest management, and then came to the University of Toronto.

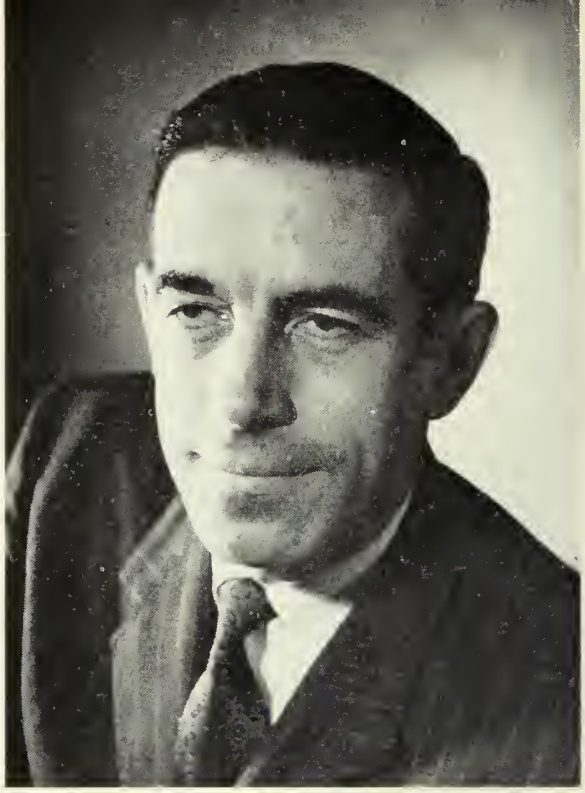

Professor Love narrowly missed the harrowing fate of becoming an engineer. Arriving at U.N.B. two days early, with the intention of registering in Engineering, he was fortunate to engage a third year Forestry student in conversation. The Forester pointed out the innumerable advantages, and Professor Love decided to take Forestry for the first year at least, as the two courses were basically similar. Needless to say, the obvious advantages of Forestry, even as taught at Fredericton, soon convinced him to stay.

In his teaching capacity, Professor Love has lectured on forest mensuration, statistics, forest management, forest organization, and forest economics. At present, he holds forth on only the last three.

In his position as Secretary of the Faculty, Professor Love has the unpleasant duty of informing students of examination failures and similar items. He doesn't let this bother him though. "After all, I'm simply following the direction of the Council. I'm not the decision-maker."

Another duty concerns the administration of the University of Toronto Forest near Dorset. Professor Love says that "The University of Toronto Forest is one of the happiest aspects in my life with the University." Ever since the Forest's establishment in 1945, Professor Love has been engaged in turning the low-quality hardwood forest into a well-managed profitable unit. The curriculum of the Faculty includes a month each year at the Forest. Spring Camp is, to some extent, a supply of free labour for Mr. Love's schemes, though they call it field work.

D. V. LOVE
B.Sc., M.E.

In recent years there has been considerable controversy over the arts content in the forestry curriculum. Professor Love objects to any reduction in this type of course. "If you can't have an arts course prior to the forestry course, it is desirable to keep a reasonably high arts content."

At the 1959 meeting of the Ontario Professional Foresters' Association, Professor Love warned that there was evidence of "a definite trend toward the exclusion of the humanities and the adoption of course work restricted to the study of the sciences and the limited field of applied forestry. If the pendulum swings too far in this direction, we run the risk of turning out trained but uneducated men unaware of the value and personal satisfaction to be gained from a knowledge of literature, history, and philosophy."

Other recent curriculum discussions concern options, which are presently offered only to fourth year. Professor Love believes in options, but not in early years. "Forestry is a very general applied field, which makes it undesirable for early specialization." In later years, however, he believes that, in view of the increasing percentage of postgraduate degrees, the student "should have the opportunity in options to decide on a field, or to have the opportunity to go a little further in understanding of a particular field."

Professor Love is a strong promoter of graduate work, for the following reason: "We are rapidly getting to the point where we are on the fringe of knowledge respecting the actual application of forestry. Therefore people with special training in all lines are needed." Actual knowledge is often not the limiting factor in the application of forestry, he adds. It is politics and economics.

EZRA SCHABAS
B.S., M.A.

Clarinetist, conductor and Special Lecturer in the Faculty of Music, Ezra Schabas studied at the Juilliard School of Music from which he graduated with an Artist Diploma in Clarinet and Bachelor of Science in Music Education. During World War II he served in the United States Army Air Force in the U.S. and Europe. While overseas he studied at the Conservatoire de Nancy, receiving its diploma in clarinet, and in Paris with Gaston Hamelin. He earned his M.A. from Columbia in 1947 and did subsequent study at Fontainbleau, France, and the Eastman School of Music.

Mr. Schabas has taught at the Hackley School in Tarrytown, New York, The University of Massachusetts, Amherst, and Western Reserve University, Cleveland, where he was assistant professor of music in charge of the Music Education programme and conductor of the University orchestra.

In 1952 Mr. Schabas moved, with his Canadian wife, to Toronto and has since played a very active role in musical circles throughout Ontario and, in fact, all of Canada. He is in charge of the Royal Conservatory's Concert Bureau, one of the country's primary forces in launching young Canadian artists in musical careers. He was a member of the original advisory music committee of the Stratford Festival which was instrumental in introducing music at the famed Festival city in 1955. He served as music manager there in 1958 and will fill the same role in the 1961 season. He has been manager and still retains a seat on the Board of Directors of the Hart House Orchestra and recently played a prominent role in the organization of the National Youth Orchestra, this in addition to being woodwind instructor for its first session at Christmas. Active in teaching at the University, his busiest year has been the present one as lecturer in charge of the instrumental classes in the Mus. Bac. Course. Mr. Schabas has also contributed many articles on educational and musical subjects in periodicals, and has served as Canadian editor of the Musical Courier Magazine of New York since 1954. He has been clarinet soloist on the C.B.C. and with several orchestras in Canada.

As a permanent Canadian resident he is vitally interested in the country's musical growth and has been a member of the Faculty Committee concerned with the erection of the new University music building which will be the finest of its kind in Canada, if not North America. "This building," he says, "will add a new dimension to Canadian musical life with its magnificent teaching and performing facilities. University musical education must now more than ever meet the need for preparing qualified music teachers in the schools, orchestral and vocal performers and thoroughly trained musicians in all branches of music . . . that is if Canada is to hold her own musically with countries comparable to it in size and wealth in other parts of the world."

Miss Elisabeth Wallace is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Toronto. For her own work in political economy she felt it necessary to explore several other related fields, and has a diploma in social work as well as a Ph.D. in Political Philosophy from Columbia and other degrees in English, History and Economics.

In 1945 she came to the University of Toronto and ever since students have always found her willing to listen to their problems or to talk about political economy. Miss Wallace stresses that comparative analysis of political institutions is an important aspect of the study of political science. For example, she is presently making a study of the West Indian Federation which provides interesting parallels for students of federalism in other countries.

"The study of government in the light of historical perspectives provides a constant salutary warning against uncritical acceptance of the political tenets and aphorisms of our own and of other days", as she says in her introduction to Readings in British Government published by the University of Toronto Press, which is used in the second year of the Political Science course.

ELISABETH WALLACE
B.A., Ph.D.

Miss Wallace is not only concerned with an academic study of government. She has travelled widely, in her first-hand examinations of political theories in action. Last summer she was in the West Indies and hopes to return later for a longer visit.

Closer to home, Miss Wallace would like to see more small tutorial groups at the University of Toronto, to encourage more active participation by students in the process of learning. She feels that it is too easy for students to sit in classrooms with the lecturer's words going in one ear and out the other. Miss Wallace believes that the honour courses provide a particularly good education, and that a partial knowledge of several unrelated subjects is less important than knowing one field well.

Miss Wallace often has special lecturers from other universities speak to her classes, since she believes that ideas from different countries can be invaluable to students of political science.

Miss Wallace disapproves of students engaging in a large number of extra-curricular activities instead of choosing two or three in which they are especially interested. She feels that they ought to realize that they are members of a community of scholars and that they come to the university for an education.

J. TUZO WILSON
O.B.E., M.A., Ph.D., LL.D., Sc.D., F.R.S.C.

Professor Wilson was born in Ottawa in 1908; he took his early schooling at Ashbury College and Lisgar Collegiate, and in 1930 graduated from Trinity College in the University of Toronto, the first and sole graduate of Professor Lachlan Gilchrist's new course, Physics and Geology. Upon graduation he was awarded a Governor-General's medal, the Coleman Gold Medal in Geology, and a Massey Fellowship, giving him two years at Cambridge, where he obtained his M.A.

Dr. Wilson received his Ph.D. from Princeton in 1936, and in the same year gained a permanent appointment with the Geological Survey of Canada. Two years later he married Isabel Jean Dickson, first in her class in modern languages at University College.

When war broke out, Dr. Wilson joined the Canadian Army as Second Lieutenant Wilson. In 1944 he was appointed Director of Operational Research, with the rank of colonel. Immediately after the war he directed Operation Muskox, an army Arctic testing and training program.

In 1946 Dr. Wilson became Professor Wilson, successor to Lachlan Gilchrist as Professor of Geophysics at the University of Toronto.

Professor Wilson has been, at various stages of his distinguished career, Chairman of the Arctic Institute of North America, visiting professor at the Australian National University, National Sigma Chi lecturer, Vice-President and President of the International Union of Geology and Geophysics (the largest of the scientific unions of the International Geophysical Year), author of One Chinese Moon, Physics and Geology (with J. A. Jacobs and R. D. Russell), and many scientific reports and abstracts.

Certainly one of the most widely-known staff members of the University of Toronto, Professor Wilson is almost without a doubt the most widely-travelled. In 1946 he was the second Canadian to fly over the North Pole. His book, One Chinese Moon, is a scientific travelogue based on diaries he kept while on a one month's journey through Communist China in 1958. He has travelled extensively to seventy countries and territories, has been around the world two times, and has taken the long way across all the continents except Antarctica which he has only visited. The only place his students know for sure he hasn't been is the island across from the harbor of Trinidad—and that was six months ago.

On first meeting, he is almost invariably a surprise to his students. They have all heard of him before, and are all understandably awed by his reputation. Most of them know at least something about his unique but very reasonable theories on continent—and mountain—building. It is therefore quite gratifyingly surprising to them to meet this big, friendly man who seems to be always smiling, and who often looks a little mussed, as if he had just stepped off a plane, or had just finished packing for one, (as is probably the case).

Today we are all faced with the conflict between the scientist and the "intellectual": what Sir C. P. Snow calls "the Two Cultures". Many of us, still undergraduates, have as yet seen only hints of the awesome gulf that separates the two: perhaps in the guise of "Engineers and Artsmen".

Many of us have been frightened by what we have seen. It is to men like Professor Wilson that we must turn for an idea of how to bridge the gap. He is undoubtedly one of Canada's great scientists; he is also, to those who know him, a sensitive man with a keen interest in the people around him and a great desire to see Mankind pursue their happiness rationally. He stands part-way between the two cultures: a humane scientist and an analytic intellectual.

HART HOUSE

WARDEN'S MESSAGE

Karsh

A university has recently been defined as "the advancing edge of human awareness." This is a statement of university purpose which goes beyond the purely technical or purely academic. It is a suggestion that all knowledge is inadequate unless at some time and some place it becomes relevant to the human need and the human condition.

In this day and generation—perhaps more so than at any previous time in history—there is a demand that university men and women should possess not only knowledge and skill in their specific fields of study but that they should also be sensitive to those great problems which concern the upward climb of the human race—the hopes and dreams and ambitions of millions of people of all races and colours for a better life.

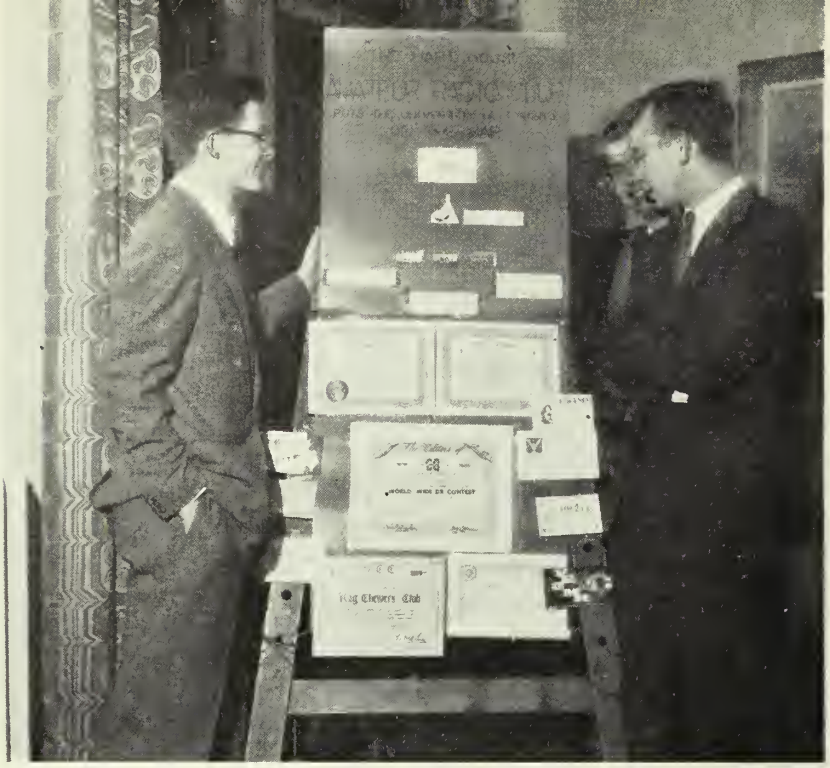

Hart House was established over forty years ago primarily to serve this University as a men's club. But behind this particular function there was the hope that through the programme of the House as planned by successive generations of students there might develop some insight, some awareness, that would enable graduates of our University more fully to accept their responsibilities as leaders and as workers.

Education is indeed a many-splendoured thing; it is our hope that through the medium of the common life of the members of this House during the year 1960-61 something of significance has been added to the best traditions of Hart House.

The Caledon Hills Farm has been the centre of considerable activity this year as in past years. It has been used by university groups and societies every week-end. A new building was erected this fall and it is hoped that the additional facilities provided will make it possible for more university people to spend a week or week-end in the fresh air. The Farm continues operation through the summer. Why not come up for a picnic?

Debates

The Debates Room was the scene of many lively debates this year. Audience attendance and participation made the debates program much more exciting and valuable. Honorary Visitors this year were: Pierre Berton, Elmer Sopha, Philip Deane, Robertson Davies and David Walker. Informal sessions in the Bickersteth Room following the debates were very stimulating. They were difficult to stop.

Hart House Orchestra Associates

The Hart House Orchestra Associates is a group of Students at the University of Toronto whose object is to encourage an appreciation of good music on campus through intimate acquaintance with Canada's finest chamber orchestra. The Hart House Orchestra is a professional group formed by Boyd Neel in 1954. Rapid and continued success has assured it a position of eminence throughout the world.

Each year the Associates organize the series of concerts held in the Great Hall of Hart House. These concerts are held on Sunday evenings; therefore admission is on a membership subscription basis. Both season and temporary subscriptions are sold at a nominal cost to male and female students of the University. Since a professional orchestra could not possibly be supported by the low student subscription rates, sustaining and patron memberships are sold to the public at large.

The Associates feel that they are fulfilling an important role in the welfare of the arts. Indeed they are supporting a unique institution, for there is no other university whose students arrange for a professional orchestra to play regularly in their midst. Their role becomes doubly important when one realizes that the only other chamber group in the city folded up through lack of support this winter.

In contrast, the 1960-61 concert series of the Hart House Orchestra was a brilliant success artistically and from the viewpoint of support. Yet the very important work done behind the scenes was also a factor contributing to this season's success in the two senses of the word. Chief credit must go to the Chairman of the Associates, John C. Rung, whose tactful determination saw to it that every effort necessary to smooth organizational efficiency was carried out. The whole executive this year also contributed to the general success, and it is hoped that new personalities will join the Associates in an active capacity to help carry on the work for next year's concert season. Anyone interested, of either sex, can contact the Associates through the Undergraduate Office or the Warden's Office, Hart House.

PICTURES IN THE HALLWAY

This year was Hart House Theatre's fifteenth season as an all-undergraduate theatre under the direction of Robert Gill. Four productions were presented with casts chosen from all colleges and faculties on the campus. The October production was the hilarious comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, Once In A Lifetime. The second production, in November, was Beyond The Horizon, a tragedy by Eugene O'Neill. Pictures In The Hallway, the adaptation by Paul Shyre of Sean O'Casey's autobiographical novel was presented in January. The final production, in February, was Thornton Wilder's modern classic, The Skin Of Our Teeth. Each play ran for seven performances and over one hundred students participated during the season.

Hart House Theatre has proved itself a valuable part of the life of the University. Besides giving students an opportunity to act and take part in the technical operation of stage production, it is also providing an opportunity for both the undergraduates of the University and the Toronto public to see plays of high quality and interest.

In addition to the Hart House Theatre series, productions of various kinds were presented by fifteen active groups on the campus.

GUEST SPEAKER ARTHUR MALONEY, M.P., ADDRESSES THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO BANQUET

World University Service

A Local W.U.S. Committee in Japan

The great disparity of conditions which exists among the university communities of the world has always been a matter of concern for those who value higher education. For forty years, it has been the purpose of the World University Service to tackle this problem by providing economic assistance and promoting mutual understanding. In nineteen-twenty, the focus was on students returning to the war-torn universities of Europe; in nineteen-sixty-one W.U.S. is fighting student health problems in South-East Asia and barriers to native education in South Africa. Whether a situation is chronic or crisis, W.U.S. often leads the way in sending non-political grants of money for the initiation of self-help projects in distressed universities. Often these grants are effective in renewing confidence and touching off major campaigns in the localities; many times they have provided the aid by which students have been able to pursue their studies again.

An important aspect of the work of a local committee, then, is the raising of funds for the implementation of W.U.S. schemes. This year, the SHARE Campaign, under the expert chairmanship of John Nicholls brought in $5,500 from staff and students for the International Programme of Action. This is a record amount for the University of Toronto, and it reflects extremely well on the chairman, college representatives and the hundreds of canvassers. In addition, the Treasure Van sale of international handicrafts during November was most successful. The $5,000 gross receipts represents an increase of 50% over last year's sale, and also represents a great deal of conscientious work on the part of Betty Lou Taylor and her committee.

The year began early in October, when the chairman and vice-chairman, Douglas Ward and Marilyn Johnston, attended the National Assembly at Queen's University, Kingston. The Assembly helped the new executive gain an understanding of the total work of W.U.S.C., and ideas were exchanged between the local committee representations. Back in Toronto, monthly meetings for the college representatives were begun, and various sub-committees were instituted.

In early December, the annual Caledon Seminar was held at the Hart House Farm. Forty-four students and staff, Canadian and Overseas, enjoyed a week-end of discussion (during which we tried to untie Canada from the United States), steam baths (during which a few participants broke the way for others into the frozen pond), and limbo dancing (during which the difference between Indian students and West Indian students became clear to all). Judy Ryerson, who also served as a liaison with F.R.O.S., and Jane Gordon, are to be thanked for a well-planned and delightful week-end.

As the year progressed, three delegates to the W.U.S.C. Summer Seminar in Israel, Sanny Johnston, Shaya Izenberg and Lionel Mausberg, stumped their way through Toronto and "environs" with their reflections on a fascinating summer. The selection of delegates for this year's Sweden Seminar has been under the capable direction of Mary Blakeman. The quality of the applicants was very high, and Toronto will be well represented in Sweden by Arlene Glickman, Gary Ashby, George Baird and Sy Zysman.

During February, the W.U.S. Committee presented five noon-hour lectures for prospective overseas travellers. Janet Scott came forth with some highly interesting speakers, and the talks were well appreciated.

Some new ideas were tried out this year. Doris Middleton and Debbie Halper organized a fashion show in the late fall to promote W.U.S. among the members of the fairer sex, and the various publicity needs of the Committee were co-ordinated under a new position held by Tammy Goldstein.

Many have added enthusiasm and hard work to the Committee. If any continuity existed, it was due to the efforts of Nan Ackerman, secretary and the council. The committee is indebted to Professor Wickens, as a partner rather than an advisor, and to his colleagues, Dean Innis and Professor Rathé; nor can we forget the contributions of two faithful luminaries, Dr. Fritz Ecstein, of the German National Committee, and Aubrey Morantz, former W.U.S. scholar to Ghana.

Each year presents greater opportunities to increase the local interest in the work of the World University Service. Best wishes go to the new committee—and success to W.U.S., along with the hope that its purposes will come to predominate in the international university community.

National Affairs Commission

This has been the first year of operation for the newly-constituted "National Affairs Commission". The purpose of the commission is to "maintain and promote relations between the students of the University of Toronto and students of other Universities and Colleges in Canada and throughout the world, and to promote contact between foreign and Canadian students on this campus"—in short to look after all "external affairs" of the Students' Administrative Council.

The work of the Commission divides itself into four fields. The first three of these are (1) The National Federation of Canadian University Students, (NFCUS), (2) World University Service (WUS), (3) Weekend Exchange Committee. Each of these committees is headed by a chairman—a member of the Students' Council who besides looking after his own committee, also sits on the National Affairs Commission. The committees are responsible to the National Affairs Commission for matters of general policy, but most of the work is carried out by the committees themselves.

External Affairs of a more general nature are handled by the Commission as a whole. The participation by the University of Toronto in National and International seminars and conferences was extended this year. We sent delegates to the McGill Conference on World Affairs, the Sir George William's Seminar on International Affairs, the Manitoba Commonwealth Conference, the Student Conference on National Affairs at Texas A. and M. College, the NFCUS National Seminar and the WUS Summer Seminar. The National Affairs Commission is responsible for selection of participants in these seminars and conferences, and we are pleased that Toronto's representation this year was of a very high calibre. The Council also sent two delegates to a Young Adult Seminar at Camp Pinecrest. Young adults from many ethnic, religious and political organizations in the Toronto area were gathered there to discuss the topic of "Canadian Nationalism".

The Commission also serves as the advisory body to the Council on any other matters of national and international concern to students. This year we supported the allocation of one thousand dollars for the Canadian Overseas Volunteers to help in their pioneering work in Malaya. We donated another one hundred dollars towards the International Student Workcamp in Chile which is currently reconstructing University buildings demolished by the recent Chilean earthquake. At the time of writing we are continuing our investigation of the possibility of providing a channel for an Algerian Refugee student to study at the University of Toronto.

This year's Commission has spent considerable time in drawing up a "Selection Procedure Report" in order that future Councils may follow a more consistent procedure in selecting delegates for congresses, conferences and seminars.

In general, the work of the National Affairs Commission this year was of a "pioneering" nature —providing the foundation upon which future Commissions will build. We hope we have provided a good foundation.

S.A.C. PRESIDENT PETER DEMBSKI AND NFCUS CHAIRMAN JOYCE ANDERSON LEAD STUDENT DELEGATION TO PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS ON NATIONAL STUDENTS' DAY.

The National Federation of Canadian University Students, to which every student at the University of Toronto belongs, functions at the local level under the direction of a local committee consisting of the National Affairs Commissioner, the N.F.C.U.S. chairman, one representative from each faculty, plus co-opted members.

The most interesting aspect of this year's work was the visit to Canada of four students from the U.S.S.R. The University of Toronto was host to them for three days, during which time they visited everything from the university campus and an S.A.C. meeting, to the O'Keefe Centre.

The important project which N.F.C.U.S. undertook this year was the preparation and presentation of a brief to the provincial and federal governments requesting more federal aid in the form of bursaries to students entering university. On National Student Day, February 16, a student assembly was held in Convocation Hall, followed by a procession to the parliament buildings, where a copy of the brief was presented to a representative of the provincial government.

The other projects which the committee has worked on include the planning of a Creative Writers' Conference to be held in Toronto next fall, attempts to obtain discounts from local stores, and the carrying out of programmes to publicize and encourage participation in the various national contests including those in photography and literature, and also in the various facilities offered to the members of N.F.C.U.S., such as the travel department and the life insurance plan.

PETER DEMSKI MEETING THE LEADER OF THE RUSSIAN DELEGATION

THE RUSSIAN DELEGATION

A WARM WELCOME FOR OUR RUSSIAN GUESTS

THIRD NATIONAL NFCUS SEMINAR

The topic of last year's seminar, held in Vancouver at the University of British Columbia, was a broad one, to say the least—"Education, Research and National Development." To give the Eastern delegates a broader, more practical view of the topics, day-long stop-overs were made on the trip west at the University of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and the Alberta.

The programme at every stopover was geared to the topic of the seminar—giving the delegates, many of whom had never been out of their own home provinces, a quick, but diverse view of the educational facilities, the agricultural and industrial developments, and the tremendous research projects in Canada.

Vancouver was prepared to meet the delegates—with a three-day deluge of rain. Peter Meekison, Chairman of the Seminar made up for the rain, however, with serenades through the residence halls. He was brave enough to play "76 Trombones" at 7:30 every morning—on the trumpet.

The seminar itself was a climax to the long trip west. Controversy and discussion raged from the very first day, when Dr. Walter L. Gordon, author of the Gordon report on Canada's economic prospects, made the statement that Canada had to decide now whether to have political and economic integration with the United States, or become completely independent.

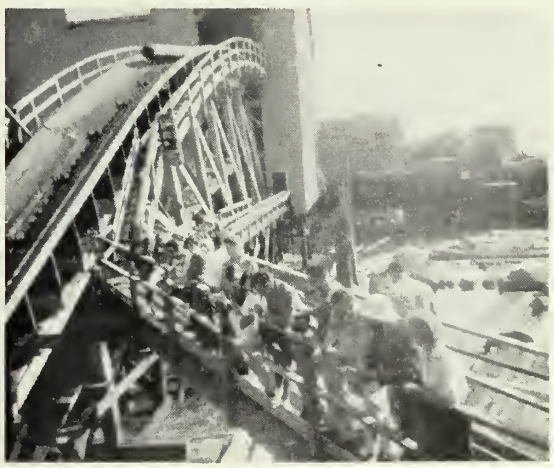

A program of social events—receptions, tours, the theatre, and even a party on a mountain kept the delegates busy between sessions. Among the distinguished speakers who added to the success of the seminar were Dr. Samuel Beatty, former Chancellor of the University of Toronto, Dr. Eugene Forsey, Director of the Research, Canadian Labour Congress, and Dr. A. E. Grauer, President of the B.C. Electric Company, to mention only a few.

Farewells at the station

All of the speakers bravely stood their ground while they were bombarded with questions in both French and English. A simultaneous translation arrangement allowed the French-speaking delegates to listen to the speeches in French.

Throughout the sometimes quiet, and more often, stormy discussion groups, one thing was apparent—a general spirit of nationalism among the delegates --tempered by the realization of the differences, in both speech and attitudes of the students from each different part of Canada. Perhaps the most striking indication of the diversity of Canada's people occurred at the banquet given by the province of British Columbia. The delegates stood to sing the much-debated "Canadian National Anthem"—and heard three very different versions of "O Canada" at once—a western, an eastern, and a French.

GOOD WEEKEND

The Blue and White Society

The Blue and White Society is a committee of the Students' Administrative Council set up for the promotion of a University-wide spirit and for the organization of certain campus-wide social events. It is made up of representatives from all the colleges, faculties and schools of the University, under the guidance of a chairman elected from within the S.A.C.

Among the many tasks of the Society are the selection of the Blue and White Cheerleaders, the running of Pep rallies, tea-dances and the famous Blue and White Football dances associated with the fall schedule, and the production of the annual Homecoming Weekend. The annual Christmas Tree in Hart House, also a function of the Blue and White, is a most popular campus tradition. In the Spring term, the major task of the Society is the production of the Ice Frolics, now in its second year as a replacement for the Winter Carnival.

1960-61 has been a busy year for the members of the Blue and White, and, we feel, a successful one. The measure of this success is found in the increasing numbers of students who came out to enjoy the various events. The response of freshmen to the special reduced price for the opening Blue and White Dance at Hart House was promising indeed. The Homecoming Show and the Ice Frolics both showed a substantial increase in attendance over last year.

Next year, in addition to its regular functions, the Blue and White will introduce its first all-out freshman orientation programme. This programme, which had certain meagre beginnings last fall, is just another part of the Society's drive to stimulate University spirit in this great community of diversity where College and Faculty loyalties are so strong.

The students of the University owe a debt of gratitude to the many representatives to the Blue and White who have worked so hard to make this year a success. We are sure that future societies will work just as hard, and will produce greater and greater events for the enjoyment of more and more students.

Home was never like this!

University of Toronto Debating Union

The U. of T. Debating Union serves a manifold purpose. Firstly it works to promote an interest in and attainment of a high level of debating in the University as a whole. It serves as a body of organization and discussion for the representatives of each individual faculty and college debating club on campus. As well as this it sponsors specified events throughout the year.

In October the University Debating team members were selected after competing in rounds of prepared and then impromptu debates. The composition of the team varied from last year's membership of sixteen to a twenty-four man team. Sixteen senior members acted as the principal representatives of the University in intercollegiate debating and took part in tournaments at McGill, Boston, Columbia, Indiana, and Penn State. The remaining members constituted a "novice team" and were coached and given training in on-campus and high school debates in order that they might be prepared to take on the duties of the senior members.

The Union this year was extremely successful in holding a Debating Tournament on this campus shortly before Christmas. Twelve universities and colleges from Canada and the United States debated the topic, "Resolved that American investment in Canada poses a threat to Canadian autonomy". After an enjoyable tournament weekend the Royal Military College debaters from Kingston emerged the victors.

In the fall term Toronto's representative, David Higgins, was elected President of the Inter-University Debates League for the forthcoming season. In conjunction with the League's programme Toronto was scheduled to participate in six on-campus debates and six off-campus debates. The selected topic was "Resolved that neutrality is immoral".

The Public Service Programme, initiated two years ago, was continued under the direction of Chuck Freedman. The novice team visited numerous Toronto high schools and exhibited the techniques of parliamentary-style debating on varied topics of current interest. Similar debates were held before Toronto service clubs as well. It is hoped to expand this programme further next year.

This year's Model Parliament, sponsored by the Union, made history as the Liberals won the elections for the first time. Also several Communist members were added to the ranks of the Opposition. Registrar Robin Ross acted as the Governor General while Professor Bora Laskin and Mr. Bill Russell acted as Speakers of the House.

U. of T. Debating Team

The University of Toronto Debating Team managed to complete a rigorous schedule during the year 1960-61. With their academic gowns cutting a swath behind them, Toronto's dauntless debaters set out from their "cross-walk protected stamping grounds" to challenge the finest mouths of the United States and Canada. Ranging from historical Boston University and cosmopolitan Columbia, the team, sent out in groups of four, made their presence felt all the way to the American Mid-West, Indiana University, and then returned to the land of the Red Ensign to challenge Western and snowbound McGill University. The season was completed in grand style with two of Toronto's finest demonstrating their versatility by alternately debating "Recognition of Communist China" and "Medical Health Insurance" at the Penn. State Debating Conference.

As usual, the "unique" Parliamentary style of debating practised by Toronto was greeted with utmost enthusiasm by their American opponents, who are not accustomed to the informal methods of debate. As a result, crowds of debaters flocked to listen to the performances of Toronto's representatives.

On the home front, the team assisted in the organization and participated in the Toronto Tournament which was held here in December. Joining the Inter-University Debating League again, after an absence of two years, the Toronto team participated in the I.U.D.L. tournament, debating both sides of "Neutrality is Immoral" and generally faring quite well.

The High School Debating programme went extremely well this year. We received an enthusiastic response from the Toronto and District schools. Each week, for a few months, two or three debates were held in the various institutions. This programme is an attempt to interest students at the high school level to participate in debating so that by the time they reach University there will be an extensive pool of experienced debaters from which the team can choose.

The Varsity

The academic year 1960-61 marked the eightieth year of publication of The Varsity, undergraduate student newspaper at University of Toronto.

Eighty years distinguishes The Varsity as one of the oldest continuous news publications in the Dominion of Canada. Eighty years is a long and respectable lifetime, yet The Varsity is and has been one of those rare phenomena which even a hundred years will never make old. The Varsity seldom grows up in the literal sense. It is always filled with youthful exuberance, inexperience and even folly. Its soul will be forever youthful, forever eager to rush in where angels tread with caution, for the staff of The Varsity is ever young, ever changing.

This year's Varsity, perhaps, was a perfect example of youth, inexperience and a lusty reckless attitude toward the responsibilities of sedate journalism. This is not to label the staff irresponsible or disrespectful, but to expose the staff as short on experience, long on enthusiasm and ambition. Mistakes were many, most were corrected quickly and improvement was rapid and gratifying.

Ed Roberts, serious to the point of gruffness and devoted to a dream of producing a top student newspaper, assumed the editorship with only a skeleton crew returning to the fold. He wrote memos (coded) by the dozen, spent many sleepless nights, hired a professional newsman to instruct his staff and saw The Varsity blossom into a good newspaper and his staff into a formidable journalistic unit.

At his side, always amiable, was hard-working Assistant to the Editor, Maryanne Kelso. The relief from the constant drudgery of filing, note taking and memo typing can be credited to this pleasant staffer.

Editor-In-Chief Ed Roberts, who guided the fote of The Varsity with a gruff bellow and a sense of humor ond remoined ever faithful to Newfoundland and the fate of Liberolism.

Hard driving, ambitiaus Frank Marzari wha in his raakie year with The Varsity was City Editar and Assistant Features Editar, bringing to both posts a vast professional experience and an obility to teach the less experienced members af the staff.

Jocques Raberge, comero wizard and terror of the dark room did nat let a month's illness interfere with his photographer's duties.

As pressure eased, Roberts took time out to present a series of excellent editorials, sprinkled liberally with love of his native Newfoundland and the Liberal party, and with a sense of fair play to the underdog. His editorial prose won the Bracken Trophy, emblematic of top editorial writing among all Canadian University newspapers.

The Varsity had moved to a new press at the beginning of the year, and as was expected, printing problems cropped up steadily. To fill the breach and soothe the troubled waters stepped in Managing Editor Dave Griner. One of the few staffers who had served a two year apprenticeship as an Associate and then Sports Editor, Griner's talents made The Varsity one of the most attractively laid out in several years.

Meanwhile, back at the newsroom, bespectacled News Editor Bill Musgrove, with the help of rookie City Editor Frank Marzari, was surrounding the typewriters with a pack of eager and brilliant newshounds. Charges of slanting and libel were soon forgotten as Art Silver (later promoted to Assistant News Editor), Peter S. Jull (later promoted to cream of the crop, senior staff reporter), Marg Daly, Carolyn Purden, Kathy Griffin, Gretchen Grant, Dave Creighton, Alvin Shapiro, John McGoey and many others scoured the campus in search of news.

And news they got. The growing CUCND, the Free World Society, Engineering capers, football weekends and brawls, the mayoralty race, Model Parliament, all stories political, the opening of York University, Carabin weekends, student and police clashes, pie eating contests, publicity gags, soap box speeches, debates, debates, debates, C.O.V., stolen tractors, licit romances and snowball fights were uncovered, probed and duly reported.

But Noel Bates, quiet spoken, dignified football player with the Senior Blues and just lately transferred from sports to head the Arts, Music and Drama section of the paper was having worries of his own.

He uncovered drama critics by the bushel however. Virginia Conner became his associate AM&D Editor, Peter Pearson, Diane Ede, Dudley Young, Walter Gunn, Betty-Lou Joynt, Michael Davidson and columnist Anne Marshall all combined with "Take Five" Bates to produce one of The Varsity's most interesting sections.

Sports, the backbone of any paper, under Sports Editor Mike Chykaliuk, former Blues football great, were consistently well covered. Bobbie Armstrong, redheaded bundle of fury, pounded the women's sports beat, while Rick Kollins, Lew Solmon, Kyle Baumanis and several others poured their offerings to the taciturn Chykaliuk.

George Harpur managed the affairs of the photographers. The early demise, due to academic pressures, of Martin Bass and George Puziak left only veterans Jacques Roberge and Mike Gudz to carry the brunt of the load. This they did through many long hours in the darkness of the newly refurbished darkroom.

Comment Editor Gene Glisky's feature writers, meanwhile, were assigned a difficult task. A relatively new policy of a feature an issue appeared to be impossible, but they dug in and produced.

The inimitable Alan Walker fired off a controversial series on vice, tattoos and subjects normally taboo in the daily presses. John Cowan and Art Silver produced a series on nuclear warfare. Jim Laxer touched on mental institutions and unemployment. Terry Keenleyside, Cullene Bryant, Gary Kellam and many others searched the campus for oddities, personalities and events of interest and produced controversial and interesting material. A feature an issue it was, while columnists Jules Craft, Gary Moffatt and Gene Glisky added spice to any subject upon which they roamed.

Glisky interjected several features ranging from personal experiences no one wished to believe were true to interviews with famed journalists Greg Clark and Scott Young, Russian students, basement clubs and a variety of other subjects. For his efforts he was awarded the Anita Freedman Trophy for top creative writing.

As 75 issues of The Varsity were put to bed, a group of young students had carried off the responsibility of a traditionally proud newspaper with flying colors. For most, in their first year, it was a rare and gratifying experience. Few of this year's staff will be leaving. Those who return appear destined to carry The Varsity to the heights of success.

anita freedman award

The Anita Freedman Award is by far and away The Varsity's most honoured award. Named in memory of a former Woman's Editor, it is awarded each year to the staffer who has contributed most to The Varsity by way of creative journalism — the essence of good newspaper work. This year the Award has been earned by Gene Glisky.

Gene's three years with The Varsity have seen him write sports, news, A.M. & D., publicity, features, columns, editorials — in short, every type of material published by The Varsity. His work has always been of a consistently high standard. This year, as Comment Editor, he produced the paper's outstanding section — the features. His most significant contribution, however, was not his writing, although that alone would have been enough to merit the Award, but in running his Department. It's going to be many years, I think, before The Varsity has features which are as good as this year's have been. The high standards reached this year are Gene's handiwork; they are something of which he can be justly proud.

Over the years many distinguished staffers of The Varsity have received the Anita Freedman Award. Few of them have deserved it as richly as did Gene Glisky.

— Ed Roberts.

The Varsity Pin Winners

A brilliant and affable newspaperman, Art Silver exploded on the Varsity scene to became a top reporter, Assistant News Editor and one of the most highly respected staffers.

Maryanne Kelso performed one of the most difficult jobs on the Varsity with quiet devotion, patience and dedication. She was — Assistant to the Editor.

The pixie of the sports world, Babbie Armstrong, Women's Sports Editor, in her second year with The Varsity devoted much time and effort to publicize the athletic prawess of those of her sex.

One of the very few to win a Varsity pin in his first year, Peter S. Jull epitomizes all the qualities that go to make up this rare phenomenon. He was tireless, devoted and an excellent journalist.

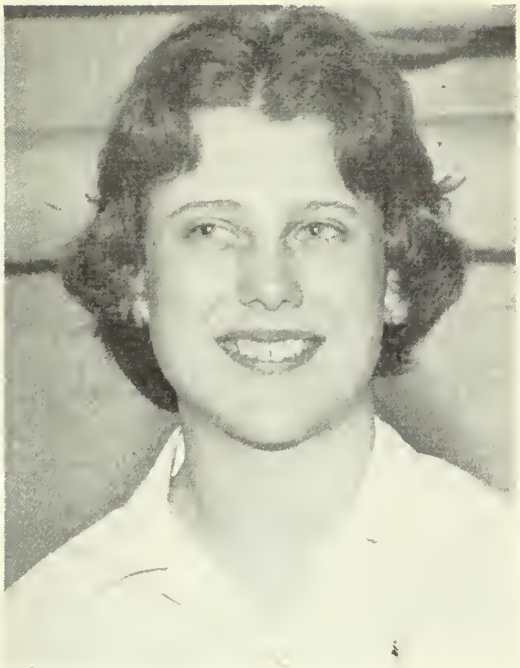

Noel Bates, AM & D Editor, brought much determination to one of the most exacting departments in the Varsity. Trained as a sports writer, he quickly adapted to head a first class staff.

Camera magician Mike Gudz, whose photo wizardry perpetually brightened the pages of the paper, was consistently the backbone of the photography staff, turning in reams of top flight photographs.

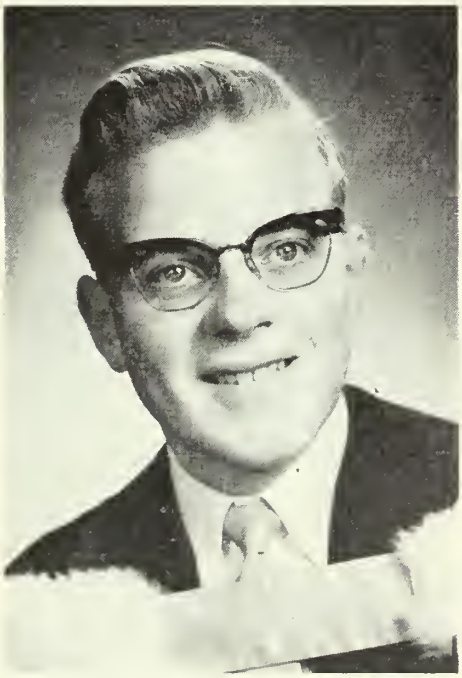

TORONTO ENSIS

Marg Fisher was well prepared for her position as Editor of the 1961 edition of Torontonensis. She gained experience as Fall Activities Editor in her first year, and as Assistant Editor in her second year. She has worked long hours from November to May correcting and coordinating the material of the Section Editors. Marg also found time for third year Political Science and Economics.

Sande Evans, the Assistant Editor, should more rightfully be styled co-editor. She has worked with the editor continually and has borne much of the burden of responsibility for the organization of the Torontonensis. Besides sharing with the editor the task of checking pages and copy, Sande did the complete research and layout for the section of Profiles. Working long hours during study week, exams and into May, Sande has shown initiative and ability. For her contribution last year as Graduate Editor, and this year as Assistant Editor, Sande has been awarded the Torontonensis pin.

Bob Wilkinson, efficient and organized, has done a superb job on the Graduate Section. Beginning in December, he has worked hard and long even through exams and into May, until the last graduate pages were proof read. During this time he carried on the mammoth task of organizing the sorting and proofing of biographies, the pasting of grad pictures, and the endless phoning of people who "have had their p cture taken, but aren't sure which proof they are going to use". Bob is graduating this year from Commerce and Finance. The Torontonensis is loosing in him a faithful and diligent worker. Bob's cheerfulness, his organizing ability, and his capacity to get things done, have taken a great load from the editors' shoulders. Bob, reliable and enthusiastic, will be awarded the Torontonensis pin in recognition of his contribution.

TORONTONENSIS PIN

A permanent recognition of outstanding contribution to Torontonensis "in terms of precious hours, reliability, and initiative, fresh and courageous ideas, and pleasant enthusiasm", the Torontonensis pin was awarded this year to Sande Evans and Bob Wilkinson.

Credit for the excellent Meds-P.O.T. section must all be given to Gwen Campbell, who is in second year General at Vic. Althongh in her first year on the Torontonensis, Gwen proved to be one of the most valuable members of the staff. Beginning in December, she worked hard and long on the Gradnate section, correcting biographies, pasting pictures, and proof-reading copy. As a section editor she showed her ability to get things done, and exhibited a talent for appealing layont.

Debbie Fraser in second year School of Nursing, has shown initiative and reliability as a member of the Torontonensis staff. The Graduate Editor will attest to her hard work on his section. Her outstanding contribution, however, has been in organizing and doing the layout on the St. Michael's section. Normally, section editors have all the necessary material submitted to them by the college or faculty representative. In the St. Mike's section this was not the case, and Debbie found herself working with the S.M.C. rep trying to arrange for pictures to be taken, finding people to do write-ups, and ferreting out action shots. Having only a very small amount of time in which to meet her deadline, Debbie worked far into the night to complete her sction. However, her layont proved to be excellent — accurate, varied and interesting.

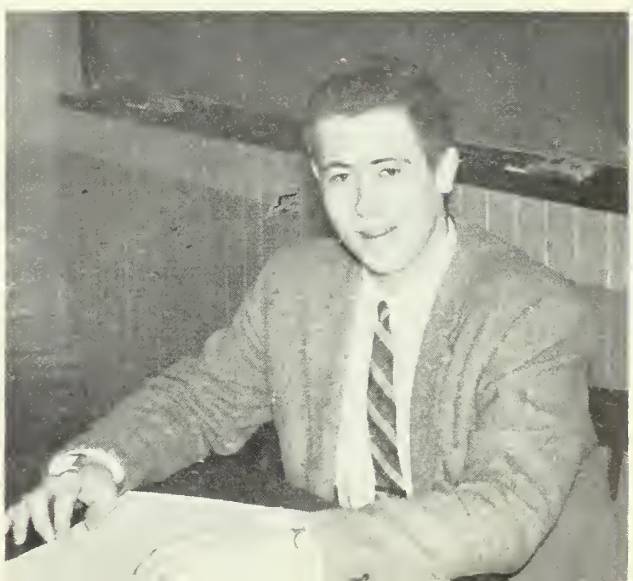

Bev Hannigan, a second year general student, earned her title "Copy Editor" from many long hours spent, reading, correcting, and rewriting article after article from clnbs, teams and organizations of all types. The poor handwriting, and terrible grammar of the copy submitted did not discourage Bev. She cheerfully plonghed through the material. The speed with which she completed each new batch of copy made the task of the section editors easier. Doing a thankless task, Bev has proved a valnable part of the Torontonensis organization.

Sylvia Carter, in second year at University College, has shown a keen interest in all phases of 'Nensis work. Always willing to undertake any task, Sylvia has found herself phoning long lists of delinqnents, slaving on the grad section, and then turning her talents to the organization of the mammoth U.C. section. Sylvia's talents in layout are trnly laudable. She prodnced a section which is impressive, and enjoyable to read.

Glenn Jackson, cheerful and willing to work, was a valuable 'Nensis staffer. Without him many pages of copy would have remained untyped, and many galley proofs uncorrected. Besides his duties as typist, Glenn, in third year Political Science and Economics, corrected biography cards, and pasted grad pictures. Glenn then turned to layout and prodnced the Theology section.

Jennifer Moore, returning for a second year on the 'Nensis, again did the layout for the Organizations section. Jennifer is always a willing worker and able to complete a section on short notice. Her layout is appealing whatever the subject matter. Her enthusiasm for the work makes Jennifer an asset to the staff.

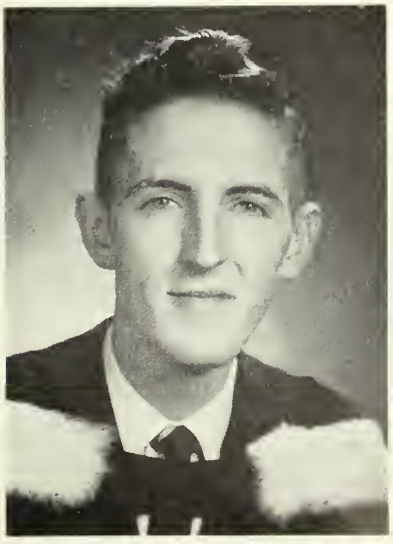

Mary Campbell has spent four years as a Section Editor of the Torontonensis. She has proved her competence in layout, and has been a faithful staffer and an efficient worker. In this her graduating year she has been successful in making the Victoria Section interesting and varied. We thank Mary for four years as a loyal member of the Torontonensis Staff.

The S.A.C. and Hart House sections were this year produced by Virginia Lomax, who graduates this year from Political Science and Economics. This was her first year on the 'Nensis, yet in a short time she picked up the tricks of organizing picture and copy on pages, and produced a lively section. Ginny's energy and ability, make us wish we had discovered her talents in her first year.

Inconceivable but true, an Artsman has dared to do the Engineering Section. Bryan Graham, in his third year at Vic, has, in his first year on the Torontonensis, shown himself to be a diligent and competent worker. In spite of a deficiency of Engineering material, Bryan nevertheless was able to make each page of his section full and appealing. Bryan was a great help in the later stages of the book, cutting and pasting, and correcting galley proofs.

Graduating this year from Trinity in Modern History, Peter Patterson was, however, a freshman on the Torontonensis. Having no previous layout experience, Peter, nevertheless, produced a section which is certainly worthy of merit. The Trinity section was handled capably by him, and the appealing layout is witness to his talents.

The size of the picture of Nancy Leamen is no indication of her importance on the Torontonensis staff. Coming to us late in the season, Nancy foolishly asked for "a little" job. She found herself saddled with a large section. A very diligent worker, Nancy proved equal to the task. The section of Faculties, excluding Engineering and Meds, bears testimony to her skill in layout. Nancy is a joy to work with. She is conscientious and took great pains with her section. Every page was accurate and imaginative. If Nancy has not been scared away by hard work this year, she should, next year, prove to be one of the most valuable members of the staff.

Plaudits for the Men's Sports Section go to Ken Carpenter, who graduates this year from General. Ken, businesslike and efficient, not only did the layout for his section of thirty pages but also collected all the material. Ken, an active debater and campus politician has through organization and quick completion of his section proved to be an asset to the Torontonensis.

Judy Bryers came to the staff late in the year, yet she proved her ability in collecting the material for the Women's Intercollegiate Sports section, and in setting up the pages. Judy also helped with pages in the Activities section. In first year at Victoria, Judy, we hope, will return to the Torontonensis next year to do a larger section.

Patrick Duggan, Photographer, has shown a keen interest in the Torontonensis this year. In spite of a heavy timetable in Engineering, Patrick has been a great help to the 'Nensis, taking pictures and developing film.

There was never a dull moment when Peter was around. Peter Jull, taking refuge from the Varsity in the 'Nensis office, was chief trouble maker, and self-styled organizer of the "inefficient and disorganized" Torontonensis staff. Condemning us as absolutely inferior to The Varsity, Peter however occasionally renounced his task of keeping the 'Nensis staff on its toes to correct copy or type. His literary talents came to the fore in a Profile on Dr. Dobson. In the last stages of the book in early May, Peter's aid was greatly appreciated.

Devonshire House has enjoyed another active year. Self-government of the members remained an outstanding policy with each House electing its own Committee and arranging its own functions. Over-all leadership was given to the College by the Residence Council, made up of the three House Presidents and two other elected members from each House. The President of the Council this year was Doug Bell, who was assisted by Rick Sloan as Secretary-Treasurer.

The programme of evenings arranged by the Devonshire Society was widened. This increased the interest of the members. Many eminent men were invited to be the guests of the Dean and Residence Council at dinner prior to a general meeting at which the members were addressed.

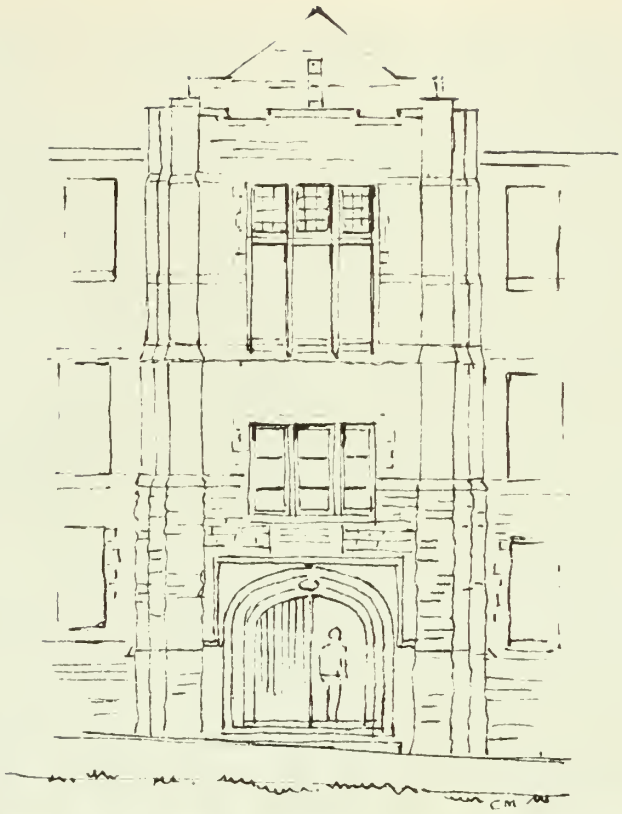

The Society began in October with one of the members, Lionel Mausberg, relating his experience at the W.U.S. Summer Seminar in Israel. Lionel is well known to the members and the "Mausberg touch" made the evening very entertaining. Among the other speakers were Mr. Willson Woodside, Director of the United Nations Organization in Canada, and Professor J. Tuzo Wilson of the I.G.Y. In conjunction with the Art and Music Committees guests were Dean Boyd Neel, of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Mr. Douglas Duncan, head of the Picture Loan Society, and Professor W. E. Carswell of the School of Architecture. Two special meetings were arranged with members of the House participating. The first was a forum entitled "Religion is Ineffective in Modern Society"; the second was a similar evening in which the topic of discussion was "Socialism". The response to these debates was excellent. This encouraged the Devonshire Society to arrange others.

The Campus

The Art Committee, working with the Devonshire Society, was occupied in arranging for speakers and organizing several exhibits for the Common Rooms. The first of these was a group of paintings from the Toronto Art Gallery. The second was an exhibit from the Picture Loan Society which was explained by Mr. Douglas Duncan. Professor W. E. Carswell talked about some of the Dorset sketches by students in Architecture. Later in the year there was a showing of photographs from the permanent Hart House Collection.

The Music Committee continues to be an active group and through its efforts the record collection is steadily growing. Interest in this Committee and its work is widespread, with many members, friends and alumni donating records and books. The Committee is planning to enlarge its facilities by renovating the present Music Room and installing a notice board to inform the College members of forthcoming concerts.

The handsome appearance of the new Library, a most welcome addition to Devonshire, was enhanced in February by the unveiling of a mural by Mr. Rene Cera. This event, eagerly anticipated by the students, drew much excited comment and debate at a reception held for them after the ceremony. The Library has been decorated with a subtle blend of traditional and modern Danish furniture. A committee composed of staff and students is commended for its efforts in selecting the furnishings. Devonshire House members are also grateful to Alumni and friends who helped fill the Library shelves by donating many volumes.

The Devonshire atmosphere is warm and casual; the student is serious in his academic pursuits but not too conservative. A group of freshmen became quite concerned about the stresses brought to bear on Devonshire Place as a result of subway construction and took definite steps to alleviate the problem by diverting traffic around the quadrangle. University and civic officials were slightly upset until they realized that the students were genuinely concerned and "only wanted to help". Once this was clearly understood, relations became amiable once again.

Several successful parties were held throughout the year. North House concocted an amusing Partie Parisienne; East House entertained Dogpatch Style with a Li'l Abner Party; and South House celebrated Bod (Fidoo) McVean's birthday in regal fashion. The outstanding social event of the year, however, continues to be the Devonshire Christmas Party. Each year, the week before term ends, the spirit of the holiday season becomes evident as the Residence is decorated throughout for the festivities. This year's party was very ably organized by Ed Capes. Many guests, former Dons and Alumni make a point of attending the dance which is held annually at Hart House, after which they return with the members to the Common Rooms at Devonshire for Carol singing and the arrival of Santa Claus.

The athletic programme at Devonshire is lively but informal. Inter-House hockey games were played at Varsity Arena in the "wee" small hours of the morning, and basketball games in the Hart House gymnasium. This year Mr. Gill Hutton, a former Don, donated the Charles Lennox Trophy for inter-House table tennis and the competition for this trophy provided a lively wind-up to Devonshire athletics for the year.

Co-operative Residence

Democratic Meeting

The birth of the co-operative movement took place in 1844, in the city of Rochdale, Lancashire. This movement envisaged a new concept of the working man. It guaranteed him not only a better standard of living, but also a new respect, placing his natural dignity and welfare above that of financial success. From such an ideal the Campus Co-op takes its principles and direction as have one hundred million families in forty countries of the world.

The Co-operative means many things to a number of people. To the members of the Campus Co-op it offers a substantial economical saving, an active social life, and the opportunity to direct and operate personal affairs. It consists of 150 members of all nationalities who live in six houses, all of which are owned and operated by the organization. Besides a secretary, there are employed a general manager and two full-time cooks. All managerial duties are handled by the Executive Board, made up of co-opers who are elected by and held responsible to the general membership.

To save money each member works 3 to 4 hours a week at such jobs ranging from a board member to a garbage emptier. Not forgetting the social side of life, the Co-op, through the initiative of its members, promotes parties, dinners, house shows, debates, lectures, great bull-sessions, pizza-eats and other events.

In addition to answering the specific needs of the student, the Campus Co-op is part of a world-wide movement toward a higher and better standard of life.

Commerce Club

An active Commerce Club worked this year to unify the social and educational activities of the various years, to provide a contact with the business world, and to act as a link between staff and students of Commerce and Finance.

The first event was the "Commerce Fall Reception" which featured three prominent Commerce graduates who spoke about varied business fields. These talks were stimulating to all present, as shown by discussion which occurred again and again during the following weeks. The evening also created the opportunity for undergraduates to meet the guest speakers, professors and fellow students in the informal atmosphere of Hart House.

Later in October, the Commerce Club held a highly successful dance with the Faculty of Nursing. This event provided a welcome opportunity for all the single men to enlarge their phone number collections for the coming social season.

The annual golf tournament was held this year at the Metropolitan Toronto Golf Course. Ideal weather conditions encouraged an unprecedented number of Commerce men to participate. Three citations were later presented to the top golfers of the day.

Highlighting this year's activities was the annual "Exchange Week-end Seminar", organized by the Commerce Club for its members and students from the School of Business Administration, University of Michigan. Participants were concerned with "The Effects of the Trend Toward Foreign Trade Blocks on the United States and Canada", and a host of off-theme topics. Thanks to the generosity of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company Ltd., excellent facilities were provided for friendly discussions, which were both interesting and profitable. This exchange of views could only increase respect and understanding between Americans and Canadians. The program was certainly not without its social side. Dances, tours and a hockey game between the Montreal Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs served to round out a wonderful week-end.

The next function was a well-attended tour of the Lever Brothers' Plant Number 2, supplemented by short informative talks which added much to the benefit derived. Another such excursion is planned for the Winter term.

One more feature of this year's Commerce Club has been an inter-class hockey tournament which took place in the month of January. A renewal of last year's classic struggle with the staff, saw fourth year students "squeak" out a victory by the score of 6 to 5.

The Club also operates a book exchange as a service for students, and the annual Commerce Journal, which has achieved a wide reputation for its policy of including informative articles by leading political, business, and academic figures, as well as contributions from students. Articles emphasize current economic problems of interest to businessmen, economists and undergraduates.

To conclude the year's program, two subsidized luncheons have been planned. Top speakers are being contacted which will make these functions a "must" for all those who are interested in their course.

MATHEMATICS and PHYSICS SOCIETY

With a membership of over two hundred, the Mathematics and Physics Society became this year one of the largest and most active societies on campus. Symptomatic of its achievements is the fact that the Society this year was offered affiliation with the Canadian Association of Physicists.

The meetings held, varied in subject matter from Physics and Astronomy, to Mathematics and Philosophy. Highlights of the year were lectures on the foundations of Mathematics by Dr. Brainerd, on the four colour problem by Dr. Coxeter, and a liquid air demonstration conducted by Dr. Ainslie and Mr. Pasicov. In addition, the Society sponsored tours of the Physics research facilities on campus and of hospital cancer research laboratories.

Encouraged by this year's successes, the Mathematics and Physics Society will try next year to be an even more active spokesman of students in Mathematics and in the Sciences. The incoming executive will strive to maintain and perhaps expand upon what was achieved in 1960-1961.

The Chemical Club opened the year with a talk by Mr. T. H. G. Michael, General Manager and Secretary of the Chemical Institute of Canada. This was followed by an address by a new member of the staff, Dr. Peter Yates. A high point in the year was a very stimulating address by one of Canada's most distinguished chemists, Dr. H. G. Thode, Vice-President of Hamilton College, McMaster University. Later in the year Dr. G. F. Wright, of the U. of T. Organic department, spoke on Explosives, Professor G. Watson, of Trinity College, spoke on Modern Religion, and Dr. C. Ouellet, Professor of Chemistry at Laval University, gave an interesting talk on Chlorophyll.

The annual field trip was made early in November. This year the club visited Rochester and the Eastman Kodak Co. A tour of Kodak Park Works was somewhat disappointing, but everyone brightened perceptibly at the Hawk-Eye optical works in the afternoon. Thanks to the vigilance of the men in blue at the border, the trip home was somewhat gloomy after crossing the bridge, where certain articles had to be left in storage.

This fall, the Undergraduates, with a fine turnout, especially from second year, beleaguered the undermanned Graduate squad with brilliant defensive manoeuvers to run away with the football championship by an unmentionable score.

The annual banquet, held on Feb. 22 at the Faculty Club, was attended by many members and a good portion of the staff. Some of the latter wished they had not come when the skits were performed after the meal.

The election night brought a close to a happy, but exhausting year.

The Household Economics Club started the year with a "Freshie Tea", for the purpose of bringing together staff, students, and periods. Later in the fall, initiation of the Freshies was climaxed at Caledon, accompanied by the Faculty of Forestry. Camp-fire singing, dancing and "Sloppy Joes" made this an unforgettable event.

A new venture by the S.A.C. was supported by the Club in setting up an information booth on the Club's activities for Homecoming Week-end. The financial success of a Bake Sale aided in making the annual formal, "La Soirée Parisienne", an evening to remember.

With the support and interest of the staff and students, the Household Economics Club of '60-'61 was able to co-ordinate the ideas of the members to fulfil its goals.

Biology Club

ABSENT: Hartwig Fischer, Ann Gudz, Gerlinde Reichel.

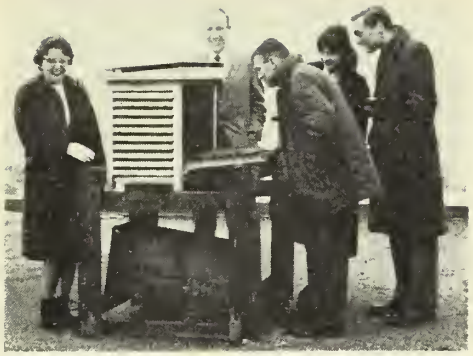

This year the Biology Club presented a varied and interesting programme. In addition to featuring experts in Biology, the club attempted to broaden the outlook of Biology students and present Biology in relation to other sciences and other fields.

This policy was climaxed by a panel discussion on "The Nature of Man and the Scientific Approach" in February. The members of the panel presented the arguments for Pure Science, Theology and Humanism.

Other meetings featured Dr. N. P. Badenhuizen, formerly of South Africa, who is the newly appointed head of the Botany Department, Dr. J. R. Bray and Dr. Luck-Allen of the Botany Department, Barry Muir of the Zoology Department, Mr. John Peterson of the Upjohn Pharmaceutical Company, Dr. Ham of the Department of Medical Biophysics, U. of T., and students Alan and John Emery, and Terry Shaw.

The Biology Club also sponsored the Botany Conversat, held on February 17, 18 and 19. This Open House showed to the public the importance of the study of Botany in everyday life and proved to be very popular.

To round out the year, the Club held its annual party just before the Christmas vacation.

Geography Club

This year the membership of the Geography Club, excluding staff, totalled nearly 40. Early in October the now traditional wiener roast held with the members of the McMaster University Geography Club took place at the home of club member Lesley Yule in North Toronto. The equally traditional Christmas Party, held this year in the Wymilwood Music Room at Victoria College, saw songs and skits with a geographical flavour performed enthusiastically by each year of the honour course.

On the more serious side, a number of talks were arranged, the most notable of which was delivered by Mr. Derek Ford of McMaster University on the more sporting aspects of speleology. Most of these talks were illustrated with slides, and all were well attended by club members and their friends.

FLYING CLUB

The University of Toronto Flying Club is an organization open to all undergraduates, graduates and faculty members of the University who have a common interest in Aviation.

In co-operation with Central Airways based at Toronto Island Airport, members of the club are entitled to reduced rates while undergoing Pilot training and when renting company aircraft.

This year's flying activities included a breakfast flight to Muskoka during the fall colour cavalcade and a breakfast flight to Niagara Falls. A visit is expected from the Flying Club at Cornell University this spring.

Throughout the year members are kept in contact by regular meetings which feature various aviation topics. In the past there have been guest speakers on the subjects of Soaring, Sky Diving, Meteorology, Aviation Medicine, and High Speed Test Flying. These speeches and the excursions provided a very informative and interesting year for the club members.

Outing Club

The University of Toronto Outing Club is a young and dynamic organization. It offers to its members the widest scope of activities of any club on campus. Throughout the school year, on almost every weekend from late September until early March, there is a full schedule of events. During this past year, for the first time, activities commenced again after exams and continued successfully throughout the summer.

The advantages of Outing Club membership are many. One of these is the economy of group activity. On a recent three-day canoe trip to Algonquin Park, the total cost per person was $10.00. Several outings are even less expensive. All trip costs are equally shared by those participating except in certain cases when the O.C. partially subsidizes an activity. Perhaps the most rewarding facet for many is being part of an interesting and interested group. Everyone enjoys singing around a campfire, cooking out-of-doors, and taking part in new and exciting adventures. The O.C. provides a storehouse of knowledge on the great outdoors. General meetings are held to promote membership, discuss club activities, show slides and movies, and for the yearly election of officers. Any club member is eligible for nomination. These things and more are the life blood of the Outing Club.

The three main activities are canoeing, rock-climbing, and skiing. On the annual Thanksgiving canoe trip to Algonquin Park forty-two people in two groups travelled up Lake Opeongo, through Proule and Crow Lakes and back. Other trips were arranged for the long summer weekends.

Rock-climbing expeditions are popular. Students learn and practise basic mountaineering skills, requiring the use of ropes and pitons.

The final major activity is the most popular, namely skiing. Three or four skiing weekends are arranged, one to Collingwood, one to Saint Sauveur, another to Huntsville, and possibly one to Vermont to visit an American Outing Club. There are also one-day trips to Don Mills or Cedar Springs. Furthermore, the Club programmes a number of hikes, square dances, and skating parties. The U. of T. Outing Club each year sends a group to the Winter Mountaineering School at Adirondack Lodge near Lake Placid, N.Y.

The U. of T. Outing Club is one of about eighty clubs in North America which belong to a loose organization, the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association. This sponsors various trips and activities including spring and fall Lake George canoe trips, and a Spring Conference. Through its bulletins and activities it stimulates the exchange of ideas and trips.

The University of Toronto Squadron is composed of Flight Cadets and Officers in the R.C.A.F. who are furthering their education at the University. While attending school, students both male and female hold the rank of Flight Cadet and upon graduation are promoted to Pilot Officer or Flying Officer.

Each Thursday evening at seven o'clock they meet at the Military Studies Building, 119 St. George Street, under the direction of Wing Commander A. B. Weston, to hear lectures on Air Force developments, military history, current affairs and to see films supporting these topics.

During the summer months the cadets work at learning an Air Force trade which is related to their university course. The first six weeks of their first summer is spent at the Reserve Officers' School for men, and the Officers' School, Centralia, for women, where the initial introduction to the Air Force is made. Courses in military drill, service writing, public speaking, military history, nuclear defence, service law and leadership are taught in a strict military setting. For the rest of the first summer and during succeeding summers until graduation, cadets receive instruction in many fields such as training as pilots, observers, fighter controllers and administrators. Taking this training on active R.C.A.F. stations also gives the students an appreciation of military life and allows them to assess their own feelings towards a service career. Upon graduation from college, they are granted a commission as a Regular or Reserve Officer in the R.C.A.F. If they wish to re-enter civilian life at this time they have the extra training in leadership, administration and personnel management to supplement their university degree.

This year at Toronto, the first term was started with an informal get-together at Station Toronto to welcome back old friends and to meet new students who were just entering the service. Later in the fall a Navy-Air Force party was held at H.M.C.S. York to enable the cadets from the two services to become better acquainted. This idea broadened when, for the first time in many years, a Tri-Service Ball was held in February at Hart House. The final formal affair, the Mess Dinner, was held at Station Downsview in March to end the spring term.

West Indian Students' Association

The West Indian Students' Association is the largest student organization on campus. Its membership, the fruits of a spirit which was engendered and developed in organizations of this nature in all the great centres of learning in the western world, is drawn from the recently federated territories of the Caribbean. While the association does not aspire to be a distinctly "national" group, it nevertheless tries to keep the West Indian on campus informed of recent developments at home and encourages him to assess these developments in the light of his experience here.

The more general aims of the association include the desire to foster, on the campus, an awareness of and interest in the West Indian cultural heritage and way of life. Its program of events includes debates and discussions, dances, and the entertainment of West Indian officials visiting the city of Toronto. Among the distinguished visitors recently entertained by this association were Sir Grantley Adams, first Prime Minister of the new Federation of the West Indies; Mr. John Mordecai, Deputy Governor General; Mr. Hugh Springer, Registrar of University College of the West Indies, and Mr. A. P. Thonnton, head of the Institute of Social and Research Studies at University College of the West Indies.

Associate membership, which is open to anyone interested, permits full participation in the association's activities.

The Christian Science Organization

The Christian Science Organization was formed to unite Christian Scientists on the campus in the closer bonds of Christian fellowship, and to help all interested students learn the teachings of Christian Science.

At the meetings, held twice a month, selections are read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. The meetings are open to all university students, and afford those in attendance not only an opportunity to discuss Christian Science, but give them a chance to share their experiences in its practical application.

Student Christian Movement

S.C.M. Cabinet Meeting

The academic year of '60-'61 has been a most active and stimulating one for the Toronto S.C.M., characterized by a spirit of intellectual inquiry and a move for greater Christian witness on campus.

This summer the World Student Christian Federation, of which the Canadian S.C.M. is a member, held a world-wide conference on the subject of the Life and Mission of the Church. This theme has been carried back into member countries in the form of worship and discussion groups, as one of the central topics of study during the year. Other questions considered by the Toronto S.C.M. were the Social Revolution in Latin America, the problem of nuclear disarmament, Communism and Christianity, and contemporary literature and philosophy.

The main point in the central theme was concerned with the division among the churches and the growing hope of closer relations among them. Being an interdenominational group, the S.C.M. feels that the campus should be the starting-place for greater understanding and co-operation in this respect. Some concern has been shown regarding the continuing increase in the number of denominational chaplaincies on campus. The S.C.M. has declared itself in favour of an interdenominational religious centre as the most practical solution to the problem. This has been effectually tried on a small scale, during joint supper meetings and lunch discussion groups held at the Canterbury Centre, the Anglican chaplaincy, and also in a discussion series with the Presbyterian Fellowship. Growing friendship with the V.C.F. is another manifestation of this move towards new realization of Christian brotherhood for which we are most thankful.

Four week-end camps were held during the year; two in the Fall started the year off in a very energetic vein (physically, intellectually and spiritually). A regional Christmas Conference was most successful in spite of difficulties and last-minute changes. The most challenging and interesting camp was the Agnostics' Weekend, which the Humanist Guild helped to make one of the major events of the year for the S.C.M.

Perhaps the single event most worthy of note was the visit of Bishop Stephen Neill, who led a retreat on Jan. 12, a three-hour period of prayer and meditation which was a most rewarding experience for the one hundred students who attended.

A Theologian?

Activities will go on during the summer in the form of work camps, in which groups of students study and live together as a community, while working in mental hospitals and industrial jobs. Other students, who are now graduating from their freshman year, will spend the summer reading and preparing papers in preparation for a group next year, which will be known as Seminar III. In the two years it has been in operation this has been a most successful undertaking. Good luck is wished to the S.C.M. in 1961-62.

Varsity Christian Fellowship

The Varsity Christian Fellowship, now in its ninety-sixth year, is associated with international groups of Christian students whose common interest is to study and practise the Christian life.

It is founded on the firm conviction that God has revealed Himself in the life, death, and resurrection of His Son, and that a personal relationship with God is possible only through faith in Jesus Christ. The aim of the Fellowship is to unite Christian university students and extend Christ's kingdom by providing them with an opportunity of experiencing, in a practical way, this vital relationship.

In order to "know Christ, and make Him known", a programme of activities was planned. It commenced with a conference at Elim Lodge, and was followed by Freshmen receptions, a missionary series, regular faculty noon-hour discussions on the book of John, daily prayer meetings, and monthly missionary meetings. "V.C.F.ers" and a number of international students spent a wonderful Thanksgiving weekend of prayer and fellowship at Ottawa. Other exciting events were the fun-filled hayride, the traditional around-the-campus carol-sing, and the winter skating party.

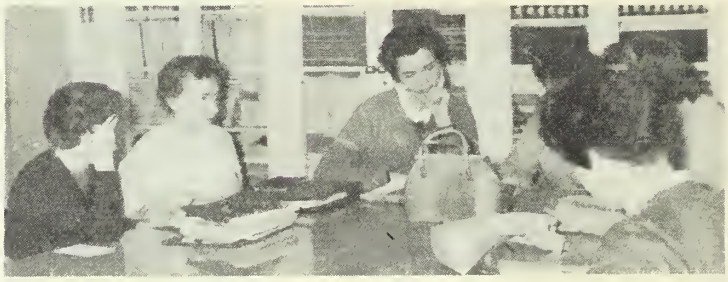

A lecture series on the meaning of the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus preceded the spring conference and banquet which ended the year.

It is hoped that these activities enabled our members to come to know Christ better, and that they will show, by their unified Christian belief, that in God there is a new and joyful purpose in life.

1960-61 has been a good year for Gamma Delta, the Lutheran Student Club on campus. Under the capable direction of Pastor F. Gumz, membership climbed to approximately fifty in the fall term and remained there for the year. New and old friends participated in a busy programme of educational topics, bi-weekly meetings and devotions, Sunday services, and cost suppers. A hayride in the country, a night with witches and goblins at Hallowe'en, the annual Christmas Party, and a skating party added to the lighter side of things.

Winter camp near Battle Creek, Michigan, was bigger and better than ever this January. Sixteen Toronto delegates were among the two hundred and thirty Gamma Deltans from Canada and the North-eastern States. The Spring Convention was held at Wayne State University at Detroit, in April, with representation from across the country.

Late in February the club began a new service to help everyone become better acquainted. A new automatic coffee percolator is kept brimfull and doughnuts are handy for anyone who wants to catch a quick breakfast or a late morning coffee before Sunday Service.

Home for the Lutheran Student Club is the modern chapel at 610 Spadina. They hope you too will feel welcome in their home any time.

The Choir

Ukrainian Students' Club

1960-61 was another active and successful year for the Ukrainian Students' Club. A balance was once again struck between cultural and social activities of the 125 members. First-year students were welcomed to the university at a Freshman Dance early in October. Weekly rehearsals of the Students' Club choir were also started. 1960 was ended with another Students' dance.

On February 3, the choir participated in the International Student Festival in Hart House and on February 13 presented a concert. The biggest social event of the club was the Annual Graduation Banquet and Ball held this year at the Regency Towers, with the Minister of Labor, M. Starr, as guest speaker.

The membership of the club is representative of the whole campus, having members from all the faculties. There were twenty-five graduates with B.A., M.A., B.Sc. and Ph.D. degrees.

The club was able to aid several students in completing their education with loans from the Club Loan Fund.

The Humanist Guild

Providing a constructive alternative to religions and philosophies based on blind faith and doublethink, the Humanist Guild is the only non-theistic religious organization on campus.

Founded by a group of interested students in 1959, the Guild is a chapter of the American Humanist Association and is affiliated with the Channing-Murray Groups of Liberal Religious Youth. In 1959 the Earl Russell, world-renowned philosopher and leading British Humanist, consented to become Patron of the Guild, writing "I am glad that such a society exists and hope it will flourish". Later he authorized the Guild to publish his B.B.C. address called "The Faith of A Humanist".

What is the faith of this Humanist group? Briefly, Humanism is a rational attitude and an ethical way of life. It is rational in that it seeks knowledge in scientific investigation rather than in flights of fanciful revelation. It stresses life here and now, and therefore places on man the responsibility for social progress. Humanism avoids dogmas, holding that all men's beliefs should be put to constructive scrutiny and criticism. Rather than teaching dogmas to be believed without question, Humanism evolves theories which, though in constant revision, give to the maturing student a clear world view.

During the fall term, the Guild held a series of ten meetings, consisting of three lectures, one debate, and six discussion groups. The winter term programme consisted of nine study groups, two of which were held at 5:10 rather than 4:10, for engineers, meds, and those with labs. The evening meeting saw George Barabashev of the U.S.S.R. discuss religion, philosophy, and social goals. The experience of the last two years and formation of a staff Advisory Committee should increase the depth and breadth of next year's programme.

Fortunately, Humanism has not acquired the staid respectability of the Orthodoxies, although those who profess Humanism are often dismissed as an irreverent, misguided, or idealistic minority soon to see either the light of blind faith or of everyday cynicism.

Yet members of the Guild believe that theirs can be the faith of the future, since it walks in step with the progress of the sciences. They believe that the dogmatic faiths are unlikely to endure in the Space Age of high scientific adventure as it becomes more and more evident that the mystery of life and the grandeur of the universe are open to natural explanation. Therefore the task of Humanism is to wean men from blind faith and doublethink to critical and constructive thought, and to give thinking men the moral and intellectual strength needed to face the challenges of an Atomic Age.

B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation

The B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at the University of Toronto is part of a national organization devoted to cultural, religious and counselling service among Jewish students at Canadian and American universities. It is represented on more than 200 campi.

The Hillel Foundation seeks to weld the Jewish student body into a true community conscious of its religious and cultural heritage. It promotes inter-religious understanding and is vitally interested in inter-group relations.

The highlights of the 1960-61 season were addresses given by Dr. Marvin Fox, Ohio State University; Dr. David Sidorsky, Columbia University; Rabbi Richard Rubenstein, University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Theodor Reik, renowned psychoanalyst; Mr. Leo W. Schwarz, School of Religion, Iowa State University. The All University Religious Service-Jewish Service of Worship was held on Sunday morning, January 22. Rabbi Bernard Bamberger, President, Central Conference of American Rabbis, preached the sermon "In Search of a Personal God". On Monday, January 23, Dr. Bamberger addressed Emmanuel College and Trinity College. The Inter-Hillel Conference was held at McGill Hillel from February 2 to 5.

Members of the Faculty of the University of Toronto addressed Hillel meetings. The Sabbath Eve discussion groups were led by students. Rabbi Aaron M. Kamerling, Director of Hillel, conducted regular class on "Basic Judaism" at University College on Tuesdays at 1:00 p.m. A special series at University College was sponsored by Hillel on "Authority in Judaism". The Rabbis of the Toronto Jewish community who participated were: Rabbis Walter Wurzburger, Stuart Rosenberg, Louis J. Cashdan.

The Free World Society of the University of Toronto was formed by a group of University of Toronto students in May 1960. The purpose of the Society as stated in the Constitution is, (a) to analyze the state of the world today, (b) to act upon the knowledge gained towards a better world. The Society publishes a tri-weekly newspaper The Review.

The program of the Council has been outlined in the following Resolution, which was accepted unanimously by the Second General Meeting of the Society. It is directed towards furtherance of freedom and reason in all the world, and specifically against Communist and Russian Imperialism, which is the greatest danger to both freedom and reason.

RESOLUTION I

The Free World Society of the University of Toronto in the General Meeting assembled, considering that the spread of freedom and democracy among all men, and nations, oppressed within the Soviet Union, the People's Republic of China, and everywhere in the world is desirable and may allow attainment of peace all mankind so passionately desires; that progress of freedom and reason in this Country and everywhere in the world is desirable and may allow attainment of more happiness by all; and considering that these propositions are an expression of the national interest of this Country, and of true allegiance to Her Majesty the Queen; resolve that,

The Free World Society supports the struggle for freedom of men, and nations within the Soviet Union, the Ukrainian, Estonian, Latvian, Lithuanian, Byelorussian, Jewish, Armenian, Georgian, Azerbaijani, Idel-Ural, Turkmen nations in order to allow man to live in freedom, freedom of thought, association, press, and worship, to allow a renaissance in reason to rise in the lands covered now by the deepening barbarism of a tyrannous, irrational power, to give self-determination and self-government to all, to return to men their rightful property plundered to be the material base to the greatest reaction to the progress of freedom and reason up till now, to give soil to the farmer, industry to the worker, freedom to all men;

The Free World Society supports the struggle for freedom of men and nations within the People's Republic of China, the nationalities of China, the Tibetan and Mongol nations, to enable men of the new free Asia to enrich the progress of the mind of man, to give self-government and self-determination to all, to give the soil to the only rightful owner, the farmer, to allow man to be free;

The Free World Society supports the struggle for freedom of men and nations in Eastern Europe, the Polish, German, Hungarian, Slovak, Roumanian, Czech and Balkan nations and those of the South East Asia, the North Korean and the Vietnamese nations, in order to allow man to be free;

The Free World Society supports the struggle for freedom of men and nations of the Continent of Africa and of the Middle East, the Algerian nation, the oppressed of the United Arab Republic, Saudi Arabia and Iraq, the dispossessed and disfranchised Arab refugees, the oppressed of the Union of South Africa, and those on the American Continents, the Dominican and Cuban nations, and those in Europe, the Spanish and Portuguese nations, in order to allow men to be free;

The Free World Society supports the maintenance and strengthening of the municipal and provincial institutions in this Country, the Corporation of the City of Toronto, the rights of the French, English and other languages and national groups, the provincial autonomy of Quebec and other provinces, to further such political organization that shall best further the progress of all Canadians;

The Free World Society supports closer political, military, and economic relations on the basis of freedom, self-government and reason between men and nations associated in the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, the Commonwealth of Nations, the South East Asia Treaty Organization and the Central Treaty Organization, towards the creation of an internally free and ever progressing Commonwealth, and the Parliament of Man;

The Free World Society supports the maintenance and strengthening of the armed might of this Country and of the Free World, testing and production of tactical nuclear weapons, organization of civil defence, until that time when all men and nations are free and the armed might is no longer necessary to assure that the world stay sane and free;

The Free World Society supports the search for ways towards further growth of freedom, freedom of the mind of man, freedom of enterprise, individual rights and the rule of law in this Country and the Free World, to avoid the despotism of the State and the serfdom of planning, so man's thoughts and actions are free;

The Free World Society supports the progress of reason, and attempts at excellence in all the fields of human endeavor, progress in humanities, natural sciences, and art, greater flowering of autonomous institutions of higher learning and of art, the great federation of the University of Toronto, greater efforts to make the treasury created by the mind of man open for acquisition and further cultivation by all the people, to let man in free association with others work his own garden and be free.

The Italian Club

A happy group

During the 1960-61 season the Club enjoyed considerable success. It began activities with a musical program featuring the internationally known tenor, Andrea Zazzano. The high point of the Club's activities was the presentation of a three-act comedy by Carlo Veneziani, entitled L'Antenato, at the Hart House Theatre.

On the steps of F.R.O.S.

International Ping Pong

All are welcome to come and visit the new home of Friendly Relations with Overseas Students at 45 Willcocks Street, better known as F.R.O.S. There is an international community of over 600 students from 70 countries in the University of Toronto. F.R.O.S. acts as a link between them and Canadians both on and off campus.

Any day you will find students from all over the world chatting, discussing, and eating a noon sandwich together. Activities of the house include open house discussions, meeting of national groups, ping pong, music of other countries, parties, national cooking, and coffee hours. To keep up to date, watch the "Varsity" for news items, and come in to register at F.R.O.S. for our mailing list.

Office and common rooms are open daily, 9-5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and on Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Polish Students' Club

The P.S.C. endeavours to promote unity among students of Polish origin by means of cultural and social activities.

This summer, several excursions were made to beaches in the Georgian Bay and Niagara-on-the-Lake region, and to the lake country near Barry's Bay and Huntsville.

A portion of each meeting is reserved for cultural activities. This year, members heard talks by professors on such wide topics ranging from "Contemporary Polish Literature since 1945" to "Architecture of Poland".

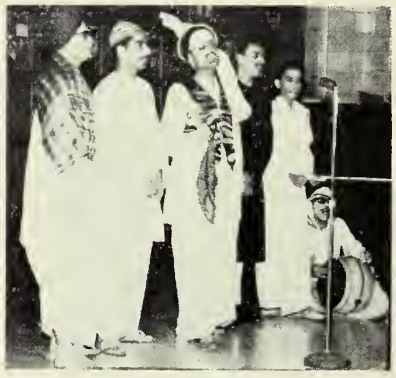

The P.S.C. actively participated in the International Students' Festival where it presented an exhibit displaying the great writers of Poland and a performance of Polish folk dancing.

The annual Students' Ball in November, as always, was a great success with honour being paid to the graduating members.

International Students' Council

Started in 1960, the International Students' Council is a unique organization which seeks to create a bridge of understanding between the activities of various foreign students, Canadian ethnic, language, and international clubs on campus. Its aim is to promote inter-ethnic understanding and a deeper sense of mutual appreciation of the different cultural and racial backgrounds. The Council operates on the principle of unity in diversity; therefore the executives are elected from representatives of participating campus organizations.

One of the Council's main activities is the International Students' Festival which is held annually at Hart House. Organized to demonstrate both the unity and diversity of cultural backgrounds, the Festival takes the form of cultural exhibits and a performance program in which the member clubs participate.

This year the International Students' Festival was held on Jan. 20 and 21 at Hart House and was acclaimed as a major success, playing to a capacity audience on both nights. Under the skilful direction of Jim Vasoff, who also acted as master of ceremonies, the performances represented a wide variety of cultural backgrounds: a truly international and cosmopolitan program. The following organizations participated in the Festival: Association of Hungarian Students, Chinese Overseas Students' Association, Chinese Varsity Club, Friends of India Association, German Club, Latvian Students' Association, Le Cercle Français, Nisei Students' Club, Ukrainian Students' Club, United Nations Club, Spanish Club, and the West Indian Students' Association. There was also participation from student groups who represented Canadians of Armenian, Finnish and Macedonian backgrounds and two accomplished folk singers Tom Reider and Don Mortin from Skule who almost stole the show with their delightful and satirical "Ballad of St. Pierre".

The Council also actively participated in publicizing the need for a permanent International Student Centre on the U. of T. campus in co-operation with F.R.O.S. and the Rotary Club. The International Students' Festival this year was dedicated to the establishment of such a centre and proceeds from the Festival have been donated to the newly established International Student Centre Building Fund, as a gesture of student interest and enthusiasm in the project.

It is hoped that the future International Students' Festivals will also be dedicated to the support of a worthy cause which embodies the aims of this Council.

United Nations Club

The U.N. Club, in its third year of existence, has continued to grow in power and prestige. Under the capable leadership of Bill Ede and Marilyn Cook it has collected an active membership of almost a hundred students, and has accepted the challenge of several new ventures.

Paramount among the Club's schemes is one to hold an International Students U.N. in New York during the summer of 1962. Despite the fantastic transportation and hotel costs required to take care of students from the U.N.'s 99 member countries, a committee has been set up and is forging ahead with the preparations. The project has received official encouragement from New York and from U.N. groups in Canada.

Publication of a news sheet called "Omnivox" was undertaken this year. Although its popularity has not seriously threatened the circulation of The Varsity yet, it has provided excellent articles expressing varying views on current world affairs.

Through the year the Club has presented many speakers to its crowded gatherings, including the editor of the "United Church Observer", professors, foreign affairs experts and assorted consuls. One of the most interesting meetings came in October when representatives of the world's great religions expressed hopes in "unity for peace".

In November forty students, and one lonesome Varsity reporter, made a pilgrimage (an annual Club event) to New York to visit the U.N. The four days were filled with tours, speakers, and visits to delegations. Perhaps the most important benefit of this excursion was the contagious spread of international spirit among the participants.

Highlighting the year was the University Model U.N. held in Montreal in early February. Eight students, comprising two delegations, representing the United Kingdom and Yugoslavia, were sent for the five days of the programme. Participating in the General Assembly, Security Council, and the Economic and Social Council, the delegates learned a great deal, despite the confusion over procedure. Since nearly half the delegates were American, much was accomplished in the area of peaceful co-existence in the evenings.

The year is closed with only one hope among many fears: they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

Plans are laid for the York Campus.

DR. MURRAY ROSS

The students of York University sincerely thank the University of Toronto for all the assistance and encouragement they have given us this year.

All of us who shared your residences, your libraries and coffee shops; and who participated in the athletic and social functions of the University of Toronto have shared also the invaluable experience offered on a large and cosmopolitan campus.

Now as we move to our new campus at Glendon Hall, we take with us this experience and also a part of the intellectual heritage of great universities. With our roots firmly planted in this heritage, it is our task to grow in new directions. And, as we start out to "Find the new way", we hope that you will be as proud to have shared in the making of York University as we are to have been affiliated with the University of Toronto.

Happy P.C.'s at Caledon

At this time the issues facing the citizen and his government are more complex and probably more serious than at any time before in our history. The U. of T. Progressive Conservative Club provides its members with an opportunity to discuss these issues with other interested students and with members of the provincial and national parties. The students can and do affect the formulation of official Progressive Conservative Policy. Students have never had to ask to be members of the Progressive Conservative Party; students are a part of the party. Under the leadership of Murray Corlett, president; and Jerry Collins, parliamentary leader, the problems facing Canada were attacked from three sides. The Caledon Conference was held in October to give members of the club an opportunity to discuss with members of the national and provincial governments the issues facing Canada in the world. The Progressive Conservative Party, alone of all campus political parties, set up seminars in which all students were invited to participate, in order to formulate the fresh concepts necessary to meet the challenge of the age. The policies formulated in these seminars were presented to the students in the New Dimension. The Viewpoint, the only continuing political magazine on campus, presented the view of prominent members of the P.C.'s to the student body. In the Model Parliament the Progressive Conservatives were successful in passing a bill which called for a new approach to international understanding in the form of a Commonwealth University.

The C.C.F.-New Party Club on campus considers itself an educational organization. To this end the club has sponsored many prominent speakers, an International Affairs seminar composed of professors and students, and countless discussion groups led by qualified people.

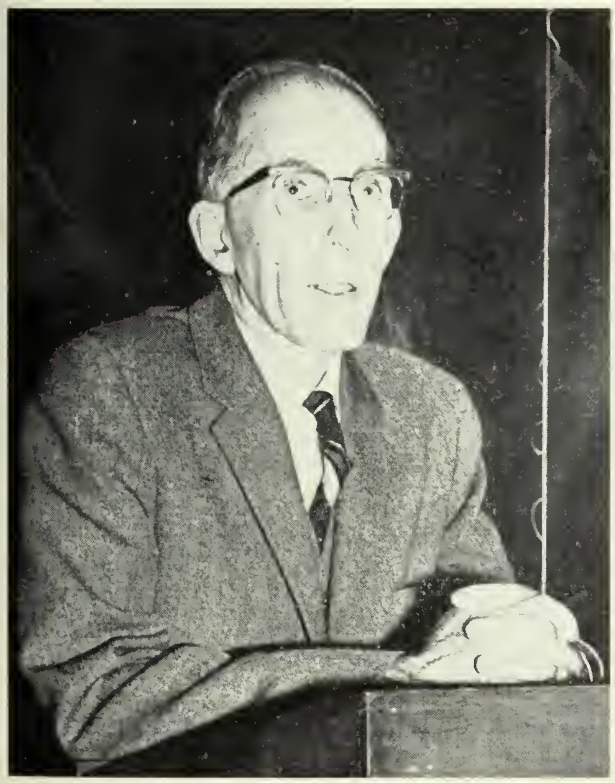

The policies of the club are formed in open weekly meetings which any student may attend without commitment. The result of these meetings was the publication in November of the C.C.F.-New Party Election Platform, a pamphlet stating the club's position on international, domestic, social, and cultural questions facing Canadians today.

The C.C.F.-New Party acted as Second Opposition in the University Model Parliament held in January. In the Parliament, the club put forward critical comments on government legislation, as well as constructive amendments. As a non-C.C.F. Varsity editorial stated, "The C.C.F. had the most constructive comments to make throughout the duration of the Parliament. Those who voted for them on election day can be assured that their votes were well placed."

Walter Pitman, the first member of the Canadian Parliament, from the C.C.F.-New Party.

C.C.F-New Party Club

During the coming year, the C.C.F.-New Party will again place its platform before the students. As well as the usual political speakers, there will be more emphasis on educational lectures and discussions.

All interested students are invited to investigate the platform and policies of the club.

Stanley Knowles, Vice-President of the C.L.C. and the C.C.F.-New Party spoke to students on the New Party's answer to unemployment.

For the Senate Club, 1960-61 was a memorable year in more ways than one. After thirty years as a bastion of male supremacy, the Senate admitted a woman, Senator Edie Smith, to its ranks.

In tournaments, the Senate Club continued its fine record. At McGill, in competition with over 28 American and Canadian universities, Senators Huot, Barber, Bianco and Orange remained undefeated, while at UWO, Senators Tan and Bridge also achieved a perfect record. As well, the Senate made a favourable showing at tournaments at John Fisher College, and the Rochester Institute of Technology.

This year also saw the largest International Speech Festival in its seven-year history. Under the direction of Senator Schuman, fifteen high schools from Canada and the U.S. competed in early March for the Hon. Paul Martin Trophy.

Music Guild

The St. Michael's College Music Guild was formed with the intention of promoting musical culture in the college by presenting a series of bi-weekly concerts of a varied nature throughout the year. With this in mind, the guild this year presented, besides the regular Talent Night, a concert pianist, a progressive jazz group, a female vocalist, the S.M.C. Glee Club, the Hart House Glee Club, and excerpts from "The Yeomen of the Guard" as staged by Victoria College. Stereo Concerts, given by Father Lee, provided interesting evenings in music appreciation.

This year, through its eight debates and one speech contest, the Oratorical Society provided an excellent training ground for novice debaters. Attendance varied from thirty-five to over one hundred and twenty, and increased greatly after the President sent out notices informing students of coming debates. Topics varied from erudite discussions on "York University" to humorous ramblings about the need for "Ontario's Blue Laws".

To foster goodwill between St. Michael's and York University, the Oratorical Society invited students from York to a debate in October. This policy of bringing our students into closer contact with the rest of the university culminated in a political debate just before the Model Parliament election. On this occasion, which was the highlight of the year, each of the four recognized political clubs on campus was invited to explain and defend its platform, and the club presidents and House Leaders were asked to attend.

This year was a success, for the Oratorical Society not only provided an opportunity for novice debators to gain valuable experience, but also allowed the students to express their opinions on many different subjects.

How to Build a Ship

The WRITERS' GROUP, so we've been told,
Was founded by the Bards of Old,
And Eliot was among the first
To quench the Muses' flaming thirst.

Today when New Words come and go
And clicking fads tick to and fro,
The more diehard clichés we cast,
The less we pacify the Past.

Our mutual aim and Common Good
Submerges Taste, to salvage Food,
And sated with the Future's mold
Is grounded on false Poet's Gold.

To stand Tradition on its end,
We have unordered holes to mend;
We pat the GRYPHON's dying head
And Brave New Monsters bear instead.

St. Michael's joined with University College to present what was perhaps the most avant-garde piece of theatre seen on campus all year—Bartolt Brecht's The Good Woman of Setzuan. Though a difficult play to produce because of the breaks with theatre tradition that its style demands, it reached a professional level under the capable direction of Ronald Hartman.

In addition to this Brectian offering, the theatre guild presented several one-act plays. The now legendary Riders to the Sea, as well as an original one-act play, were entered in the U.T.D.C. Drama Festival. Both were received with approbation. The Synge play was so intelligently handled by its director, Molly Wade, that an offer was received to run it for a week in a local cafe-de-nuit.

In general, the year proved to be an active, if not altogether gregarious, one.

Le Cercle Français

Santa, parlez-vous français?

Le cercle français au Collège St-Michel est une partie essentielle de la vie de ceux qui étudient le français et qui sont sincèrement intéressés à améliorer le leur. Le cercle s'offre comme un champ minime où l'on essaie de combattre le parler "JOUAL" mis en évidence récemment par le fameux "Frère Untel". Il donne aussi un supplément à l'instruction formelle donnée aux cours, et fournit à l'étudiant l'occasion d'absorber le français dans une atmosphere sociale et familiale.

Le cercle français se préoccupe également de faire connaître à ses membres les chansons, légendes, traditions et problèmes du peuple canadien-français. Au cours de cette année, les membres ont eu l'occasion de voir quelques films français, d'assister à une partie de plaisir à Noël, et de participer à une soirée de patinage.

Comme il s'efforce de se surpasser chaque année, le cercle français entretient de hautes ambitions pour l'an prochain, et, si toutes ses espérances se réalisent, il deviendra l'envie de tous les autres cercles ethniques de ce campus!

Si vous y êtes toujours, venez vous faire un des nôtres!

Joyeux Noel!

The Mike

The St. Michael's College newspaper, THE MIKE, attempted this year to strike out in a new direction: that of dialogue. Recent years have witnessed growing interest in beliefs and attitudes at variance with one's own personal tenets. Hence different groups have tried to establish contact with one another through discussion as a means to mutual understanding. This was the basic idea in the mind of the editors of THE MIKE who initiated a symposium of articles, to which the presidents of the four arts colleges each made a contribution. The purpose of these articles was to help the students of St. Michael's evaluate the individual's position in the university community by comparing aims and objectives with those of the other colleges.

By asking several members of the faculty to contribute articles in this area, as well as others, the editors hoped to introduce a higher intellectual tone to the paper and provoke student-thinking. At the same time an attempt was made to offer articles and items of current interest by the students so as to maintain a balance and thus appeal to the whole of the student body.

Having completed the year's efforts, the editors feel that a fair segment of the students have been either stimulated or antagonized. The difficult task of walk-midway between two extremes in publications was proposed. The editors feel that it was worth the effort.

Welcome at the station at 6:30 a.m. in Quebec City

"Chevalier de la Table Ronde" and the drinking chorus from The Student Prince were adopted as the traveling songs of the Laval-S.M.C. Exchange which met here in November, and in Quebec at the time of the Carnival de Quebec. Carnival is a pre-Lent festivity with parades and everything.

Originally convened to discuss the Topic —A Bicultured Nation is a Handicapped Nation—the French-speaking guests gave such lessons in diplomatic tact, discreet courting, spiritual magnanimity, and fraternal good will that none of the Toronto students were available for comment.

The Board of Stewards has been called undemocratic, dictatorial, inefficient, farcical, anachronistic. It is all these things and many more, on occasion. Like every other student administrative body, it gets bogged down in trivial issues and discussions. It seldom combines efficiency and intelligence in its meetings. Somehow, however, it manages to "muddle through". As may be seen from the above picture, it presents a façade of capability to the uninitiated.

The facts concerning its operations are well known. It need only be said that it gives good government when required. Fortunately this is seldom. When acting as Discipline Committee it fearlessly crushes sin and vice within the college. It does not, as has been rumoured, try cases of heresy.

This year the Board's deliberations have been immensely aided by the serving of sherry at every meeting. This greatly increased energetic debate while making the whole business less distasteful. Perhaps other student bodies might also find that this would aid their deliberations.

No article on the Board would be complete without some thanks to our chairman, Mr. Watson, whose humour, tolerance, capacity (for both verbiage and sherry) and ability to steer the argumentation into productive channels kept afloat this fishing-smack of state.

THE LIT IN ACTION

Trinity College Review

The Trinity College Review pushed its way through the 74th year of regular publication, with stresses and strains reduced to a comparatively gentle sort.

Under an entirely new executive, the Review board set out to refurbish the editorial kitchen. As the new editor put it, there were to be no "elaborate set of editorial intentions", merely an insistence on a consistently high standard of writing. Fact and fantasy were mingled and a better balance between creative writing, art, and non-fiction material was achieved in the very first publication. Many favourable comments greeted the particularly delicious cover.

The result of this balanced policy was that more students were reading and contributing a varied selection of good writing to the magazine; despite the fact that financial difficulties caused the number of publications to be cut down from five to four during the year.

Another idea successfully implemented was the holding of several Writers' Workshops. At these gatherings guest speakers such as Robertson Davies discussed various aspects of writing, with emphasis on problems of style and content and their relation to each other. The sessions were well attended and proved of interest and value to those wielding the often erratic pen of undergraduate writers.

Inevitably, there were difficulties in trying to work to the letter of a rather burdensome constitution — difficulties which were partially solved by some judicious amendments. There was also the perennial problem of a slack in contributions towards the end of the year. Despite setbacks, however, the end-product proved to be a fine effort.

Le Cercle Français Exécutif

J. Manning, L. Kerslake (Pres.), K. MacDonald, B. Fee, D. Halton, P. Miller.

Cette année les activités du Cercle Français ont commencé avec une très grande réunion à laquelle il y avait un film sur la France, et une série de petites scènes amusantes, "Folies Historiques", qui ont presenté l'histoire française telle qu'elle aurait dû avoir lieu. A la deuxième réunion, Mme Strobel-Coleville a montré de très belles transparences sur l'Espagne, et M. Guillaume Lamon a donné une conférence sur la jeunesse franco-belge. Au mois de décembre notre Cercle a collaboré avec celui de U.C. pour présenter "L'Alouette" de Jean Anouilh. Cette pièce a joui d'une réussite éclatante, et Trinity y a contribué six acteurs, le régisseur, et le garde des accessoires. Au commencement de février une trentaine de membres ont passé une soirée canadienne-française chez le professeur Rogers, après avoir patiné en plein air. Malheureusement, une soirée de films français qui avait été projetée pour le mois de mars n'a pas eu lieu. (Au milieu de mars le nouvel exécutif pour l'année 1961-62 a été élu.)

Dramatic Society

The year 1960-61 has been an entertaining and artistic one for the Trinity College Dramatic Society. The active season was begun with a unique production of "My Partner", a western melodrama of the 1870's. It was staged by W. T. Kennett, with such distinguished theatricals as W. L. Smith, W. J. Ruddock, G. G. Falle, Mrs. P. Hardy and Mrs. C. R. Fielding.

Two Shakespearean scenes provided highlights in the annual U.T.D.C. Festival. Act III, Scene II of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was directed by Ramsay Derry. The nunnery scene from "Hamlet" was the second entry with Rodney Archer in the title role and Vals Echlin as Ophelia.

The most rewarding and creative event of the year was the major production of "A Resounding Tinkle" held in Hart House Theatre in January. It is by N. F. Simpson, one of the chief exponents of England's new trend in Playwriting, and was directed by Herbert Whittaker. John Watts, Jackie Burroughs, Rodney Webb, and Ramsay Derry headed a very fine cast.

Football

The Trinity College football team this year had a moderately successful season. After a series of injuries early in the season the team made an impressive comeback in the second half of the schedule. Following two decisive losses and a defaulted game, Trinity defeated St. Mike's 13-1, Victoria 7-6, and lost a close game to S.P.S. 13-7. In the playoffs, Trinity defeated Dents, 22-14, but were in turn eliminated in the semi-finals by Victoria, the eventual winners of the Mulock Cup. As a consolation, however, St. Hilda's was soundly beaten by the Panthers who thus retained their position as undisputed champions of Trinity College.

Soccer

Two precedents were set this fall by the Trinity A's in their defence of the Arts Cup. The team was able to complete the regular season in first place for the first time in several seasons. Considering the fact that three regular members were injured, this was indeed a great achievement.

Secondly, for the first time in three years, the A's failed to retain the Arts Cup. Despite the efforts of Miles Godfrey, Mike Witty, Paul Wilson and others, S.P.S. proved to be the better team in their drive to the championship. Thus, Trinity, with the B's finishing third in their division, acquitted itself quite satisfactorily on the soccer field this past season.

Rugger

For the first time the University Rugger Club organized an unofficial intramural 7-a-side tournament this season. The tournament proved to be so successful that plans are under way to introduce the game as an unofficial sport in the intramural schedule next season.

This year's final for the Nankivell Cup resulted in an exciting game between Trinity and Meds, the latter having defeated S.P.S. in the semi-final. The game ended in a draw 8-8, with Trinity scoring the final try (touchdown) in the dying seconds of the game and, with the conversion, shared the Cup with Meds.

Trinity's success was due to the enthusiasm and spirit of all who played and, though lacking somewhat in fitness, rugger of a good standard was exhibited.

Team: P. Wilson (Capt.), M. Godfrey, J. Griffith, M. Witty, J. Humphries, A. Davidson, P. Wooton. Also played: R. Iveson, R. Webb, J. Roberts.

Basketball

This has been the most successful season that a Trinity Basketball team has ever experienced. Reverting from the old system of either not winning any games at all or winning just one game per season, this year's Panthers have won five out of six and have finished tied for first place in their division. Since the playoffs have not yet started, a summary of the season itself will have to suffice.

Both S.P.S. teams have been swamped by Trinity twice by differences of between three and eight points per game. However, Pre-Meds which Trinity had defeated earlier in the season, 41-34, managed to squeak out a close 45-25 win to break the Panthers' undefeated streak at three games. Undismayed, the team looks forward to the playoffs and a possible championship.

Track and Harrier

In the outdoor track season, Trinity was represented on both the University track and harrier teams. In the intercollegiate track meet, Dick Hamilton ran well to place second in the mile, while Jim Griffin secured fourth spot in the three miles. In several harrier meets, both competed with success. In the intermural harrier meet held in High Park, Trinity, though it could not be called a strong team, nevertheless displayed considerable team spirit and was able to gain first place. Representing Trinity were Chris Gill, Dave Halton, John Hill, Steve Waddams and Mike Treadwell.

In indoor track, Jim Griffin was the principal point-getter for Trinity, gaining a first and several seconds in the weekly meets. Dick Hamilton also aided in the cause. The relay team secured several seconds and a third; the team consisted of Dick Hamilton, Paul Wilson, Abbott Conway and Jim Griffin.

St. Hilda's College

College Meeting

This September brought the opening of the long-awaited addition to St. Hilda's, the Mossie Waddington Kirkwood Wing. All the usual events of the college year —dubbing, receptions, Episkopon and the rest have come and gone. Through the College Meeting, to which all members of St. Hilda's belong, these functions have been efficiently organized and many people have shared in their success.

All business is dealt with by the College and House Committees in their regular meetings. The College Committee is composed of the Principal, the Head of College, the resident and non-resident heads of year and the S.A.C. representative. The House Committee deals specifically with residence life and is formed by the resident members of the College Committee. This form of government manages to combine the best features of a democracy with the minimum of red tape to give St. Hilda's a government that is both representative and efficient.

House Committee

BACK ROW: Ann Tottenham (S.A.C.), Ursula Brain (Head of Lit.), Judy Ransom, Cindy Thomas, Jill Reville.
FRONT: Raslyn McIlray, Lisa Balfour (Head of College), Miss K. M. Darroch (Principal), Anne Chudleigh.

St. Hilda's Literary Society

FRONT: Primrose Wake, Ursula Brain (President), Jill Reville.

The St. Hilda's Literary Society has enjoyed a very enthusiastic and enjoyable year, beginning with a provocative debate with Trinity College, "Resolved that women are the guardians of morality". Dr. Brieger, head of the Art and Archeology department, spoke at the second meeting, giving a very instructive talk on the early master of Sienna, Giotto.

Each year presented a play, judged by Father Lyndon Smith and Mrs. Bruckmann. 6T1 produced three scenes in mime with narration, "The Wise and Foolish Virgins", "Mrs. Tittlemouse" from Beatrice Potter, and a Russian Folk-Tale. 6T2 chose the theme of tea for their evening, with "The Mad Tea Party" by Lewis Carroll, and the tea scene from "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde.

A music night in which 6T2 presented the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Trial by Jury" proved to be so successful and popular that it was repeated the following evening. The term ended with a Nativity Play. Cider, mince pies, and carol-singing with the Trinity Lit. followed to bring about a very pleasant ending to the term's activities.

Debates and two more year plays were presented during the second term. In the tradition of encouraging experimental theatre, second year did a very interesting dramatization of T. S. Eliot's "The Waste Land". In this connection, the two judges gave very lively and constructive criticism.

This year, the Lit. has branched out in a new direction, and in conjunction with the Trinity College Dramatic Society, a dramatic workshop has been begun under the patient and helpful direction of Mrs. Robertson Davies. The success of this experiment would indicate that it may become a permanent institution of the Lit. and contribute to the ever-broadening scope of Lit. activities.

University College Literary and Athletic Society

The college term now being written into history has been one in which the students at University College can take a great deal of pride. Student response to the many appeals made during the year has been outstanding; each member of UC is to be congratulated on the fine showing made in the SHARE campaign and the Blood Drive. As always, UC scholars have taken a leading role in student politics, university debating, seminars, and cultural exchanges with other universities.

The Literary and Athletic Society functioned this year under the able leadership of Richard Stren and Debby Schwartz, with the guidance of Bora Laskin. The Freshmen were welcomed to campus in good style in September in a new type of weekend, combining both the academic and social aspects of university life, which was a great success. A highly successful project of the Lit. this year was the construction of a hockey rink on the back campus. The rink has been used constantly. The girls' hockey team, armed with this new incentive, captured their league title!

BORA LASKIN
Honorary President

The traditional Honour Banquet, Athletic Banquets, Graduation Banquet, Arts Ball, UC Follies, and The Gargoyle are among the many events which are firmly implanted in the memory of all participants.

To those who are graduating this year, is wished every success; may future years be as happy as university life. To those who will continue to inhabit the JCR for another year, may the high standards be upheld and the fine traditions continued which will always be remembered in connection with University College.

Marion Ferguson House

Miss M. Ferguson

On November 9, 1960, in the presence of the Chancellor and the President of the University, the Principal of University College and many College Alumnae, Miss Ferguson declared open the new addition to Whitney Hall — Marion Ferguson House. This fourth House was included in the original plans for Whitney Hall and from the time when the other three Houses were opened in 1931, Miss Ferguson had looked forward to the completion of the full design. It was a matter of pleasure and satisfaction to everyone that she should open the new House which bears her name.

Marion Ferguson House accommodates sixty-one students and has its own common room and dining room. It is being enjoyed by its occupants and has already become a comfortable and home-like place. It will be a place, as Miss Ferguson said in her speech, where students "will learn respect and consideration for others, a place where with all their learning they will gain wisdom and understanding and faith".

Sir Dan

Sir Daniel Wilson Residence

The Sir Daniel Wilson Residence is home for one hundred and eighty-three male members of University College, plus a few odd dons, for a large portion of the year. They are of a many and varied character as shown in these pictures of academic and not so academic pursuits. These are but a few of the activities indulged in by the boys of 73 St. George. Occasionally a few have been known to do some actual studying, but generally these people are not talked about. In all, it makes for a lively and interesting existence.

FRONT: Elin Meredith, Gail Adams, Ann McMullen, Katherine Andrews.
ABSENT: Bannie McBurney, Carol Wells, Ann Clark, Kay Swain.

Just a report of the highlights in U.C. Girls' Sports this year. The big success of the year was the Hockey Team, which was a very enthusiastic squad. Those cold noon-hour practices on the U.C. rink certainly paid off game-wise. The Football Team also put in lots of strenuous noon-hours practising on the back campus. Even if they don't come away winners, they enjoyed themselves. In fact, U.C. girls seem to be much keener for the male fields of athletic endeavour.

In Basketball, the Freshies, as usual, turned out enthusiastically; but the stalwart Sophs took the Rose Bowl Tournament.

U.C. added a Ski Club to its list of athletic activities this year. Thanks are given to Sandy Hoseason and Gail Morley for organizing movies and ski exercise sessions.

U.C. is especially proud of Judy White for making the Intercollegiate Tennis Team in her first year. Needless to say, she was the champion of the U.C. Tennis Tournament. Mary Deyman organized the Interfaculty Golf Tournament, and also placed third in it.

At the end of the year, the Annual Athletic Award Luncheon was held in Howard Ferguson Hall. Trophies and crests were presented.

Once again the students of Victoria made Vic the top college on campus.

The students' response to the various charity appeals within the University was top-notch as usual. Victoria was among the best contributors to the United Appeal, Share, and the two Blood Campaigns.

In the fall, the Bob Revue, "37", was acclaimed by the various critics as the best campus show in years. The productions at Vic continued on this high note throughout the year with the Drama Club's ambitious and capable presentation of "Epicoene", and the Music Club's competent production of "The Yeomen of the Guard".

In the field of sports, Vic again displayed its superiority. In football, the Scarlet and Gold won the Mulock Cup for another year. Vic also won championships in many varied fields, from senior lacrosse to indoor track.

1960-61 was also one of the best years for Vic's internal activities. The activities began early with the "processing" of over six hundred freshmen in September by the other students of the college. The Freshman Weekend and the Initiation Week both were profitable and enjoyable for everyone in the college.

The social season was highlighted by the Howdy Hop in September. Once again this dance was one of the most popular on campus. The Victoria College Formal, a black tie affair, held in the quiet dignity of the Great Hall, proved to be a great success.

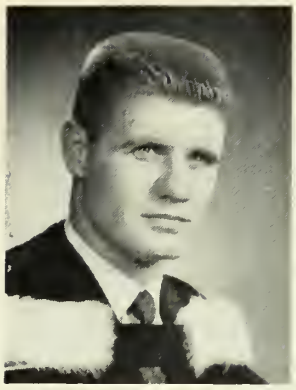

This year also saw a marked change in student government. An amendment to the constitution was passed providing that, beginning in the fall of 1961, the Assembly will consist of nineteen members rather than the former unwieldy thirty-seven, and that the executive will be made up of five members rather than eleven. These changes should permit a closer control over the student activities at Victoria.

These are some memories that the class of 6T1 will take with them when they graduate. However, they will realize that what they most profited from at Vic were the friendships they made and the liberal ideas they encountered. All these factors combine to make up a well-rounded university education.

The graduates of 6T1 now leave the halls of Victoria with the hope that Vic will continue to give its students this well-rounded education, and with the wish that the students will continue to keep Vic in the foreground of university activities.

This year's class of 6T1 at Victoria participated in a variety of activities. In the fall term 6T1 consisted of those four-year die-hards in the Honour courses. After the new year began they were joined by the more sprightly members of our General courses who seem to have successfully evaded that stooped, graying look.

A number of the hardy 6T1 oldsters braved a most enjoyable hayride in the fall. This gala event was held at the Circle "M" Ranch. There were no casualties apart from those creaking bones of members who fell off at the beginning of the ride and spent the remainder of the time panting along behind.

On the weekend of January 7, this hardy group again gathered at Caledon. The girls efficiently prepared a turkey dinner and the men showed proficiency in pancake-making for breakfast. Several men braved the rigours of the Finnish steam bath and a fast jump through the ice of the pond. They have pictures to prove it. Sleighrides and bridge marathons rounded out the weekend's activities.

6T1 and 6T3 were to take on 6T2 and 6T4 in a one-skate hockey match, the proceeds of which were to go to support a Refugee child. A sudden thaw cancelled the event and a dance was held in Wymilwood instead.

The grad banquet and dance, held Thursday, March 9 at Hart House and the Embassy respectively, saw the 365 members of 6T1 gathered for that last bit of conviviality before the pressures of examitis set in. It is with fond memories and that twinge of nostalgia that we leave our Alma Mater and face the frightening thought that now we must actually apply our knowledge to the practical business of earning a living.

6T2

The 6T2 Executive ran two blood campaigns, one in the fall, one in the spring, in which Vic "bled with the best of them". The fall Scarlet and Gold dance at Alumni Hall was a Calypso party with the Tropitones and a steel band. Although not crowded, the dance was a great success. 6T2 sponsored a class dinner at which Professor Buitenhuis, the class honorary president, was the speaker. The Annual Caledon weekend went well as usual.

6T3

Squish!!! Once again the Sophomores of Victoria College were successful in completely and utterly annihilating the naive and miserable Frosh. The first shake was the successful sale of ties and bloops at absurd and yet successfully collected sums. With this sum, the 6T3 executive financed a pleasant outing in the Bolton hills for the lucky and well-blistered Freshman year. The coup de grace was administered on the Vic playing field shortly afterwards when the female Sophs swamped the Freshies in a broomball game, and the male Sophs crushed the frail Freshmen in the infamous Bob Apple Battle.

Next on the 6T3 agenda was a wild hard-times class "bash" which was climaxed by the presentation of monstrous jugs of cider (unfermented) to the most ridiculous male and female Sophomores present. It was a tough decision.

Immediately after the Christmas break, the sixty-threers moved in a mass in the direction of Caledon. Here they were treated to a weekend of skating, folk-singing, sauna-bathing, eating and drinking (powdered milk). A memorable three days.

6T3 also helped sponsor the Victoria College Formal, held in Hart House.

the STRAND

Publicity Editor ..... Judy Caldecott

And this is our master (and masterly) masthead: Mary Jean Williamson, Lynda Godbold, Peter Newbery, Randy Howard, Liz Watts, Roger Dunkin, Paula Mitas, Peggy Atwood, Brian Macartney, and all those too numerous not to mention but so numerous as to be innumerable, not forgetting those two great guys, Shakesbeat Latweed and Milton.

From rag to riches. That was the Strand for 1960-61. Accustomed to a smudgily-printed yellow mimeographed newspaper in previous years, Victoria College students gasped with glee (or was it horror) at this year's New Strand.

The staff thought it was worth reading. The students may have thought otherwise, but the staff didn't know because they never talked to anybody. For the first time in centuries The Strand was able to steal enough money from the Victoria College Union to have the paper printed by an offset process, black on white instead of grey on yellow. Naturally, the glistening new format attracted only the best staff. The make-up was handled by Jean Mathews and Liz Watts. Sports was admirably edited by Tim Phillips assisted by Mary Jean Williamson. Drama reviews were usually written by Bob Hamlin. That left Editor Perry Anglin and Managing Editor Alan Walker (hereinafter known as wkr) to handle the mammoth task of "organization".

With such a popular newspaper hitting the campus more or less every couple of weeks, local organizations were eager to get some attention. A publicity sheet published to coincide with the main newspaper was shunted through the Gestetner by Judy Caldecott and Lynda Godbold. Wkr's columns were filled with his usual sweetness—he spent the entire year explaining that "sic" is Latin for "thus" and does not refer to his health.

In his editorials Anglin crusaded a policy of social reform at Vic. He struck out against the Bob Apple Battle, Acta Victoriana, the lecture system (which he in no way knew at first hand), and the V.C.U. Assembly.

With the new format came a new policy for the Vic newspaper. Realizing that complete coverage of campus news was all but impossible in a paper that was issued only bi-weekly, the editors created a journal of review and opinion.

Student Christian Movement

The Victoria S.C.M., although affiliated with the U. of T. S.C.M., has a programme of its own, planned with the interests of Vic students in mind.

Early in the fall a Vic-F.R.O.S. weekend was held at Caledon. Many outdoor worship and study sessions were held. Professors Powick, McNaught and Rathé introduced the topic: Canada's Role in World Affairs, which was later discussed enthusiastically from many points of view. Other activities of the group included several study groups and a new lecture series with excellent speakers who endeavoured to explain the major religions of the world.

The Victoria College Music Club completed another successful year, attracting many interested newcomers to the ranks. The club consisted of three groups—Broadway, Gilbert and Sullivan, and Chapel choir.

A series of noon-hour concerts held throughout the year presented audiences with a variety of musical talent; among these were previews of the "Bob" and "Yeomen of the Guard".

"Yeomen of the Guard" was the major Hart House production, drawing excellent houses and appreciative reviews. The Chapel choir presented a fine Sunday evening programme highlighted by a Bach cantata, and including some English madrigals.

Naturally, the social life of the club was not neglected. A Christmas party, a skating party, and a formal were well received by the joyful vocalists.

Considerable controversy arose over the question of continuing the Gilbert and Sullivan tradition. Perhaps a different type of show will be produced next year in its place.

This year the Vic Drama Club took a flyer on an old plane—Ben Jonson's Epicoene. Definitely a period piece, the play offered great challenge to everyone concerned. A straight-faced and long-winded interpretation of Jacobean social comedy, will either click or die in the twentieth century. Directed by Pamela Terry, of recent Dominion Drama Festival acclaim, Epicoene was an effort to breathe new artistic and financial life into the Drama Club. Its success in both fields was resounding.

French Club

The Victoria College French Club had five fun-filled meetings this year in the Music Room of Wymilwood. The programmes included films, both educational and comic, some rather mad-cap games, and, thanks to an ingenious social directress, some original and delicious refreshments.

Two of the highlights of the year were provided by guest speakers. Mrs. Stickland, the charming wife of a teacher at U.T.S., gave a concise and enlightening picture of "Actualites Françaises" as she sees them. The other speaker, Dr. C. R. Parsons of University College, delighted the assembly with his humour, as he told about his experiences broadcasting over short-wave radio.

The Club's activities were topped off with a sumptuous banquet at La Maison Dorée. The club has only one comment: "Vive la cuisine française"!

V.C.W.A.A.

1960-61 has been a very successful year in girls' athletics at Victoria. The "Big Red Machine" (our feminine football team) coached expertly by Pepper Martin again won the inter-faculty championship, the best score being 33-0. In softball Vic had two teams, with the first team losing only one game. Vic strength was shown still further in the golf tournament, in which Cathie Graydon placed second in the University and Gill Stewart received the prize for the lowest number of putts. Mark Merritt in Archery and June Hunt in bowling were excellent representatives of Victoria, both winning University awards. Sue Levitt won the badminton singles and teamed with Laurann Van Volkenburg to win the doubles. Sue was also the Victoria tennis champion. Pat Halliwell was awarded the ping-pong trophy.

In swimming, Victoria placed second, led by Joan Tait, Barb Shute, Gill Fisher and Carolyn Evans, all members of the Intercollegiate swim team. Of the four volleyball and four basketball teams only the fourths got to the semi-finals. Vic had two girls' hockey teams. "Bear" Kennedy's firsts increased their monopoly on the interfaculty championship, again coming through with flying colours, led by Linda Maki's "five goals in one game" record. Vic placed five girls on the intercollegiate hockey team as well.

University of Toronto Senior Colours were awarded to Marg Merritt (archery), Sue Pierce (basketball), Joan Tait (swimming) and Laurann Van Volkenburg (hockey).

V.C.A.U.

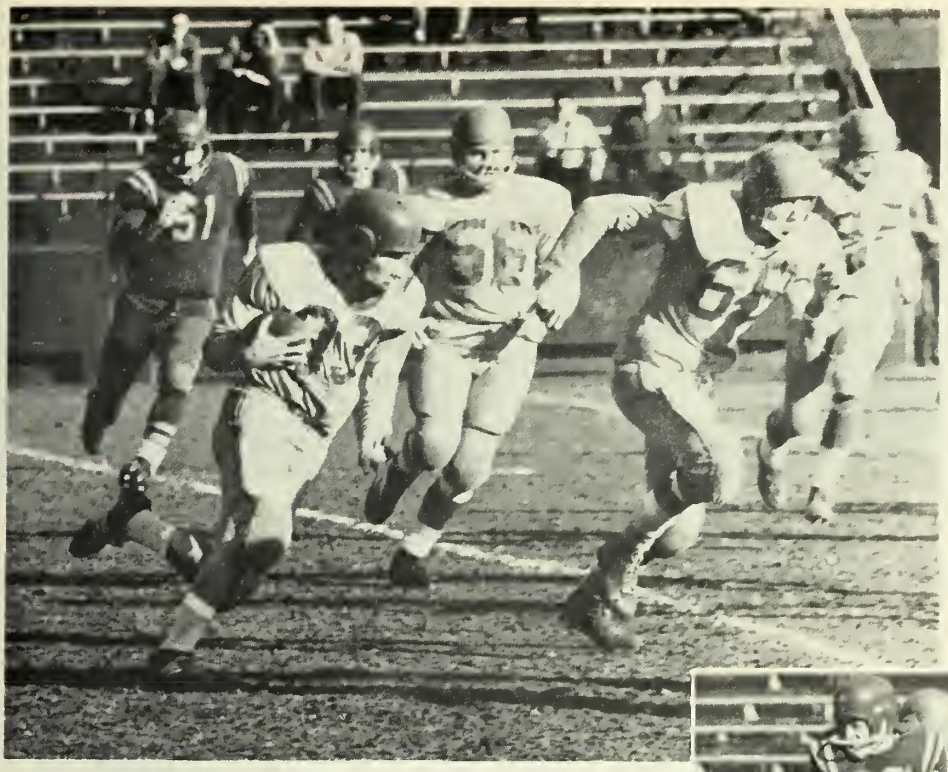

1960-61 will be looked upon as a year of inspiration to future teams and athletic executives at Victoria. The achievements of Victoria's teams and individual competitors in Intramural Athletics this year have shattered what were considered at the beginning of the year the most optimistic of hopes.

In the Fall term Victoria teams captured the Tennis, Outdoor Track and Field, Harrier, Intramural Swimming and Football Championships. The latter was particularly significant since this Victoria team became but the third team in the history of Intramural Football—a history of some 70 years—to win the Mulock Cup for three successive years. Two of these teams have now been from Victoria. In this year's championship game Victoria smothered Sr. SPS 34-7.

In the Spring term the word "Victoria" retained its affinity with the words "champion" and "championship". The Lacrosse team returned the Dr. W. A. Dafoe Cup to Victoria after an absence of some 20 years, defeating U.C. in a fiercely contested series 12-11 and 10-8. The Indoor Track team was, for the second consecutive year, champion amassing double the number of points of its nearest competitor. Finally, the so-called "cinderella team" of the Intramural Hockey League added the Jennings Cup to the already lengthy list of Victoria championships. In a two game total points semi-final series this team skated St. Michael's College into the ice, winning 7-5 and 2-0. In the best two-out-of-three final series against Sr. SPS they wrapped up the championship in two consecutive games, 4-3 and 4-1.

As well as extending congratulations to these many victorious teams and individuals, the Athletic Union executive would like to extend particular congratulations to the winner of this year's V.C.A.U. Award, Don Seeback, and the recipient of the Athletic Stick for 1960-61, Don Affleck.

Wycliffe College

O WORSHIP THE LORD IN THE BEAUTY OF HOLINESS

Wycliffe College chapel is simple in design with beautiful stained glass windows depicting some of the great figures in the translation of the Bible and of the expansion of the Anglican Church in Canada, especially in the North West. Here, Morning and Evening Prayers are said daily and the Holy Communion is celebrated several times a week. As the symbol of faith in God and the need for corporate worship of Him in spirit and in truth, the Chapel has its place at the very centre of the life of the College. Not only does it fulfil a very important function in a College preparing men for the sacred ministry but it stands open at any time for students on the Campus who wish to come and pray there.

The Theological Society of Wycliffe College has had a very active year. Special speakers were featured at biweekly meetings, among whom were the Rev. Prof. David Hay, of the Department of Systematic Theology, Knox College; Mrs. Kathleen Sladen, outstanding Christian Educator; the Rev. Donald Peel of the Diocese of Amritsar, India; and Prof. T. McIlwraith of the Department of Anthropology, University of Toronto. Bishop Stephen Neill, currently editor of World Christian Books, spent a weekend at Wycliffe College in early January, and stimulated many students on the campus with two addresses: "The Place of the Christian in the non-Christian Religions To-day", and, the "Rôle of the White Man in Developing Younger Churches". At a thought-provoking meeting in March, Dr. Jakob Jocz of the Department of Systematic Theology, Wycliffe College, and Dr. Eugene Fairweather, of the Department of Dogmatic Theology at Trinity College, both presented papers on "Man's Knowledge of God". Appreciation must be extended to all who made this year one to be remembered at Wycliffe College.

WYCLIFFE COLLEGE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Spirit, enthusiasm, energy and finesse characterized the fine performances of the various 1960-61 team entries. Although the Reed Trophy again eluded the hallowed halls, Wycliffe holds to the old adage "The score didn't indicate the play". The main strength for the '60-61 season was found in teams of the court—volleyball, basketball, and squash.

With another season completed the students at Wycliffe wish to express congratulations to the spirited oppositions, and appreciation for the privilege of participating in such a great athletic programme.

will be long remembered the symbol of the spirit of the Engineering Faculty.

Engineering Debating Society

BACK ROW: I. Middleton, H. Aronvitch, D. H. Carlisle, D. P. Rutenberg.
FRONT: V. Riley, R. Jones (Chairman), D. Jones.

This year the Engineering Debating Society has debated with St. Michael's College, Victoria College, University College, Medicine, and St. Hilda's College, as well as holding several inter-faculty debates. Among the resolutions used were:

"There is no place for the white man in Africa."
"Labour unions are a menace to a free-enterprise economy."
"A liberal education is obsolete."
"Through medicine, we are coddling ourselves into extinction."
"Women should lose the vote", and
"Charity begins at home", the Share Campaign debate.

One of the highlights of the year was the reinstating of the Sedgewick Trophy competition for public speaking. This trophy was first presented to the Engineering Faculty in 1922, but for some reason its use was discontinued in 1945. This year, Dr. Moffat St. A. Woodside, Principal of University College, Peter Dembski, President of the S.A.C., and Ed Roberts, Editor of The Varsity, awarded the cup to George White, IV Eng. Phys. The other competitors were Don Carlisle, Dick Jones, Vic Riley and Phil Brown. The club hopes that the trophy will be awarded annually in the future.

On the cards for next year is a possible reinstatement of the club's other trophy, the Sedgeworth Debating Shield, probably in a debating competition for freshmen to be held in the fall. The use of printed posters and leaflets distributed in classrooms has helped the club obtain its objective this year of a large and uniform "house", at both serious and more light-hearted debates.

In the Spring of 1960, the Engineering Society Executive in an unprecedented move, appointed to the editorship of TOIKE OIKE a person with no prior experience on the student newspaper. Midst signs of staff mutiny and reduced subsidies from the Engineering Society, plans and policy were formulated for the coming school year of 1960-61.

This year is now drawing to a quick ending and in retrospect one of the most successful years for S.P.S. and for TOIKE OIKE is seen. The glorious staff and munificent advertisers rallied to the call to make the year a most memorable one. The regular staff have managed to drag themselves out of bed on cold bleak Sunday mornings to put the "rag" together. Heckling the Medsmen, knocking the Artsmen, duelling The Varsity and trying to organize parties, the staff has had a lot of fun. As always, TOIKE OIKE has again shown that it is one of the best newspapers on campus.

The Skule Yearbook

Men of Skule have never been slouches in anything, and yearbooks are no exception. In recent years publication has reached 3,000 copies, with books of 125 pages, financial status permitting. But why a book at all, especially in the light of smaller S.P.S. enrolment, necessitating a decrease in the Engineering Society subsidy to the Yearbook?

The Yearbook is a photo album of the year's activities. It is a reminder of parties, field trips, (there's a difference?) classic sporting clashes, chariot race brawls, Skule Night, dances, girls, spilt beers, parties, and just plain drunks. It is a reflection—a mirror on Skule spirit, the strongest spirit on campus.

So here's thanks to Yearbook types everywhere. Skulemen have again made themselves proud.

Mining and Metallurgy Club

Another year is drawing to a close, and soon the Miners and Geologists will be heading for the bush and the Metallurgists for their labs. Every year this happens and it is amazing that a few Geologists aren't picked off (up) by the squaws. It is hoped that everyone does not come back so bushed that they will neglect the finer things that the M. & M. Club will offer next year.

This past year there have been a number of organized events that have been reasonably well attended by Club Members, and then there are the Bat Club sessions. The year started off with a bang when Professor Rice, Head of the Mining Department, gave an illustrated talk on his recent trip to Russia. At the same time plans were made for a smoker which was finally held in the spring and proved to be a great success. The last speaker in the fall was Dr. Weber who spoke on the controversial North Rankin Nickel Mines. At this time also, the Honorary Chairman of the club, Mr. Franc Joubin was introduced.

The new year started with the annual dance at the Embassy Club. Although few turned out it was agreed that it was a liquid success. Congratulations must go to the third year Mining and Geology Class for the tremendous fight they put up dragging their iron chariot, that crookedly won the chariot race.

The Club finished the year with a dinner meeting at which Mr. G. A. Brown, development engineer for The Iron Ore Co. of Canada, spoke to the Club on Labrador operations of his company.

Electrical Club

This year the nine tall and strong of the Electrical Club kept things well in order for another successful year.

The fourth year representatives were kept busy organizing the Graduation Ball at the Royal York Hotel and the field trip to Syracuse, New York.

Mr. Ellis Ashworth, fourth year Electrical's Grad Ball Rep., put in many hours promoting sales, arranging for tail fittings and stirring up the eighty or so lazy class members so that 65% of the class would, in the end, attend this gala function. Now to get 65% of this class to do anything, except beg for more lecture time is, to say the least, a task in itself. Nevertheless the desired percentage attended.

Mr. Andy Wyszkowski arranged the fourth year field trip to Syracuse, which finally took place on February 24th, 1961. The trip was scheduled for the fall but by the time all the obstacles were cleared out of the way, the departure time was moved up to February. The trip was quite tiring (Andrés will never be the same) but a good time was had by all.

Along with Bill Taras, Chairman, and Bob Russell, Vice-Chairman, the executive organized the sixth annual "Fall Brawl" which was held at "Ye Olde Embassy" on November 11, 1960.

Tight fisted Jerry McIntyre kept the Club in good shape financially and Al Gibson kept the boys hopping to make second year the best money givers for the course. Claus Doench took excellent care of third year and Larry Wilson and Don Doucher kept first year in line.

The boys under the iron hand of Bill Taras worked hard all year and were rewarded for their toils by a victorious day at the Chariot Race. An ingenious plan, an eager group of stout-hearted men, and a sneaky maneuver, resulted in a victory for the Electrical course. This along with dinner meetings and other meetings resulted in a very successful year for the Electrical Club.

Engineering Physics Club

"Why Not?" was the pass-word for the fourth year field trip, and has typified the success of the club's activities this year. Support from all Engineering Physicists (try pronouncing that one) for every project has been really encouraging.

The fourth year class launched the social-academic year early in the fall with a field trip that was absolutely "the mostest." Invasion plans were laid during the summer. In October the defences of more than a dozen companies in Chalk River, Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec City were breached in a week-long campaign. The "Coup de Grace" was administered by the Montreal football week-end, which happened to fall on the last few days of the tour. 'Twas a week to remember!

Eng. Fizzers, traditionally the most studious types in the Engineering Faculty, once again proved themselves among the most enthusiastic when it comes to a party. The fall wiener roast was a roaring success. In January, St. Andrew's Golf and Country Club was taken over for the club dance, and the eight-piece band did a wonderful job of blasting away the Christmas exam blues. The annual dinner repeated the successes of previous years, with the club members being regally fed at the Town and Country.

This brief report has hit only a few of the highlights of the past year for the Eng. Phys. Club. Other class parties, class field trips, general meetings, etc., were all carried out with great success. It has been a good year for Engineering Physics.

The Executive of the Civil Club commenced the year by conducting the freshmen on tours of the labs and campus. The tours proved most worthwhile in the orientation of the new students.

The technical programme of the Club consisted of film hours, (one per month during the academic year). These proved very successful and attendance was quite heartening.

Such was not the case with the two general meetings held in Hart House. Two excellent speakers were obtained and the talks were of an excellent calibre. Attendance was far from encouraging and indicated that the general meetings next year should be discontinued.

For those of Civil Engineering who have never been to a General Meeting, a few misconceptions should be cleared up.

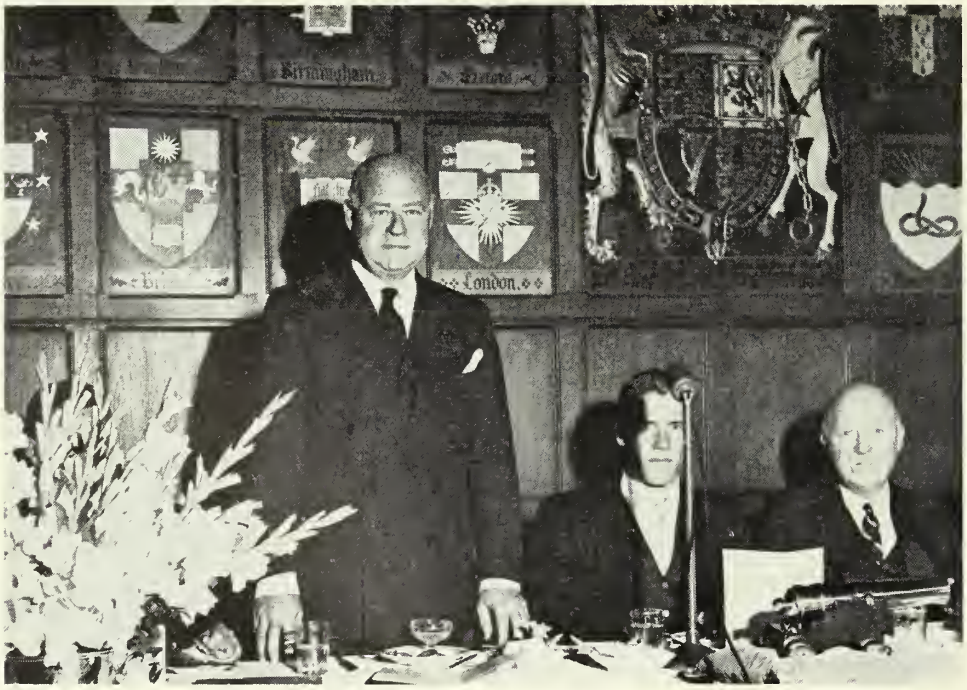

(a) General meetings are not lectures.

(b) They are not too technical for first year students.

(c) Contrary to popular opinion, they are quite enjoyable.

One can gain a lot from firing questions at outstanding men in the profession, and the bull sessions, which usually follow the talks, are invaluable.

The social events sponsored and subsidized by the Club were as usual a rousing success. The Civil Club Dance, held at St. Andrew's Golf Club and attended by more than one hundred couples, was second only to the At Home in popularity. The Dinner, held this year at Malloney's Studio Ltd., provided opportunity for lucid conversation with members of the staff. Over one hundred students, staff and grads, were priviledged to hear three of the best thesis talks that have been presented over the past four years.

SPECIAL BRONZE "S" AWARD

The Special Bronze "S" is the highest award that the Engineering Athletic Association can confer. It is awarded annually to the member of the graduating class who has made the most outstanding contribution to Skule Athletics during his undergraduate years.

This year's winner is Jim Simpson, a fellow who richly deserves the award. During his four years here, he has been especially active in hockey and lacrosse, including two years on the defense of Blues intercollegiate hockey team and three years with Senior Skule lacrosse. In addition, he has served one year on the University Athletic Directorate.

This is indeed a very impressive record, and the Athletic Association extends its heartiest congratulations to the 6T1 Special Bronze "S" Award winner, Jim Simpson.

In early November, 1960, an eight-oared crew from the University of Toronto, made up for the most part of Skule Students, plus a few from Arts, competed against two eight-oared crews representing the University of Western Ontario. This race, held on Lake Fanshaw outside of London, was the first time since the late 1920's when the U. of T. crews dominated this sport, that a crew from this University had entered competition.

Being Toronto's first year back in competition it required at least two months from the start of the fall term to build a crew; therefore, the regatta was held unusually late in the year, and thus was not carried on in the best of weather. At the start of the race it began to hail. This is not conducive to making one feel comfortable when sitting in a boat out on a lake dressed only in shorts and a sweatshirt; however, the U. of T. crew was not too disturbed as cold weather had been their constant companion during the daily 6 a.m. practice sessions.

Toronto did not win; however, the crew did better than anyone had expected. This was a green crew, comprised of only four experienced oarsmen, and having only six weeks of practice under their belts. The crews they were racing against were experienced and had competed twice earlier in the year against crews from Michigan State, Purdue and Wayne Universities. U. of T. placed second, a length behind Western's university crew and four lengths in front of Western's junior crew.

The coach of this crew has indicated that he is proud of the performance of the U. of T. rowers and would like to pay tribute here to their devotion to practice and their willingness to learn.

Skulemen in Action

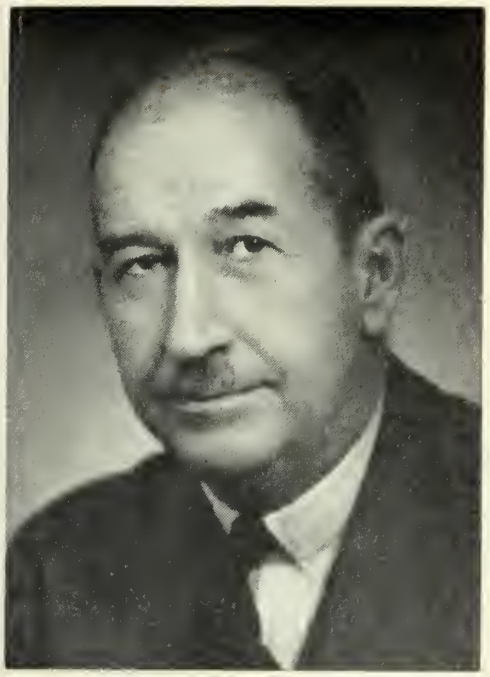

Again this year Engineering enthusiasm was high in all phases of campus athletics. Many teams were successful in reaching the finals in their respective sports and several went on to win championships.

In addition to the records already noted in this section S.P.S. had a finalist team in squash, and a second place team in indoor track. Engineering also placed first in University harrier, second in the Intramural swim meet, and first in the University Swimming championships.

Paul Burroughs, co-captain of the 1960 Varsity Blues, was awarded the Johnny Copp Memorial Trophy, being judged as the most worthy player by his team-mates. Jim McGuire, centre with the Varsity Blues Basketball team, was named winner of the Dr. W. A. Potter Trophy for this season.

In compiling such an impressive list of outstanding performances, the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering has once again demonstrated its interest in all campus activities.

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY

One of the functions fulfilled by the Medical Society, which is the whole body of undergraduate students in the Faculty of Medicine, is to help the Pre-Medical years feel they are "real" medical students, and also to remind and assist the students in the later clinical years to realize they are still part of the University. It is hoped that through the various activities of the Society we have had some success in this aim.

The Assembly, consisting of elected representatives from the Society, has met every two weeks through the school year under the chairmanship of Dr. William Hunter. Perhaps the highlight of the year's debating and discussion occurred when Toronto objected to the CAMSI National Executive's attempt to present a health plan to the Liberal Convention in Ottawa. Support was obtained from the other Canadian Medical Schools to stop what we considered an unconstitutional move by CAMSI. The topic of health plans, of course, is a pertinent one for Medical Students, and an excellent, well-attended debate was held on this subject in January.

The normal business of the year has been well handled by this year's Assembly. The Freshmen were welcomed, shown round the University and entertained at a banquet in Hart House. Principal Woodside of University College made an outstanding speech, which was printed in Probe so that it could be enjoyed by the rest of the Society.

Probe has only been published twice this year because of difficulty in obtaining advertising. However, the Medical Journal has been very successful with a striking change in format which most people will agree is for the better, and the material published has been excellent. Daffydil was again witty, original and entertaining, and full of unsuspected talent, again owing its success to the hard work and ability of many people in the Society. The Arts and Letters Club has continued with a small and faithful following, and made a promising start with a Foreign Language Club teaching conversational French. New furniture was purchased for the Duncan Room, but in spite of this, the décor at the end of a day's use appeared much as before. In the field of athletics Medsmen again acquitted themselves well, both in teams and individually.

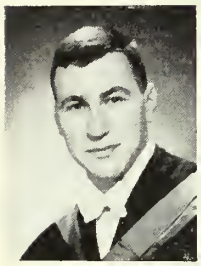

All in all, we feel that the Assembly can take pride in a stimulating and successful year's work (and in a balanced budget), and the Society has again provided many opportunities for medical students to contribute to, and indulge in, their particular fields of interest to the benefit and enjoyment of the Faculty as a whole.

The Probe

STAFF:	Editor	Bob Ferrie

Many years ago the medical faculty began putting out a newspaper appropriately entitled "The Probe". This "rag" waxed and waned, and only sporadically did it appear. Finally, in 1959, the staff decided that "The Probe" was not really a newspaper since it was brought out so infrequently, and therefore did not contain anything that could be properly called "news". The format was accordingly changed, and "The Probe" newspaper became "Probe Magazine".

"Probe Magazine" itself is not too punctual—it manifests itself anywhere from two to three times per year, depending on financial resources (derived in toto from advertisements), and on the whims of the so-called staff. This year, two magazines were put out containing news and sports of interest to the medical faculty, and also somewhat esoteric literary sections. The final edition contained further a special section on the graduating class of 6T1 with high school yearbook. However, it is not seriously believed that "Probe Magazine" will ever compete with Torontonensis.

Medical Modern Language Club

Medical students were offered something new this year in the form of the Medical Modern Language Club. It was founded on the premise that a doctor even more than the average human being has a need and responsibility to understand his fellow man. Obvious are the benefits in first-hand appreciation of other cultures and in the more efficient carrying out of one's work. But much more is at stake.

Broadly stated, a doctor's aims are to decrease human suffering and prolong life. The greatest present threat to the accomplishment of this task comes not from cancer or bacteria, but from man's lack of identification with, and understanding of his fellow man. This lack is perpetuated by language barriers.

Many medical students already have interests in modern language "left over" from high school or ethnic background; as there is little opportunity for organized language study during our course, these interests tend to fade.

The aims of the Medical Modern Language Club are to provide an opportunity for interested students to meet periodically for:

(a) mutual stimulation in the individual study of modern language;
(b) exchange of information about available books, journals, films, etc.;
(c) informal teaching.

This year interests were necessarily confined to French. Several evening meetings were held at which discussion was largely in French. Speakers, films (from the French consulate in Ottawa) and records were featured. Professor Hamilton was the first speaker, and spoke on "Medicine and Language". Also, through part of the year, half-hour translation sessions were held informally Tuesday afternoons.

Only a beginning has been made, and it is hoped that next year activities will be extended to include student exchange week-ends with French-Canadian universities, group excursions to French films, and extension of informal teaching.

The Medical Arts and Letters Committee

This group is composed of one member from each of the Premedical and Medical years.

It acts as a liaison between the Medical Society Assembly and the Osler Society, Debating Club and Modern Language Club, and reports to the Medical Society concerning the activities of these Organizations.

In addition, the committee sponsors the Annual Medical Students' Art and Photography Contest. In this contest, premedical and medical students enter work in art, and in coloured or black and white photography. It is displayed for one week in the Students' Lounge at the Toronto General Hospital. Artists and professional photographers judge the work, and prizes, donated by pharmaceutical firms, are awarded.

This year's winners were:

Art: Dave Sinclair, Larry Gotkind, Dave Richardson.

Photography: Ron Carr, Dave Strangway, I. Sommers.

Medical Debating Society

The Medical Debating Society, long dormant, has in the past few years sprung back to life, engaging both in humorous and more serious debates.

In the first inter-club debate this year, the M.D.S. was vindicated in its condemnation of the "Isolation of Medical Students" by the fact that only ten people attended the debate.

In inter-faculty debating, the M.D.S. has bowed to the Engineers on the topic "Resolved that modern medicine is coddling mankind into extinction"; defeated Vic by holding the negative position on the topic "Resolved that this House deplores the use of hypnosis in Medicine"; and was overwhelmed by the patriotic nurses who turned out in droves to beat down the resolution "Resolved that education for women is wasted".

Osler Society

Since its inception, the Osler Society has commemorated the life and inspiration of Sir William Osler with monthly meetings to discuss topics which are of current interest to medical students. The Osler Society welcomes to its meetings all medical students, physical and occupational therapy students, and staff.

To open this year's agenda, Mr. Leslie Tufts of the Committee of Christian Science Publications for Ontario, spoke on the philosophy and medical applications of the Christian Science Religion. The second speaker was Dr. R. B. Salter, an orthopaedic surgeon at the Sick Children's Hospital, who showed slides of his recent visit to Africa. This was particularly interesting as Dr. Tom Dooley of Medico had just recently spoken to the medical faculty about the practice of medicine in underdeveloped countries.

In February, Dr. F. A. Jaffe, pathologist at the Toronto Western Hospital, spoke on "the Medical Witness, before and during the trial". Slides illustrated this interesting talk. At the club's next meeting, Dean Homewood of the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College spoke on the role of the chiropractor.

The members of the executive for the past year were: President —Robert Richards, III Meds; Vice-President—Jerry Zadiyko, III Meds; Social Convener—Lavina Lickley, III Meds.

BACK ROW: Linda Geiger, Kathy Boland, Kay Mases, Helen Nickawski.
FRONT: Lavina Lickley, Beverly Nelems, Dr. Ruth Sky, Ann Cuddy, Judy Heard.

AS A CHILD

MEDICAL WOMEN'S UNDERGRADUATE ASSOCIATION

AT THE PRESENT TIME

September — old faces — new faces—coming to know one another.

The Tea—when year one meets year six and finds out what it is all about.

The Banquet—with its initiation ceremonies, solemn and earnest, and Dr. Paul's talk, humorous and interesting to everyone.

Christmas Time—the annual meeting, supper and gifts for the kiddies of the University Settlement.

Our Forum—an evening we all looked forward to—four doctors telling about their own specialties — just a glimpse of what might lie ahead. Dr. Sky, as our honorary president, has been a wonderful guide in all our activities and who could better tell us about the field of the General Practitioner.

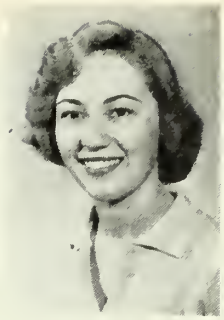

A Good-Bye to our 1961 graduates in an informal supper and presentation—may we be as fine.

Then Spring—comes laughing —its sunshine a mockery of the most dismal time of our year but holding a promise of summer then another good year ahead.

IN YEARS TO COME

CAMSI

JEAN SHKIMBA
Senior Officer

GEORGE BROWN
Chairman
Intern Committee

The Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes was organized in 1937 with the following stated aims:

(1) to promote the exchange of ideas among medical students and internes;
(2) to promote the investigation and attack of common problems on a national basis;
(3) to help prepare the members for national medical citizenship.

HARRY FOELL
1st Meds. Rep.

In 1937, the Association consisted of Toronto, McGill, Western and Queen's. CAMSI has grown to include every medical student and interne in Canada. Its accomplishments are impressive indeed. From its concern with student health, tuberculin testing and annual chest X-rays have been made compulsory for all university students in Canada. Toronto is currently publishing "Recent Advances", a publication contributed by the medical staff, concerning recent advances in the basic medical sciences as a supplement to the courses taught in the early medical years. Interne committees have been organized in the major teaching hospitals in Canada.

JOHN MORGAN
Transatlantic
Exchange Officer

The Canadian Interne Placement Service, organized in 1949, continues to be one of CAMSI's major services to the graduate student, "dovetailing" the preferences of graduates for particular hospitals and of the hospitals for particular graduates, thus satisfying both the hospital and the interne.

The Transatlantic Student Exchange Programme, initiated by Toronto three years ago, has become steadily popular and to date twenty-three students have applied for employment in European hospitals during the summer months.

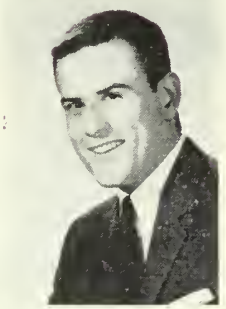

Since its inception four years ago at Toronto, the Preceptorship programme has grown in popularity. This year twenty-eight students applied to be placed for a period of two weeks in either rural or urban Ontario with a general practitioner.

DANIEL WISE
Placement Service
Sec.-Treas.

This year, with an able and enthusiastic National Executive at Laval University, has been an exciting and rewarding year for medical students. Plans are well underway for the "CAMSI FOUNDATION", established to provide medical students and internes with financial assistance through insured endowment and accumulation contracts purchased by the medical profession. It will be a non-profit, charitable institution.

CAMSI is also concerned with providing aid to underdeveloped countries, and is presently working on a plan whereby medical undergraduates may spend a summer working in an underdeveloped country which will utilize invaluable services. Transportation will be provided by the government, and medical school fees will be taken care of by scholarships and bursaries.

TOM BORLAND
Junior Officer

These are only a few of the projects with which CAMSI is presently concerned. Their success will benefit every medical student and interne and will fulfil the aims of the organization.

During the year 1960-61 the Faculty of Medicine entered teams for intramural competition in baseball, basketball, volleyball and hockey. Meds also have representatives on the Intercollegiate Fencing, Archery and Volleyball teams.

Although Medicine has captured no titles so far this year, the basketball team had a creditable record with four victories and two defeats at the hands of P.H.E., and the hockey team will end up very close to the top of the league with the present record. The volleyball team are also having a successful year.

ABSENT: Herb Metcalfe.

The students of the final year of Dentistry returned to campus in mid-August. However, the activities of the members of the Dental Students' Society did not begin until the last week of September.

The initiation of the first dental year was conducted by second year in early October. The initiates were required to wear gay circus costumes to school for a day. In the early afternoon they assembled in front of the building and paraded up Yonge Street, as far as Bloor. Such activities as fishing in manholes, shining shoes and measuring the sidewalk with short rulers occupied the frosh during the trek. A couple of hours of entertainment were put on for crippled children, and a dance followed in the evening. The Soph-Frosh Banquet followed a week later at the Embassy Club.

The Dentistry football team finished in second place, and entered the semi-finals in Varsity Stadium, but were outclassed in this encounter. A Pre-dental Volleyball team won the Intramural Volleyball Championship. Basketball and Hockey teams from Dentistry reached playoffs in their divisions and were generally a credit to the faculty. Harold Hall, Peter Potter, George Hicken, Martin Gelfand, Don Le Cocq, and Maynard Nordine represented the University in Intercollegiate Athletics.

The Annual Christmas Party for underprivileged children was held in the Dental Building shortly before the Christmas recess. The children were brought from school in a chartered bus. Singsongs, a traditional dinner and Santa Claus made the evening a success. A dance for students and staff followed the festivities.

The At Home was held on February 10 at the Royal York Hotel. It was a great success, with more than sixty per cent of the dental enrolment attending.

Open House, held on February 12, featured displays of student technique. Visitors were guided through the building and were invited to try out our comfortable seats, but all refused to rest in the clinic—surprisingly enough.

First day in the hospital

This is no time to learn chemistry

You must have been a beautiful baby

We were all over-worked at Weston — at least 3 rubbers of bridge per shift

Beatnick Study Session

Cha Cha Anyone?

Demonstrating the Law of Gravity?

Will you be able to dance after this?

Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society

The Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society was this year a very active Society. New and old faces on the Central Executive brought an entirely new atmosphere into the meetings. Out of this atmosphere developed many original and highly successful ideas. It seems only proper to reveal a few of these accomplishments along with other functions which made the eleventh year of the Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society a most successful and rewarding one.

The U.P.S. Professional Committee, with Pete Spalding as chairman, was established with the aim of promoting professionalism, unity and assimilation among the students of all four years.

Working together with our staff and the university, the executive established the Undergraduate Pharmaceutical Society Award to be given to a third-year student worthy of it. It was hoped that in doing this a closer tie between the students and the Society would develop.

With very capable and thorough organization, Jerry Bain laboured to produce the fourth and most successful Pharmacy Open House since its origin. With Jerry's original ideas, the eyes of many were opened to the professionalism of Pharmacy as a career.

The Executive passed a motion bringing about the formation of a Debating Committee under the chairmanship of Malcolm Seath.

Pharmacy had the privilege of voting for the University government within the faculty building for the first time due to the hard work of Aldona Pundzius. This year has been a very happy and successful one for all members, and the Society is wished the "best" in future years.

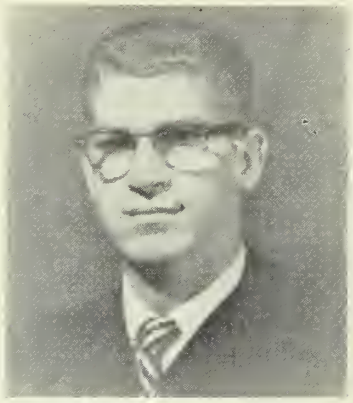

Men's Athletics

Pharmacy's sports participation this year was both promising and rewarding. The promising features showed up in the play of the soccer team, water polo team, football team, and both major and minor volleyball teams, which reached the semi-finals.

The rewarding features even outshone the promising ones. The lacrosse team successfully defended its Division II championship. The Anions won the Division II minor basketball championship and Pharmacy also ended up with both the A and B teams in the hockey finals in Division II. The A team won the championship.

Pharmacy also displayed a squash team this year, which if nothing else gained some valuable experience. Pharmacy was also represented in boxing. B. Peteoff went to the finals in the 160-pound class.

Pharmacy's contribution to track and field is Bill Crothers. This year Bill placed well in many events in intramural and intercollegiate competition. His highlights were winning the Hugh Phillips Memorial Trophy in the intercollegiate meet and also setting the Canadian record of 57.8 seconds for the 500 yds. in Winnipeg.

Women's Athletics

The year 1960-61 has to be termed a very successful season, sports-wise, for Pharmacy's "flashing femmes". With more than 45% of the gals turning out for some form of athletic endeavour, Pharmacy managed to enter a team in each of the major sports: softball, basketball, volleyball and hockey. Pharmacy was also represented in some of the individual sports such as badminton and tennis.

Not only did the "pillpushers" participate in all the team sports, but they did so very successfully. The basketball team, boosted by inter-collegiate star Shirley Juan, finished the schedule on the top of the league with a 6-0 record. Defeat was only a slim margin in the playoffs by O.C.E. who went on to win the championship.

The softball team also finished first in the regular schedule with an 8-0 record, but this success was marred by the fact that most of the victories were via defaulted games. This lack of competition was evidenced greatly when, in the playoffs, the St. Hilda's Saints thoroughly trounced an enthusiastic but outplayed Pharmacy team to the tune of 12-3.

A very pleasant surprise after Christmas was the success of Pharmacy's volleyball team. Strengthened by a number of freshies, this team also led the league with a 5-1 record, although defeated by Meds in the playoffs. With the greater per cent of the players in first year, this team ought to be quite a threat for a championship in the near future.

Led by Intercollegiate Hockey players Judy Pennington, a defenceman, and Sharon Milgram, a goalie, the Pharmacy hockey team managed to limit the opposition to two goals in eight games, but those two goals, one by Meds and the other by St. Hilda's, put the Pharmacy puckpushers down to two 1-0 defeats. These two defeats left Pharmacy behind Meds and St. Hilda's in third place and out of any playoffs.

With two first-place finishes in Fall term sports along with participation in individual sports, Pharmacy climbed to third place at Christmas in the race for the Mary Parkes Trophy. As the final count for this trophy is not yet in, Pharmacy is hoping to at least maintain the present position and possibly even improve. Good luck!

The R. Tait McKenzie Society, named in honour of the late Robert Tait McKenzie, a prominent Canadian doctor, physical educator and sculptor, was inaugurated in March 1956 by Dr. J. H. Ebbs, Director of the School of Physical and Health Education. Membership in the Society is on a lifetime basis and is open to students who have successfully completed their first year in the School and who have ranked within the first six placements in their class with at least a B standing. Approximately four meetings are held during the academic year with the purpose of promoting scholarship and research in the field of physical and health education and presenting papers for discussion in this as well as related fields.

Two of the guest speakers this year were Mr. J. W. McVicar, Physical Education Secretary of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A., and Mr. F. J. Hayden, a recently appointed research associate in the School. The topics discussed included the Olympic Games, research and graduate work in physical health education, and the project of developing a physical fitness programme for mentally retarded children.

It is hoped that other Canadian universities will also form such organizations to promote physical and health education and to bring students in the profession into a closer relationship.

Biggs Trophy

Mike Muir was selected by the Senior members of the Athletic Directorate as the 1960-61 winner of the Biggs Trophy awarded annually to the undergraduate who has contributed most to university athletics through leadership, sportsmanship and performance.

Mike has been a member of the Senior Basketball team and the Senior Football team for the last two years, winning his first "T" four times. A guard with the basketball Blues, he placed second in team scoring last season. He was selected as end on the Intercollegiate All-Star Football Team in 1959 and competed in intramural hockey and track for University College. He acted as president of the basketball club in 1960-61 and was a Student member of the Athletic Directorate. After graduating from Physical and Health Education this year, Mike intends to pursue a teaching career at the Ontario College of Education.

PAUL BURROUGHS

Copp Trophy

Paul Burroughs, a fourth year honour student in Engineering, was the 1960-61 winner of the Johnny Copp Trophy awarded annually to the player who, in the opinion of his teammates, is the most worthy member of the senior football team. Paul, who came to Toronto from East York Collegiate Institute, proved that he well deserved the award by being selected as a halfback on the Intercollegiate All-Star Team for the third consecutive year. He earned the respect of his fellow players throughout the season with his fine defensive play and his clever, aggressive ball carrying. A great team player, he was chosen as co-captain of this year's Blues.

Coaching Staff

JOHN KENNEDY . . . SENIOR HOCKEY

Jack Kennedy graduated from the School of P.H.E. at Toronto in 1950, and has been a member of the staff of the Department since that time. A member of the Blues Football team during his student days (playing end), he has, since his graduation, been Coach of the Intermediate Football Blues and Assistant Coach of the Seniors. He has also directed the Senior Hockey squad for the past three years, winning the Championship in 1955 and 1956.

Jack came to the University after seeing service with the R.C.A.F., and is now the Chief Administrative Officer of the University R.C.A.F. Squadron. Incidentally, he and Mrs. Kennedy have four children.

JOHN McMANUS . . . SENIOR BASKETBALL

A graduate of P.H.E. at Toronto (1950), John has just completed his second year as coach of the Blues Basketball team. A former star in basketball, baseball, and track, he was one of the high scorers for the Blues during his college days. After graduation John coached at Acadia University for two years where his team won the intercollegiate title, the Halifax and District Championship, and the Maritime Senior crown. He joined the Toronto staff in 1952, as Assistant Football and Basketball coach, and since then his Intermediate team has won the college championship twice.

John and Mrs. McManus have one son. He is an administrative officer in the U. of T. R.C.A.F. Squadron.

A. DALTON WHITE . . . SENIOR FOOTBALL

A graduate in Arts from Toronto, where he was an outstanding lacrosse player, being a member of the Varsity team which toured the U.S. in 1937, Dalt coached football at Port Colborne High for two years, winning the Central Ontario H.S. Championship in 1940. While at Toronto's Western Technical School, he coached football, basketball, and track, winning the Ontario and City basketball titles.

In 1951 he joined the staff at Toronto, and acted as Assistant Football and Basketball Coach before he was elevated to the position of Head Football Coach.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalt White now have six children, one of whom arrived this past summer, and they seem well on their way to building up their own family football team.

The University of Toronto Blues had a very disappointing season. After a promising start in which they defeated University of Western Ontario 28-7 at Varsity Stadium in the opening game of the season, the Blues got into difficulties. Plagued by injuries to key men on the team, Varsity dropped a 26-13 decision to Queen's in Kingston, and then followed this with a heartbreaking 9-7 loss to McGill Redmen. The Blues had great opportunities in the McGill game, particularly in the dying moments, when they were stopped on the McGill one yard line.

The Varsity team were outclassed in losing 37-17 at Montreal and 21-7 against Queen's Gaels at home. The final game of the year was one of the worst defeats for Toronto, a 34-0 shellacking by the Western Mustangs at London. In spite of these losses, great performances were turned in by tackle Casey Wood and Centre Ron Crawford along the line. In the backfield Co-Captain Paul Burroughs and halfback Everett Rush produced outstanding efforts.

Intermediate Football

The Varsity Intermediates re-entered the O.Q.A.A. this year after a year's absence. With the excellent coaching of three ex-Varsity footballers, Don Johnston, Dick Risk, and Bob Dann, combined with an overflow of eager and determined talent, the team romped over the league to wind up in first place with an undefeated record and recapture the Shaw Trophy. The early season injuries which sidelined several of the team's key players did not hamper the team's potential whatsoever. The team boasted a very powerful bench strength which sufficiently overcame the loss.

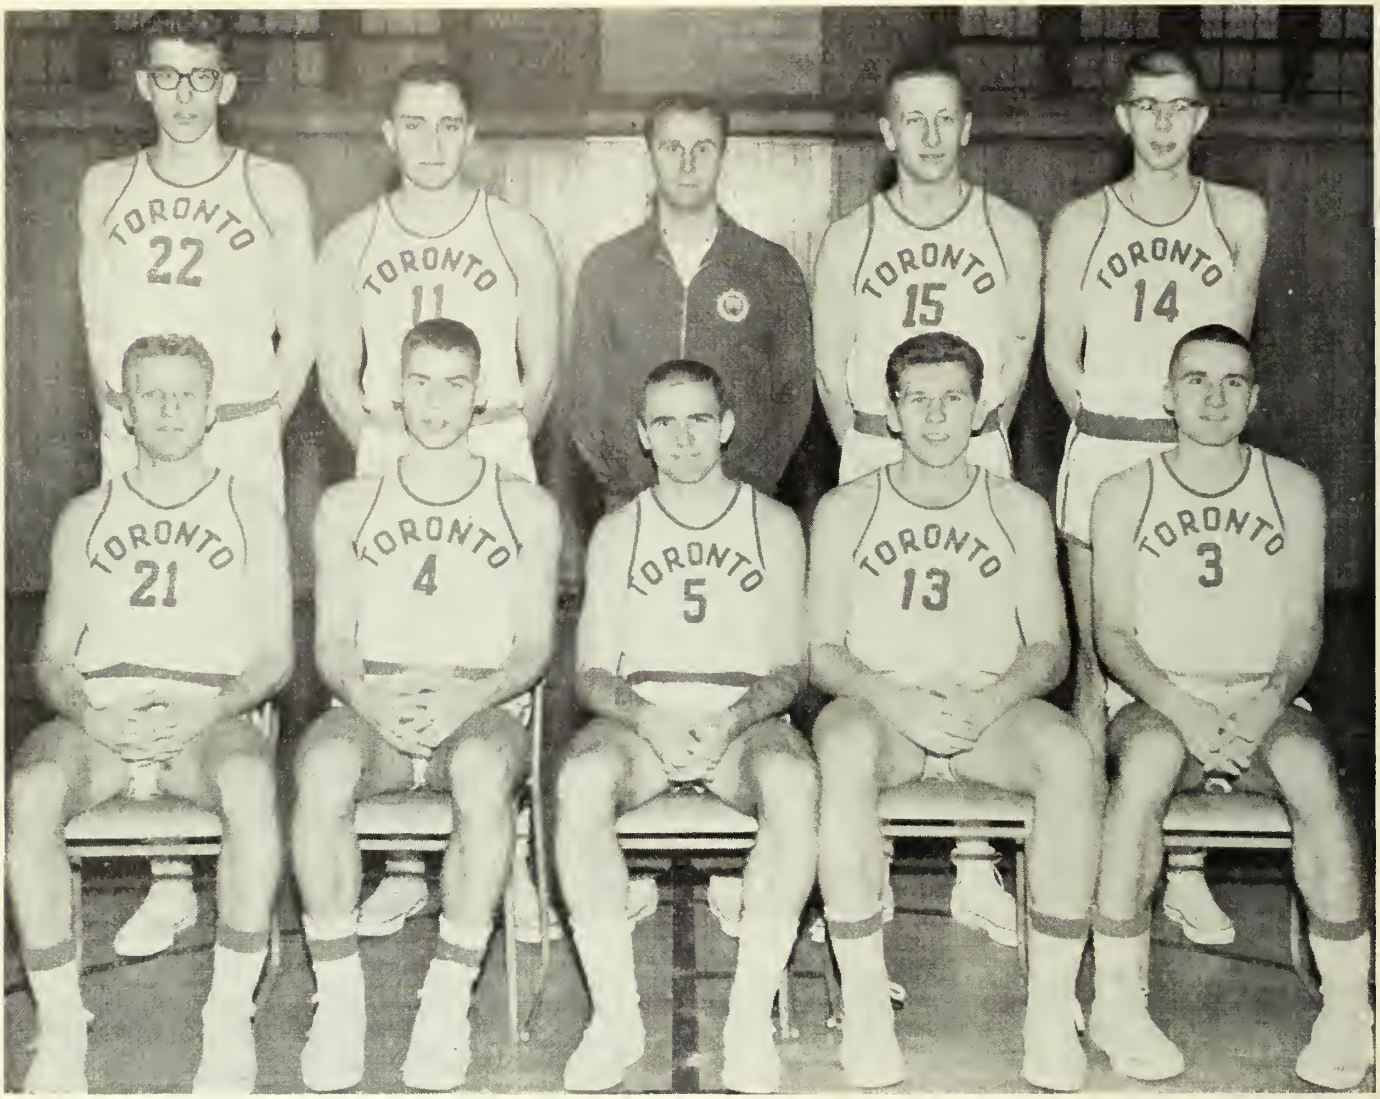

The season's scoreboard is as follows:

	Away	Home		Away	Home		Away	Home
Toronto	17	23	Toronto	30	53	Toronto	20	30
Western	13	6	Queen's	27	20	Ryerson	1	0

The toughest game of the season was the second game with Queen's at Queen's, in which the score ended up 30-27 in favour of the Baby Blues. The battle was hard fought against an improved and spirited Queen's team, and it was not until the final gun had sounded that our team was certain of the victory.

The team's leading scorer was Phil Rimmington who scored a total of 36 points, most of which were field goals and singles. Other personnel worth honourable mention were Jim Israel, Mike Meredith, Pete Robertson, Dave Chambers, Dave McCullough, Barry Rowland, Kaspar Pold, Bill Jackson, Hugh Cooke, and Bob Lackey. However, one of the main reasons for the team's doing so well was the fact that every game was a team effort, and the spirit among the players was unsurpassed by any team in the league, including the senior division.

Basketball

BACK ROW: E. J. Bordas, W. Cass, J. S. McManus (Coach), J. F. McElroy, P. J. Dignan.

ABSENT: J. W. Maguire, B. Crouse.

The 1960-61 Varsity Blues played a 25 game schedule. Included were New York University, St. Peters, Iona, Buffalo, Buffalo State, Rochester Institute of Technology, and Lawrence Tech. The overall record was 15 wins and 10 losses.

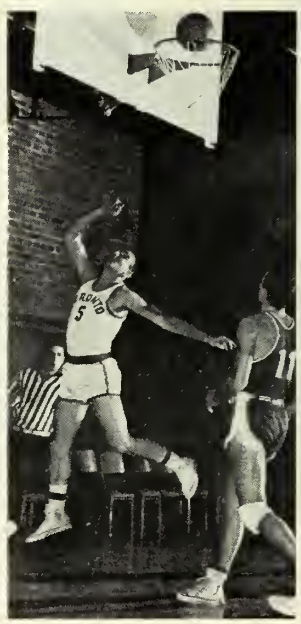

In the Intercollegiate schedule the Blues ended up in second place with a 7-3 record.

Highlights of the season included a 106-92 win over Lawrence Tech. and a 75-59 win over Western.

Jim Maguire was awarded the Dr. W. A. Potter Trophy.

The Blues were paced by the scoring of Dave West, Mike Muir, Jim Maguire, Ed Bordas, and Gerry McElroy.

The 1961-62 edition of the Blues should be a contender for the title as all members of the 1960-61 team will be returning.

Although unable to bring home the Queen's Cup, this year's version of the hockey Blues provided close competition for the defending Champions from Laval. They finished with an 9-3 won-lost record, one game behind "Rouge et Or", despite an excellent start of four straight wins.

In this year's exhibition schedule, Blues scored wins over Macedonians, Oakville's Senior A entry, McMaster Marauders, and Varsity "Old Boys"; split a pair with highly rated Michigan Wolverines, and dropped decisions to Marlboros, Milton Intermediate A, Rensslear Polytechnic Institute, and Boston College.

Blues' rookie goalie, George Deratnay, compiled a league goal average 3.33 which gave him second place in the standings. Jim Murchie, flashy right winger, and star centre, Bill "Bear" Kennedy, took first and second places in the league scoring race with 27 and 26 points respectively.

Much of Blues' success this year can be attributed to standout play by Dave Chambers, Jim Simpson, Gord Epp, and Pete Warren, evenly-distributed scoring power and steady performances by rookies. This year's winner of the Dr. Dafoe trophy for outstanding contribution to the hockey team is Dave Chambers.

With most of this year's players returning next year, Coach Jack Kennedy has good cause to look forward confidently to the 1961-62 season.

Boxing

The boxing season at the University of Toronto was climaxed by the third successful defence of Varsity's Intercollegiate Championship. Rebounding successfully from a dual-meet defeat by Royal Military College, the Blues placed eight men in the finals and took three individual championships, one by a first-round knockout by Tom Kristenbrun, Varsity football star. The other champions were Val Spring (his third in a row) and Bernard Cataford. Coach Tony Canzano, with a diminishing number of candidates for the team, rounded his boys into their best form for the championships, and his corner advice accounted for more than one victory. With three returning champions, two former champions, and several other promising prospects, the Blues should nail down the trophy for the sixth time next year.

Fencing

W. Greaves, A. Szabolcs, R. G. Rice, I. Hennyey (Fencing Master), J. F. Gell, P. Nightingale, M. Nash.

The University Fencing Club had an active season in 1960-61, fencing three exhibition matches in addition to the Intercollegiate Championships, and entering members in several Ontario championship events. Mr. Imre Hennyey, formerly of Winnipeg, completed his first year as fencing coach, taking the place of Mr. Julius Alpar, who has gone to the United States. It did not take long for Mr. Hennyey to become respected in Hart House as an excellent coach and an interesting and friendly individual; his son Alex also contributed a great deal to the Varsity Team.

For the first time in several years the University of Buffalo Fencing Team visited Toronto, defeating the home team on January 7th, 15 bouts to 12. Rochester Institute of Technology was defeated 14-13 at Hart House on January 28th, and by the same score in Rochester on February 4th. After six successive years as champions, U. of T. placed second in the Intercollegiate Championships, held this year in Montreal on February 11th; McGill came first and U. of Montreal third.

U. of T. fencers did well in the Ontario Championships organized by the Ontario Fencers' Association. Eric Winter came second in the Novice Foil competition; Ron Rice, our president, won first place and a gold medal in the Junior Epée event. Vice-President Michael Jackson won second place and a silver medal in the Junior Foil, and third place (bronze medal) in Junior Epée. In addition, Ron Rice and Alex Hennyey were among the ten finalists in the Metro Toronto Tournament on January 22nd.

Badminton

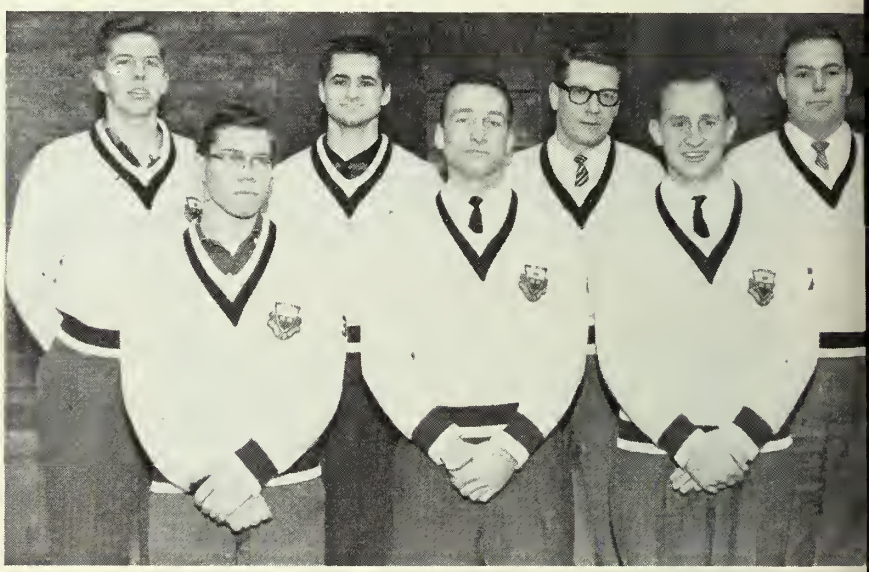

This year's tournament, reduced to three entries as compared to last year's five, did not suffer in quality. The University of Toronto foursome maintained the unbeaten record established by last year's team, winning all twelve matches against second-place McGill and third-place Western Ontario. Only two of the twelve went three games, the other ten were won two straight.

Three of the four players were holdovers from last year's undefeated team: Ross Lundy of Victoria, in number one spot; Casey Wood of Trinity, playing number two; and Don Laird of Engineering, in number four. Leon Smith, number three, added the necessary strength to maintain the unbeaten record.

Individual and doubles championship play was again all Toronto. In the challenge round for the singles championship, Leon Smith won from teammate Casey Wood, but was defeated in the final round by Ross Lundy, the defending singles champion. Lundy then teamed with Casey Wood to defeat the combination of Laird-Smith for the doubles crown.

The tournament was held on the courts of the Carlton Club, Toronto, with the University of Toronto acting as host.

Curling

This year there was a new enthusiasm for the "roaring game" among the students. An intramural league got underway in October, with twenty boys' rinks and two girls' rinks turning out. Games were played every Sunday until the end of February, at which time I. Johnson's rink of K. Ingo, L. Johnson and J. Stronach emerged as the champions.

Two rinks represented the University of Toronto in the O.I.A.A. bonspiel at Waterloo. B. Holmes skipped a rink with H. Start, T. Brett and B. Apps, while K. Ingo skipped a rink with G. Morissay, L. Johnson, and J. Stronach. The team did well, but were defeated in the finals by a powerful contingent from Ryerson Institute of Technology.

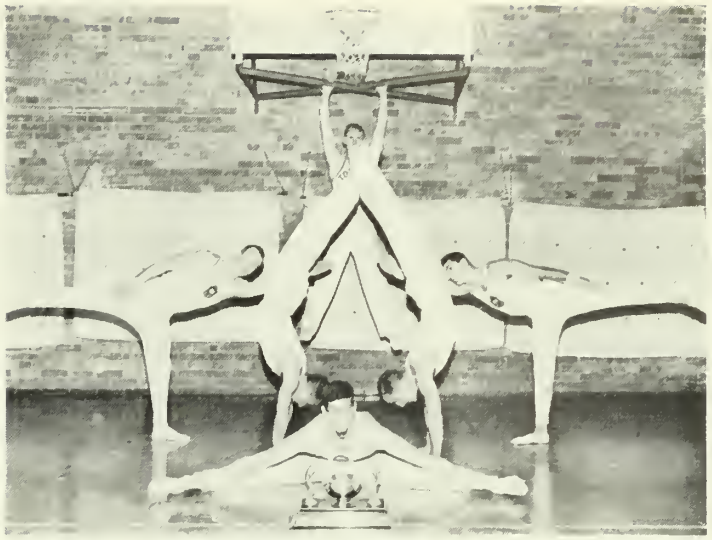

The University was again ably represented by two rinks in the O.Q.A.A. bonspiel at Guelph. The rinks were composed of C. Hall, J. Elder, B. Gowans, M. Nordine, S. Wilton, C. S. Gaillard, J. Scott, and E. Knaack. The two rinks were both eliminated before the finals.

An ever greater interest among students is forecast for curling next season, and a successful curling year is assured.

Gymnastics

Varsity's gymnastic team improved in strength this year with the addition of 3 new men, Peter Karm, Pat Allen, and Les Filotas, to last year's team of Gabriel Pal, Barry Brooker, Jim Wyse, and John George. The team competed twice this year: once at Hart House in a dual meet with Royal Military College, and once in Kingston against 5 other teams from R.M.C., Ottawa, Kingson, and the Canadian Army. Both meets were won by easy margins and Varsity captured the individual as well as team titles. The Varsity team coached by Frank Gormek did not have the opportunity to contest the O.Q.A.A. gymnastic title which it won last year from McGill, as there were no other universities entered. However, Varsity's coach and gymnasts hope to multiply the competitions next year in order to bring recognition for gymnastics on the campuses across the province.

B. D. Bixley, R. Jacab, J. G. Anderson, D. R. McGibbon.

McGill University with a powerful and well-balanced team won twenty out of a possible twenty-four matches to take the title from defending University of Montreal by a one match margin.

University of Toronto finished third in the five team tournament with thirteen matches won, followed by University of Western Ontario with five and Laval University with three.

Veterans Joe Anderson of Medicine and Dave McGibbon of Trinity College each accounted for two single wins. Anderson teamed with newcomer Robert Jacob of Victoria as the number one doubles team and accounted for two doubles wins, as did Dave McGibbon, playing with Brian Bixley of Graduate Studies, in the number two doubles spot. Robert Jacob, playing number two singles, won three of his singles matches, and Brian Bixley in number four spot won two.

François Gadbout, rated number one with University of Montreal, won the singles championship and joined Y. Laberge, his number two ranking teammate, to win the doubles crown.

The tournament was played in Montreal, with McGill University acting as host.

Golf

The Cataraqui Golf Club of Kingston was once again the scene of a ten team tournament determining the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union and Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association championships. Teams from the Ottawa-St. Lawrence section participated in the play.

The four-man Toronto team used 619 strokes in the thirty-six hole medal play tournament. This was good enough to win both the C.I.A.U. and O.Q.A.A. team championships with a wide margin over second place Western, the defending champions, and third place University of Montreal, who finished with 637 and 660 respectively.

In the individual championship, the Toronto team again demonstrated their supremacy, finishing in 1st, 4th, 5th, and 7th positions in the C.I.A.U. section, and 1st, 3rd, 4th, and 6th among the O.Q.A.A. entries. Hugh Paterson of Medicine was the individual champion with a 148 total made up of a 72 and 76. He was followed by Dick Hamilton of Trinity with 156, Norman Goldman of University College with 157, and Bill McNaughton of Victoria with 158. All four men were representing the Royal Blue and White for the first time.

Squash

Our University Squash Team both collectively and individually completed its most successful season.

Individually, John Gorham won championships in the Junior, Toronto and District, and the Ontario Junior tournaments. John Ireton, with a great year starting as semi-finalist in both Senior Toronto and District and Senior Ontario tournaments, finished by winning the Ontario Intermediate and Intercollegiate Championships.

As holders of the Ontario team Championships, won for the first time last year, our team lost after a battle in the finals. The team came back strong and closed out the season by winning the Intercollegiate team championships.

Much credit must be given to other players who made up the rosters of the "A" and "B" teams. These players, with their interest and ability, are now making their presence known in Ontario Squash meets, and also when included on the team visiting U.S. Colleges.

Senior Harrier

In the intercollegiate harrier meet at Kingston, Toronto was unable to improve on its last year's position of third, though only one point separated them from O.A.C. McGill again proved too powerful, winning quite easily with 23 points to O.A.C.'s 35. For the second year Pete Adams of McGill and Art Hackett came first and second respectively, while Bill Mills, a newcomer to Varsity running, performed well to come third. He was followed by Jim Griffin in seventh, Jim Snider in eleventh, and Dick Hamilton in fourteenth place.

During the rest of the season Toronto met with varied success. Against O.A.C. and Wayne University in a triangular meet they lost on both accounts, the best positions being Jim Griffin third and Jim Snider eighth. In a thirteen college meet at Buffalo, Toronto gained a creditable fourth place. In this his first race of the season, Bill Mills ran strongly to finish fifth. Niagara University, with two of their top men absent, were unable to provide any competition in the final meet before the intercollegiate. Toronto finished with their five runners in the first six places, Bill Mills running a fast time for the course.

Intermediate Soccer Champions

After an interval of two years, the Intermediate Blues regained the Intermediate title and the Oster Trophy. The Baby Blues were undefeated throughout the season and dropped only one point, that in their away game against University of Western Ontario.

Their record of five wins and a tie was made up as follows:

Opponents	Home	Away
McMaster	Won 5-0	Won 1-0
Univ. of Western Ont.	Won 6-0	Tie 2-2
O.A.-V.C.	Won 8-3	Won 7-3

Chief goal scorers were Hugh Fraser with eleven goals and Aldo De Tullio with eight. Janis Simanovskis also netted four goals.

Starting off with seven hold-overs from the previous season, the Intermediates soon proved that they intended to regain the championship by thrashing Western 6-0 in the opening game.

Although Nick Walker went up to the Senior side, his brother Gordie Walker took over the centre half position, and he and Herb Hilgenberg proved to be defensive stalwarts. Backed by the aggressive attacking play of halfbacks Winston McClean and Pete Walcott, the Intermediate forward line hammered opposing defences. Outstanding on the forward line were Gabor Pyski, Hugh Fraser, and Aldo De Tullio, the last two scoring nineteen goals between them.

The Baby Blues also proved they could fight back . Losing 2-0 at half time to Western, they managed to salvage a draw when Hugh Fraser scored in the dying minutes of the game.

Next year it is expected that some of the Intermediates will be playing for Senior side, and if they play with as much determination for the Seniors as they did this year, it augurs well for the Blues' Soccer team.

Soccer

This year the Senior Blues had to be content with sharing the honours. The Blues continued their virtual monopoly of the Blackwood Trophy, captured the Western Championship for the thirteenth time in fourteen years, but lost the Eastern title and the T. and D. Trophy to McGill.

In the tight ten game season the Blues finished with a record of seven victories and three defeats.

The individual scores were as follows:

Western Division:
Opponents	Home	Away
McMaster	Won- 2-0	Won 4-2
Ryerson	Won 3-0	Won 4-1
U. of Western Ont.	Won 5-0	Won 4-0
O.A.-V.C.	Won 2-0	Lost 5-3
Eastern Division:
McGill	Lost 5-4	Lost 4-2

(McGill won the total goal series)

Chief goal scorers were Roger Peretz with thirteen goals and Jeff Mahon with nine goals.

The Blues again fielded a strong team this year, but were handicapped by having to reorganize the forward line due to injuries. The most serious injury was to Doug Taylor, who was forced to sit out the remainder of the season after suffering a knee injury in the second game of the schedule. Nick Walker, who was brought up from the Intermediates, proved an extremely capable substitute. Other freshmen on the Senior team were Jeff Mahon, Keith Murphy, and Gus Candido.

As in previous years, the main threat to Toronto supremacy was O.A.-V.C. who inflicted a 5-3 defeat on the Blues. O.A.-V.C. took advantage of some rare defensive lapses in the first half to lead 4-1. In spite of the Blues storming to the attack in the second half, O.A.-V.C. added another goal and ran out comfortable winners. In the return game the Blues took command of the game from the first whistle, with the defence led by Roy Green keeping a stranglehold on the Guelph forwards. Two goals, one by Roger Peretz and one by Bruno Bertolin, proved enough to win the game in spite of the fact that the Blues played the last twenty minutes with ten men.

It was very pleasing to see the continued improvement in the standard of play throughout the league. In fact, O.A.-V.C. dropped a game to University of Western Ontario, which made the Blues undisputed league champions.

The two-game playoff with McGill provided the two most exciting games of the season. The Blues lost 5-4 in Toronto and 4-2 in McGill. The Blues can be considered somewhat unfortunate to have lost both games, especially the return game in Montreal. Toronto dominated the midfield play for three quarters of the game but their forwards were unable to score more than two goals. The McGill forwards on the other hand capitalized on every chance with shots that left the Blues' goalie helpless.

Next year Coach Duncan is going to be faced with the job of rebuilding the Senior side. Eight of this year's Blues expect to graduate, amongst them such stalwarts as Julin Kovaccovics. Jim Watson, Doug Taylor, Captain Roy Green, Brian Michez, Bobby Morris and scoring ace Roger Peretz. However, if we have freshman players of this year's calibre turning out, Varsity should be able to keep fielding championship teams.

The Intermediate Blues had a chequered season, with very good games alternated by ones in which their fighting spirit and enthusiasm couldn't quite balance their inexperience. They won 2, tied 2, and lost 3. A very large proportion of this team was Canadian, playing the game for their first season.

An innovation this year was a seven-a-side interfaculty competition in which SPS led the league all the way, but lost to Meds in the playoffs. Meds and Trinity tied in the final playoff spot. Next season it is expected that a full scale intramural league will play for a trophy donated by coach and former captain Neville Nankivell. Teams are scheduled from SPS, Meds, U.C., Vic, Trinity, Knox and Architecture. This is the chance for would-be players to try out (and get some P.T. credits, too).

With many of the Seniors due to return, and with a good potential in the Intermediates, the Blues hope to make 1961 even more successful. However, the club is always aiming at the new player in its desire to encourage Rugger, so if you like a good contact sport and convivial companions, sign up at the Athletic Association Office in the fall. Even if you don't want to play, come out and support your team.

P.S.: If you want to see a real game that's exciting and different, then come along and watch the Rugger Blues play on the Back Campus.

Good teamwork both on and off the field has brought the University of Toronto Rugger Club its most successful season for many years, and justified a sweeping change in Club policy.

In past years, the Senior Blues had played in one of the city leagues and, while meeting very good teams, played intercollegiate only in an annual series with McGill. This year the Senior Team under Captain Bill Nelems (III SPS) withdrew from the league to play intercollegiate and exhibition matches —with good result as Toronto beat McGill, Queen's and Cornell University in total points, home-and-away games.

The reason for the withdrawal was to encourage intercollegiate Rugger in Eastern Canada and, thanks to the success of the pioneer venture, Toronto will play McGill, Queen's and Ontario Agricultural College for the intercollegiate championship in 1961. Other games with Cornell, Michigan, and Waterloo Universities are anticipated, along with possibilities of teams from Ryerson and Western to play the Intermediate Blues, so the future looks bright.

Statistically: Varsity retained the Gilbert Turner Trophy by beating McGill 8-5 in Toronto and tying 0-0 at Montreal. A surprise defeat by Queen's 3-8 at Kingston was avenged by a 21-6 victory in Toronto, and Cornell was downed 6-0 in Toronto and 3-0 at Ithaca.

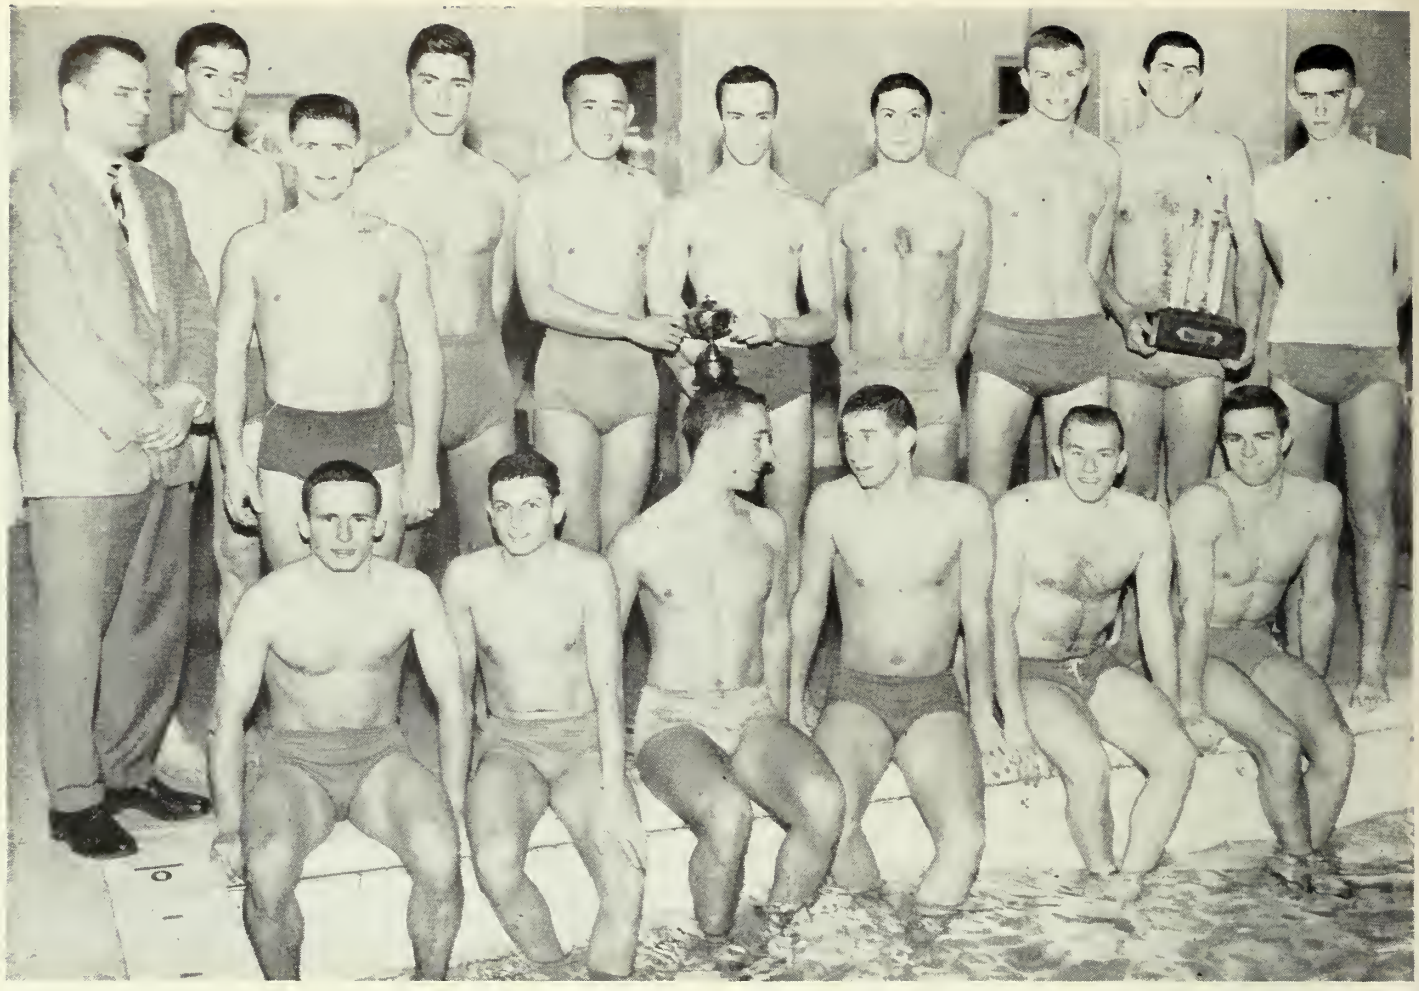

In exhibition games, the Senior Blues lost to the strong Toronto teams, Barbarians, Nomads, and Toronto Scottish, but beat Toronto Irish. The last game of the season, with about seven of the Blues sidelined with injuries, was an 8-3 defeat by O.A.C.

Team

The ski season this year was marked by a great deal of enthusiasm among the veterans and rookies of the team. Despite the lack of enough snow and of competitive racing, the cross-country runners practised in Queens Park and the Alpine squad at Collingwood during the January weekends.

The Intercollegiate Championships, held at Lac Beauport near Quebec City, saw a strong McGill team dominate and win the team championship. Injuries to our team greatly limited our chances, for Karl Lovinskiold twisted his ankle and could not compete, while Don Lecocq was hampered greatly by badly torn knee ligaments. Remo Repo, a member of Canada's National Ski Team, put on a tremendous finish to win the cross-country event, while rookie George Torrance and veterans Bob Galway and Fred McNutt placed well to win the cross-country team event for Toronto. Roger Dunkin was third in the jumping, with McNutt and Torrance placing well. The alpine men did very well in the slalom first run, when Peter Hamilton and Dunkin had fast runs. A tricky gate caught them in the second run, resulting in a loss of valuable time. Our chances died in the downhill, for without previous racing in January, we didn't have the razor sharp reactions and timing needed to win. This was the key to victory which we lacked.

Mr. Bill Beck, the coach and inspiration behind the ski team, has once again this year given his valuable time and experience to the team despite his business interests. Many thanks again, Bill, from all the members.

Swimming Champions

The University of Toronto Swim Team recaptured the Senior Intercollegiate Swim Championship and the Dougall Cup from Western in 1961, making it four championships in the last five years.

Coached by Marius Van Nooten and Captained by John Deacon, the Blues combined a few individuals with a very strong bench into one of the greatest team efforts seen in Intercollegiate Swimming for some years. This bench strength was pointed out at the final meet when Toronto won both relay races, and every swimmer entered added points to Toronto total. In the 400 yd. Sprint Relay, Marv. Chapelle, Larry Bell, Alex Ashenhurst, and Pete Richardson combined to break the Intercollegiate record. Along with this fine team effort, there were three individual champions—Bob Fisher, who won the 200 yd. Backstroke for the third year; Gary Logan, who won the Diving for the second year; and John Deacon, who won the 200 yd. Breaststroke for the second time. This year's team also boasted of a fine group of newcomers to intercollegiate swimming in Dave Clemons, Larry Bell, Don Wheeler, Marty Gelfand, and Ken Powell to add to the many returning lettermen from the 1960 team.

Toronto won three of its five Dual Meets, beating McGill, Niagara, and Buffalo State. Toronto lost to a very strong Bowling Green team, which boasts two All-Americans, and Western, but more than returned the loss by beating them both in the Intercollegiate Championships and the Tely Relays, which Toronto won. Eight members of the team went to Michigan this year, where they finished fifth in the Big Ten Relay Championships.

Track Team

This year's track and field meet proved to be one of the closest fought in recent years and the final result was in doubt until the last event. Toronto finished second, only two points behind McMaster who won their first Intercollegiate title, while McGill was not far behind in third place. Outstanding among the contestants was Bill Crothers, who showed his great potentiality by gaining three impressive victories in the 440, the 880, and the 440 hurdles, besides anchoring the winning relay team. In the 880, he won easily in the reasonable time of 1:55.9, while he established a new record for the 440 with a time of 48.6. For his very fine performance in all these events he was justly awarded the Heck Phillips trophy.

In the sprints, P. Gaudet, a freshman, proved very fast, winning the 220 from Wilde of McMaster in a very close finish and also gaining second place in the 100. As lead man in the relay he also ran strongly. A big surprise in the mile was Dick Hamilton, who exceeded all expectations by finishing strongly in second place behind Pete Adams of McGill. In 120 yd. Hurdles, A. Toi picked up useful points by placing third.

In the field events, C. Cook won the high jump, S. Irwin came second in the javelin, while J. Zadiyko was third in the pole vault for the second year. It was unfortunate that Toronto had no one in the shot put, as a place in this event might well have made the difference between first and second place.

The mile relay provided the most exciting spectacle of the afternoon, with Toronto and McMaster alternating the lead throughout. In the final leg Bill Crothers started out with a thirty yard deficit which he had overcome by the end of the back straight, and in true championship style he passed the tape with a convincing fifteen yard lead. Unofficially he was clocked at 48.2 for this quarter.

P. M. Goudet, J. A. Snider, F. A. Foot (Cooch), G. Shephard, W. E. Crathers.

Indoor Track

As usual, the indoor track men have shown a good deal of enthusiasm, particularly the relay team, composed of Paul Gaudet, Bill Crothers, Jim Snider, and George Shephard. They competed in International meets at Winnipeg on January 28th and again on March 18th, at Ann Arbor, New York A.A.U. Championships, Chicago, and Milwaukee. Bill Crothers placed first in the 500 yards and set a Canadian record at Winnipeg, and was a member of the relay team which placed first and set a meet record the same day. He placed first in the 600 yard race at Ann Arbor and second in the 600 yards at Milwaukee, and with the other three relay team members placed first at Chicago and second at Ann Arbor. Jim Snider set a Canadian record in the 880 yards at Winnipeg and also competed on the relay team in all the competitions they entered.

Water Polo

For the first time since 1954, the Herschorn Cup came back to the University of Toronto Water Polo team. They captured the Championship from McGill in the two home and home games with scores of 8 to 4 and 6 to 3, with half a dozen men on the squad doing the scoring honours. Capably coached by Alex Szlavnics and Leslie Kotras, who worked hard to produce a well conditioned and well trained team, the Blues showed great improvement, and with such speedsters as Walt Unger and Larry Bell, together with veterans Alex Benedek, David Berger, Rodney Bodden and Nick Aplin (back after several years' absence), John Harper in goal, and Peter Rollason, John Richardson, and Kirk Thompson, gave a very good account of themselves. Several promising men will be coming up from Junior ranks to fill the gap left by graduation of Berger, Benedek, Thompson, and Bodden, and the team have high hopes of retaining the title in 1961-62.

BACK ROW: W. Unger, A. Benedek, A. Szlovnics (Coach), J. Richardson, J. Harper.
ABSENT: D. Berger, F. N. Aplin, R. Bodden.

FRONT: J. D. Holt, B. H. Brooker, K. J. Brown (137 lb. Champion), J. P. Stephenson (130 lb. Chompion), D. J. Shepley (147 lb. Chompion).

Wrestling

The Wrestling Team enjoyed a highly successful season; winning two, losing three, and winning the Porter Trophy emblematic of Senior Intercollegiate Wrestling supremacy. Practices commencing in late October, the teams showed great promise with the return of such veterans as Rodger Doner, Don Shepley, and Rod Carrow. In the first match against central Y.M.C.A. at Niagara Falls, N.Y., the team lost 28-13, but in the return match after Christmas they won 20-16. Later in the year the team lost two matches 21-18 to Western and 18-21 to University of Buffalo because of the lack of a 123 pounder. After a couple of weeks' practice, the Senior team whipped O.A.C. 25-13, while the Intermediates lost 17-20. A crash programme of correcting mistakes for the Championships at University of Western Ontario was instituted. Winning their respective weight championships in the Intercollegiate division were: John Stephenson, 130 lbs.; Ken Brown, 137 lbs.; Don Shepley, 147 lbs.; Rodger Doner, 167 lbs.; and Rod Carrow, Heavy. The Standings: Toronto 82, U.W.O. 72, O.A.C. 44, Queen's 41, and McGill 24; thus bringing the Porter Trophy to Varsity. In the voting for the outstanding wrestler of the meet, Rod Carrow carried away the honours. The Intermediate team didn't do so well, but Fred Babbie won the 167 lbs. class.

Congratulations and many thanks to the coach, Mr. Jack Amos, for a fine season and much hard work.

The Senior Basketball team under coach Mickey Barnett started the season very well winning all three exhibition games. At the Intercollegiate tournament in February, the team lost to McGill, then went on to beat Western and tie Queen's in the most thrilling meet of the week-end. Once more the "Bronze Baby" eluded the eager hands of the Varsity team, which placed a very respectable second behind Queen's.

Intermediate Basketball Team

FRONT: Carol Miles, Signy Paulson, Viiu Kanep, Carol Anne Wood, Nancy Hill.

A well trained group of athletes banded together last fall to form the Intercollegiate Volleyball team, coached by Miss Foster. Regular practices and individual skills blended into team play were the ingredients which enabled them to score decisive victories against McMaster and O.A.C. in exhibition meets. Going down to defeat against an experienced Western team, our girls knew this was the team to beat. Their suspicions were confirmed in the Intercollegiate Tournament as they beat out teams from Queen's, McGill, O.A.C., and McMaster but lost the championship match to the Purple People from Western. However, they did place second and hope to move into the top spot next year.

Tennis Team

Dellene Raymond, Barb Stanfield, Marg Anne White, Judy White.

Toronto played host to the Intercollegiate Tennis tournament in the fall. Dellene Raymond and Marg. Ann White played singles while Judy White teamed with Barb Stanfield for the doubles matches. Toronto won the doubles tournament but in the final standings, there was a three way tie between Queen's, McGill and Toronto.

Fencing Team

Stella Dimoff, Wendy Turner, Joan Davies, Jean Mackworth.

Novice Champion Fencer of the U. of T.

Donna Atkinson

At an invitation meet in Montreal this winter a sharp Toronto fencing team showed their skill, winning out over teams from McGill and the University of Montreal.

Archery Team

Gina Hogg, Jean Hayward, Marg Merritt, Judy Mist, Viiu Kanep.

At the outdoor archery tournament Toronto's team of Gina Hogg, Marg Merritt, Jean Hayward and Viiu Kanep put in a fine showing, coming second to O.A.C. The team assembled again for the indoor tournament, with Judy Mist taking Viiu's place. O.A.C. won this meet also with a very small margin of points.

Swimming Team

BACK ROW: Val Lewis, Judy Ireland, Ann Edwards, Jaan Gardon, Bonnie Bensan, Caral Evans.
FRONT: Joan Tait, Gill Fisher, Judy Matthews, Sheila Dutrieue, Martha Brewin, Sandra Waad.
ABSENT: Brenda Hamilton.

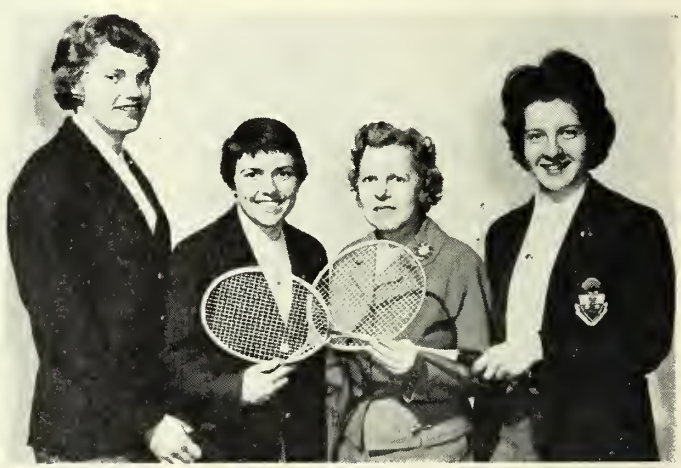

The Intercollegiate Swim team placed a close second to Western, 42-43, at the tournament in Montreal. In the synchronized contests, Joan Tait won the school figures event and the trio of Martha Brewin, Joan Tait and Skippy Wood placed second with their routine entitled "Spendthrift". On the diving board, Judy Ireland performed with assurance and accuracy to take second place while teammate Judy Matthews followed with a close third.

A highly trained team of speed swimmers provided close competition for a thrilling meet. Bonnie Benson set a record in the 50 yard breast stroke event while Gill Fisher won the 50 yard free style race. Western, McGill and Toronto all broke the standing record for the medley relay, with Western having the best time. The most exciting event was the 200 yard freestyle relay, the race which decided the championship. In the last lap, the crowd roared as Western edged Toronto by mere inches.

It was a close, exciting tournament and Toronto fans can look forward to an equally good one next November in home territory.

Badminton Team

In the Intercollegiate Badminton tournament, the four member Toronto team, coached by Joan Warren, Canadian Doubles champion, placed a strong second behind an undefeated Queen's team. Birds flew and feathers were ruffled as Judy Matthews, playing first singles and Ruth Nunns, second singles, downed opponents from Western, O.A.C., McGill, and McMaster. The doubles team of Mary Holden and Sally Meredith posted similar victories, losing one to Queen's. With one point awarded for each match the Queen's team earned a perfect 15 to Toronto's 12.

Girls' Intercollegiate Hockey made a comeback this year in a revival which rocked Varsity Arena. Coach Mary Foster called for aspiring "Rockets" early in December and was overwhelmed by the initial response. The ranks dwindled considerably after the first two practices with a mere fifteen stalwarts surviving the gruelling 8:00 a.m. practices.

In the first game against O.A.C. the girls in blue controlled the puck very successfully to win handily 5-1. At an outdoor rink on the bleak Western plains, Toronto continued its winning ways, despite icy conditions, with a 6-0 victory.

Toronto met their strongest competition at Queen's, coming out on the short side of a 2-1 score. The first game on home ice was a return match with O.A.C. Although the team did not look as impressive as in previous games, Toronto won it 3-0.

Throughout the games, Lynda Maki, Laurel Ball, Nancy Darling, and Lee Pickrell provided most of the goals while Sue McNeel and Sue Robertson protected goalie Phil Hart admirably.

Plans have already been set for an invitation tournament at O.A.C. next February and rumour has it that Miss Foster is already scouting the inter-faculty leagues for next year's team.

EATON'S
salutes the class of '61

The University of Toronto, Canada's largest, sends graduates to all corners of the country . . . professional people, liberal arts graduates, scientists — they travel to the far North and to the East and West coasts, to small centres and major cities.

Eaton's, Canada's largest retail organization, also covers the country with its large main stores, branch stores, order offices and its huge mail order catalogue circulation.

Wherever your career may take you in Canada, you will find Eaton's ready to serve you, as it has during your student days at Varsity!

Acknowledgements

The editors of the Torontonensis 61 wish to thank all those individuals who kindly contributed and assisted in making the publishing of this yearbook possible. Their interest is greatly appreciated.

Mr. A. Needler at Garden City Press for his close, helpful co-operation at all times.

Mr. G. Stanley for his experienced advice.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Toll who were so patient with our many phone calls and who delivered the graduation portraits and biog. cards promptly.

The members of S.A.C. and particularly Peter Dembski for his personal interest.

Bruce Barrett and the Publications Commission for their pleasant and useful suggestions.

The Varsity staff for photographs, publicity and livening the 'Nensis office with their untimely visits.

The Department of Information who have been very helpful in supplying us with pictures and information that we needed.

The S.A.C. office secretaries for continual cheerfulness and assistance.

Miss Mary Carol Knowlton for friendly advice in a variety of ways.

Miss Valerie Campitelli for her interest and assistance.

Mr. M. F. Murril for his helpful readiness with figures.

The editors wish to extend to Mr. E. A. MacDonald, the S.A.C. General Secretary-Treasurer, their great appreciation for the aid and advice he has given them in all phases of production of the book.

Torontonensis

Staff

The Torontonensis, the all-campus yearbook, is a mammoth undertaking in the sphere of organization. The Torontonensis staff is not engaged primarily in collecting original material, taking pictures or writing articles. All pages, except graduating classes, and all-campus activities are contracted for by the organizations concerned, who in turn submit all material that is used. The Torontonensis then is limited in what it can do with its pages, and the calibre of much of the book depends on the type of copy and pictures submitted by the clubs, faculties and colleges. The Torontonensis staff is engaged in collecting, correcting, and sorting graduate biography cards, in pasting graduate photos, and in setting up each page of the book. Phoning, proof reading, typing, pasting, cutting are all a part of the work of the Neusis staff. The following students have spent many hours preparing the book for the press.

College and Faculty Representatives

The Torontonensis owes a debt of gratitude to the College and Faculty reps who spent long hours selling books, and collecting graduate biographies, and articles and photographs from various clubs, teams and residences. Their job is an essential one; they are the first link in the Torontonensis chain of responsibility. Without conscientious and hard-working faculty representatives the task of collecting all the original material for the book would be an impossible one.
